HE STRUCK IT RIGHT AT LAST

After Suffering Almost Two Years, "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

MR. WHITMAN
882 St. Valler St., Montreal.

"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years. I was in constant misery from my stomach and my weight dropped down from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Several of my friends advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so. That was eight months ago. I began to improve almost with the first dose. No other medicine I ever used acted so pleasantly and quickly as 'Fruit-a-tives', and by using it I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble, and all pain and Constipation and misery were cured. I completely recovered by the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' and now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise 'Fruit-a-tives' enough". H. WHITMAN.

WOMEN AND THRIFT.

Upon the women of the land will rest the greatest burden of success in the campaign for thrift that has been inaugurated. As head of the household they are the chancellors of domestic exchequers. It is for them to bear in mind that expenditure upon articles that are not actually needed is not alone lessening their own resources, but also depriving the country of something that might be more profitably applied. The majority of men will agree that so far as the household is concerned their women are pretty thrifty. But stinginess, parsimoniousness, or miserliness is not thrift. The thrifty woman combines with a natural aptitude for economy the wisdom of selection and utilization. She knows when to save and when to spend. She knows what is necessary and what can be done without, and she makes the best use of everything. Neither does she do all things herself. When help is at hand she utilizes it with discretion.

The great aid to thrift is thoughtfulness. In fact, without that element thrift is utterly out of the question. The thrifty woman not only exercises wisdom herself, but sees that her children do the same thing, no by indulging them, but by delegating to them sundry offices of which they are capable, by making Compromise in Ireland Suggested.

LONDON.—While Premier Asquith remains in Ireland, seeking a solution of the Irish problem, efforts are being made on this side of the Irish Sea to bring together Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader and John Redmond, leader of the Nationalists, in hope that a reconciliation of the opposing factions might be effected.

As far as can be learned there have been no negotiations thus far, but it is considered a favorable sign that Unionists and Home Rule supporters are working together and making suggestions for a compromise.

The Manchester Guardian says that David Lloyd George is about to take an active part in the effort for a settlement. It is said that he has already met Sir Edward Carson and Joseph Devlin, Irish Nationalist member for Belfast, and that he has an engagement to meet Mr. Redmond.

What She is Worth

A Wisconsin professor of home economics has made an exact estimate of what a wife is worth to her husband in dollars and cents. It is asserted that she should be credited with earning the difference between the cost of the raw material and the finished product that she turns out.

Just what this is he can learn by estimating food items. For example, by noting the difference between the cost of a barrel of flour and the cost of bakers' loaves made from the contents of such a barrel. A more direct method, however, is by hiring a housekeeper to do the cooking and dressmaking and other labors performed by the wife. Unfortunately this is seldom done until the wife has gone to Heaven, so that she fails to benefit by the husband's discovery.

There is reason to believe, however, that no wife who holds herself in due respect will accept this so-called scientific estimate of her value to the family. She knows very well that she is worth more in actual money than know what they can do. The revelation was possible for them, because the man was there to say "Leave that alone." What is going to happen?"

It is not difficult to suggest forces which will make the readjustment less violent than might be inferred from such language. For one thing the shortage of men is not going to cease altogether with the end of the war for any of the belligerents. That is one meaning of the grave-filled fields of France. Also, with the end of the war strain will come a reaction that is likely to undo whatever mental change has been accomplished. Most important is the obvious fact that the whole change is but a sudden and unnatural acceleration of a process which has been steadily advancing in every civilized nation, at war or at peace. There have been incidental discomfort and crowding and there is outstanding in our own country today, for example, a wealth of unsolved economic problems as a consequence of women's invasion of new working fields. Social problems, the whole question of family life and organization, are inextricably bound up with the economic questions. The situation is complex and confused. But it is working itself out slowly and successfully, and there is no reason to believe that the quickening of the changes through the agency of war will destroy the present working basis of progress.

Ing them self-reliant. But the woman cannot do all these things by herself. She must enlist the support, countenance and influence of her mankind. The greatest enemy to thrift is the promiscuous doling out of the money. It is not to boys and girls a sign of good nature; it is death to the recipient. It poisons their disposition and sows seeds of weeds that can never be eradicated. For that sort of thing women are but little responsible, but where their efforts shine is in allowing nothing to go to waste, in making use of everything, and in exercising ingenuity in food, dress, household labor and bringing up of children. An incentive to the accomplishment of these things is a reflection upon the times upon the needs and experience of their male relatives at the front, and upon the fact that every ounce saved is a contribution to the welfare of the country, and perhaps to winning the war.

LITTLE WORRIES IN THE HOME

It is These That Bring Wrinkles And Make Women Look Prematurely Old.

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. They may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but it is these same constant little worries that affect the blood and nerves and make women look prematurely old. Their effect may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, fickle appetite, pain in the back or side, sallow complexion and the coming of wrinkles, which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy and certain cure; a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eye, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness.

Among the thousands of Canadian women who have found new health through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. N. Worral, Broughdale, Ont., who says: "After the birth of my second child I was so weak and run down that I was unable to do anything. The doctor said I had scarcely any blood in my body. I could not walk half a block without being completely exhausted and all the treatment of the doctor did not seem to help me. I called in another doctor, but with no better results. My feet and legs became severe pains in my back came frightfully swollen and I suffered and sides. I would be all day dragging around at my household work, and I was beginning to give up all hope of recovery. I had been urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but like many others, thought they could not help me when doctors had failed to do so, but after much urging I decided to try them. To my surprise in a few weeks I found myself getting better. I gladly continued their use and found myself growing stronger, and eventually able to do my house work without fatigue. I strongly advise every weak woman to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A traveller from Sydney Mines says that rather more than 75 per cent of the eligible men of enlisted for over seas service. If this is correct, it is not only a Canadian record but an Empire record. Only one community, was stated, a small town near Edinburgh, Scotland, has exceeded this proportion of recruits.
