"If we get the road there will be no pointed," said the Mayor who expressed the opinion that there were sufficient of such officials in Brantford now, and the over-head charge for running civic business was to

The Mayor believed the investment was a good one and he based his opinon on last year's receipts of the railway. The receipts of the Street essful in the regimental sports, also Railway for the year were $40,291.41, while the operating expense amounted nd several of the individual events. to $25,356.91 When the cit; taxes amounted to $9,000, and the interest on the first mortgage of $125,000 making a total of $15.250 are deducted party and dinner later, when each it will be seen that the street railway lines last year just about carried themselves.

On the other hand the Grand Val ey was operated at a profit. The reeipts of the Grand Valley lines were $43,248.14, while the operating expenses amounted to $31049.78, leaving drews for the Conservatory of Music a balance of $12,198.36. In these figures no provision is made for the $210,675 and may be considered connterest on the second bonds amount ing to $1.700.000, but it is contended that the greater part of these bonds

Mi. Noble then remarked that con-such an iniquitous franchise was worth the price alone. The council of 1913-14 with the City Solicito had handled the problem effectively and the matter was now up to the people to put the finishing touches on.

Ald. Charlton. Ald. Charlton, whose committee has had charge of making an inventory of the railway delved into figures to show that the city was getting pretty good value for the money. The inventory which shows the assets of the company in part was given by Ald. Charlton as follows:

The arature for the Generator at the old power house, is at the Westinghouse, Hamilton, the cost of repairs of $127.00. When the equipment was appraised a short time ago, the Grand Valley equipment was put at $22.750. The Brantford equipment vas put at $10,389.

The cost of the steel rails which are 80 lbs. laid from St. Paul Avenue to Stanley street from the G. T. Ry. station to the T. H. and B. station., from Colborne street to Park Ave, on Alfred and Arthur streets, was

The special manganese steel work ost $32,314. This is the highest grade of material in railroad construction

The total including cost of contruction, steel rails and special rails and special work on the above streets was $134,236.

The iron standards are worth $28 each. In the machine shop the aperpraisers value of the lathe was $887; shaper $298. These are mentioned to show that there is good equipment at the car barns.

The material is as good as would e found in any factory in the city. True there is much scrap, but not so much as one has been led to believe. There is much that is new, and much that is yet good and serviceable.

The Brant Avenue property running through to William street, Mr. Ludlow values at $22,675. .There are two persons using power
