

GIRLS AND THEIR WOOLERS

A Few Valuable Pointers to Chatham Maidens who wish to Win and Hold the Admiration of the Sterner Sex

In answer to a woman who wrote asking if it was proper to meet a man half way when he was paying attention to a girl, an authority on such subjects answers:

It depends a good deal on the man, I should say. Some men don't require much encouragement; others need a great deal.

I think it is only in story books that men are attracted by complete indifference.

If a girl is exceptionally pretty she can afford to be rather indifferent, but coldness is not an attractive quality.

When a man is interested in a girl he naturally would like her to show some preference for his society.

To go half way, however, means to do half the courting and that, unless in the case of an extremely bashful man, is unnecessary.

But without doing any of the courting it is possible to show that you like being courted, and that is what a man expects from the girl he is courting.

If a man is paying attention to you, you expect him to show that he likes being in your company, don't you?

Well, why shouldn't he expect the same of you?

A good many girls go on the theory that they will pique a man by their indifference.

It is a theory that only works once in a hundred times.

The nearest way to a man's heart is not through his hurt vanity, my dears.

A man's feelings can be hurt quite as easily as a woman's, and few men are proof against snubs and sarcasms.

Don't run after a man; that wins nothing but contemptuous tolerance from him.

But let him see that he is welcome when he comes to call, and on parting don't act as though you did not care if you never saw him again.

You know, girls, there is a broad margin between indifference and being too easy of conquest. One is quite as detrimental to friendship as the other.

Any girl of sense and modesty knows how to refrain from flinging herself at a man's feet.

But lots of sensible, modest girls err on the other side and make themselves too inaccessible.

They are so afraid a man will think they are running after him that they go to the other extreme and treat him with coldness and indifference.

If you enjoy being in a man's company, and you know he likes being in yours, there is no harm in frankly showing your enjoyment.

A man likes to hear pleasant, complimentary things once in a while, just as a girl does. He likes to be made much of and shown that his society and conversation are appreciated.

When you go to a dance don't look as though you didn't care whether you danced or not, and as though it were rather a bore to have the men come up and talk to you.

Look interested and alert, and as though you had come to enjoy yourself.

That's what the men like—vivacity and cheerfulness.

Perhaps the lords of creation are a little spoiled, but, after all, you know they are very willing to do their best to see that the girls have a good time, and it depends entirely on the girls themselves whether they have it or not.

If the girls treat the men nicely the men will like them and do all they can for them.

But if the girls are cold and indifferent, they won't have a very good time, either at home or abroad.

You can't get anything for nothing, girls, and if you want to be popular you must pay by being pleasant.

When a man shows a preference for you above other girls, if you want to hold that preference, you must encourage it, and that you can only do by showing that you appreciate it, and that you also care for his society.

It is a situation which must be handled delicately and with discretion.

One of the most marvellous accomplishments in the business of taking moving pictures is to be seen in Chatham at Grand Opera House. These views were taken in the Golden Gate city during the progress of the calamity, from the initial quake till the final complete destruction of the city, by the Frisco Picture Company, which was fortunate in not having its plant injured by the earthquake. Many of the most terrible incidents of this nerve racking calamity were caught by the camera, and are produced in vivid motion pictures, complete in every detail. The result of the work of the Frisco Motion Picture Company will be seen by the citizens of Chatham in a truthful story in moving pictures of the greatest catastrophe in history since the destruction of Pompeii.

That lively operatic comedy, "The Tenderfoot," with Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White as the stars, will be at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, May 16th.

This characteristic opera abounds in picturesque scenes, the Texas locale giving abundant opportunity for richness of coloring in the costumes of the Mexicans and senoritas, the rangers and cowboys and girls, and the seminary visitors.

The music of this piece has made it a general favorite, as there is a swing about it that sets the feet tapping and the blood moving faster. H. L. Hertz, who is responsible for the score or more of tunes, caught the spirit of Richard Carle's book when he wrote the music. It is characteristically western in its free swing and easy rhythm. Carle's book is not only witty, but there is a well-defined plot that carries the

A DAINTY SUMMER OR GRADUATION FROCK.

The day of all days to the girl is the event of her graduation from school. It is the stepping from girlhood into womanhood, and demands the prettiest of apparels. The dotted and embroidered Swisses are charming for such frocks, and need only some fine lace to make them most exquisite. Here is given a suggestion for such a gown, made very simply, but most appropriate. The round yoke and sleeve frills are made of rows of insertion sewed together, while a flounce of the same might adorn the bottom of the skirt. Any of the sheer materials could be used to develop this frock. In the medium sizes, 36 inches of goods are used and third dam One Bye.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water, draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work. NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a washboard, and the dirt will drop out. Turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scald or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes. LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to any person who proves that Sunlight Soap contains any injurious chemicals or any form of adulteration.
