Pays His Compliments to William and Bloody Lips of Prussian Militariat.

(Col. Waterson in Louisville Courier-

Journal.) And now the peace-word comes direct from the camp of the Hohenzol-lern—from the Bloody Lips of the Prussian Militarist—the devil quoting Scripture, the while in condemnation the enemy won't make peace. They are not weakened enough. We must, therefore, keep it up further."

The rat, Aesop's fable tells us, having possessed himself for the moment of the cheese, made philosophic discourse upon the virtues and the graces of life, including his own magnanimity. Equally complacent is the Field Marshal. He was never a lover of strife. He would emulate Cincinnatus and "Return to the plough." But the war "having been thrust upon Germany," she "cannot sheathe the sword" the fact that "every German would rejoice if an end were put to the terrible blood-letting." FEELING THE PRESSURE

We may read between the lines that there has arrived at the front a pressure from the rear. For the first time the German people must be considered. In truth, small heed was been "prepared" by half a century of "kultur." Kruppism sat in the saddle. Militarism rode at will. All that was wanted was a pretext, and the signal. The murders at Sarapevy Berlin gave the other. England unready, if not unawares; to Paris; possessed of France, to turn upon Russia. -----LOCAL OPTION

Editor Courier:

Dear Sir,-In the approaching local option vote, there will doubtless be, as there should be, a large women vote. There are a large number of women voters on the voters' list. In addition to the owners and tennants, already on the list, we believe that a large number of young women have voluntarily come forward as income voters, and have undertaken the obligation of paying upwards of nine dollars taxes next year, in order that But what of America? Points to Consider When Purchasing a PIANO!

We quite understand the dilemma in which the majority of people find themselves confronted with the problem of purchasing a Piano. There are, however, a few special points which it would be well to consider

The reliability of the manufacturers

The experience they have had in making Pianos

> The grade of Pianos they make

Regarding these points we wish to say that the reliability of the "HOUSE OF NORDHEIMER" is unquestioned. Their experience dates back seventy-two years as makers of the acknowledged "Standard of Canada." Every Piano is guaranteed, whether it be a moderate-priced instrument or a costly Grand.
