

MISSIONS TO THE ROMAN CATHOLICS.

Some Warm Stuff In Baptist Convention Report on Grand Ligne Mission.

Work of the Laymen's Movement Dealt With at the Evening Session Yesterday.

The Baptist Convention continued its session yesterday afternoon at James Street Baptist Church, when the reports of the Grand Ligne mission and the Moral and Social Reform Committee were presented.

The report of the Grand Ligne mission was read by Mr. E. Bosworth, secretary. It gave a quotation from the London Times, written by one who was termed "a convert from Protestantism, but who evidently is now seeing things in a different light." The quotation was: "The old unreasoning hatred of Rome has given place to an equally unreasoning sentimentalism, which believes, or affects to believe, that Rome has changed, that the Roman Church is willing to share equal rights and liberties with other Christian bodies, that the Papacy has ceased to be an obstacle to progress and a menace to liberty. Recent events should remind those that live in such illusions that the Roman Church is what it has been for centuries, a narrow and intolerant sect, acquiescing in religious liberty and equality only when and where it is not strong enough to demand privilege, refraining from persecution only because she has not the power to use it, but presenting as ruthlessly as ever by all the means that are still in her power." The report added: It is manifest from these words, coming from such a source, that light is breaking, and that longings for liberty have been born that will not be stifled. The Grand Ligne mission workers will rejoice if in any way they may be used to bring about this brighter, happier day for Quebec.

To bring about this there have been employed thirty-two laborers, pastors, teachers, colporteurs and Bible women. They have preached 729 sermons, distributed 1,140 Bibles and portions of the scriptures, 50,000 pages of religious tracts, made 6,251 visits into various homes, entered 13,710 houses to offer the word of life, held 3,350 religious conversations, and have read more than 2,000 chapters of the word of God to Roman Catholics. As one result of these efforts 75 persons have professed conversion, of whom 32 have been baptized.

During the year we have been permitted to complete a very neat and comfortable little chapel in the city of Quebec. It cost, together with the land, upon which is situated another building, about $6,700. A new church edifice in St. Pie is in process of erection, at a cost of about $3,000. A lot has been secured in the city of Hull, at a cost of $10,500, upon which it is proposed to erect a building in the near future.

There are yet $5,500 needed in order to cover the cost of this special increased expenditure on property account. We greatly appreciate the enlarged contributions which have come to us from churches, Sunday schools, individuals and other sources for the general work of the mission the sum of $22,294.96, and from the Feller Institute, in payment of tuition fees, board of pupils, and other sources, the sum of $12,246.01, making a grand total of $34,540.97. We have expended on the general work of the mission the sum of $19,037.88, and on account of Feller Institute the sum of $19,925.79, a total disbursement of $38,963.67, leaving a deficiency for the year on revenue and expenditure account of $4,423.70.

In moving the adoption of the report, Rev. R. R. McKay vigorously denounced those whom he believed had not only criticised the French evangelization of the church, but vilified Superintendent Thierrien. "We thank those who have done that," he said, "for giving us the opportunity of saying again in this convention: We love him and have every confidence in him. We thank the Catholic Register and its clerical editor for giving Superintendent Thierrien an opportunity of saying some things he did say, and we wish he had said more."

Continuing, he said it should be brought home to the delegates of the convention that the idea of French citizenship was coming strongly towards Ontario. Mr. McKay spoke hopefully of French evangelization. Evangelization in the west was easier because the people were foreigners, free from Rome's bondage, while in Quebec they were still enslaved, and the great majority inaccessible.

In concluding he said that as long as they exalted Mary above Christ, accepted traditions in preference to the truth of scripture, so long should the Grand Ligne Mission receive support.

A FORMER PRIEST.

Rev. J. Sullivan, of Montreal, a former Catholic priest, in seconding the adoption of the report, said he had many friends among priests and people in Quebec. The idea of missions to Catholics, he said, did not necessarily mean hostility to the Roman Catholic people. One should differentiate between the head in Rome and the people. "We may love the people," he said, "and yet look with horrible suspicion on the church."

Mr. Sullivan said he would answer the question of why there should be missions towards Catholics. It should be, if for no other reason than to secure the drifters from the Roman Catholic Church, those who have taken the first step to infidelity and the last step to absolute atheism and worse. The day had come when the wheels of progress could not be turned back. Higher criticism, until twenty-five years ago, had not touched Rome. Thoughtful men were quietly gliding out of the Roman Catholic Church to other churches as a result of higher criticism, not by the scores, but by the thousands. The historical continuity of the Roman Catholic Church for twenty centuries, he said, could not be attacked. It was there, but he challenged its motto: "The same always." It was not—it was purely opportunistic. In Rome it was one thing, in Toronto another. There should be missions to Catholics because of Christ's great commission, which had been obscured and distorted by the Roman Catholic Church. The speaker said he was prepared to establish it before the Plenary Council meeting in Quebec.

Prof. Farmer, of McMaster, said he was glad a change of thought had been running on the question of preaching the gospel among Roman Catholics, because some of the great liberal newspapers had said editorially there was no need for it. He feared the importance of the Grand Ligne work was not fully appreciated.

Dr. Thierrien, the superintendent, and Principal A. E. Masse, B. A., also gave short addresses on the work of the Grand Ligne Mission.

The report was voted upon and adopted.

MORAL AND SOCIAL REFORM.

The report of the Moral and Social Reform Committee was read by Mr. Henry Moyle. He said that the great work being done was chiefly the result of the operations of the committee was actively engaged in organizing new leagues throughout the Province. They had enforced the law in a great many cases on those who were selling obscene pictures and post cards. A sphere of great activity was before the council in Ontario and they were encouraged by the campaign undertaken by the Dominion Alliance. Active means were being taken to suppress the white slave traffic and various social evils and the following resolutions had been forwarded:

To the Imperial Government—A more speedy and drastic prohibition of the opium traffic. That at the next opium conference Great Britain's representatives should form a more rapid prohibition of its sale.

To the Federal Government—That race track betting and other forms of gambling be made illegal. That the white slave traffic be suppressed.

To Legislature of Ontario—More severe and effective law enforcement be obtained.

CHANGES ON BOARD.

The resignation of Dr. Sowerby as a member of the Moral and Social Reform Committee was accepted. Following were the new members who constituted the executive board: Rev. J. B. Kennedy, Rev. S. J. Farmer, Rev. Dr. Kierstead, Mr. Henry Moyle, Prof. McCrimmon, Rev. W. T. Graham, Prof. Matthews and Rev. J. R. Webb.

At the conclusion of the meeting an invitation from Bloor Street Church, in Toronto, to meet in their church next year was read and adopted.

THE EVENING SESSION.

After the opening exercises of the evening session, addresses on the Laymen's Missionary Movement were given by Dr. W. T. Stackhouse, Mr. S. J. Moore and Mr. J. N. Shenstone. Although no report was given by the movement, the addresses had a direct bearing on the success, and the progress made during the past year. In giving the opening address Mr. S. J. Moore said a feature that appealed to many in connection with the movement was the co-operation of all the Protestant denominations. While the outcome of the movement may not be known, he did know that the true and inspired life of Jesus Christ was made known by the co-operation of the many denominations. In the progress of the movement, which had not only touched great Britain, but also Germany and numerous other countries, Canada was in the lead, and in that leadership the Baptist Church occupied no unimportant part. He did not want the statement to be taken as one made in a boastful spirit, but rather in a grateful one.

In speaking of the success of local organizations of the movement he said that no church could expect to make any progress unless the pastor of that church was the leader of the movement. The speaker also wished to correct some misconceptions regarding the Laymen's Missionary Movement. It was not an organization hostile to other existing organizations, but was a movement seeking to help in every right and possible way to help them. It was not a collector or distributor of money, but sought to increase the finances of all existing organizations. It was not a clamor of new doctrines, but wished to put into practical practice the principles that the church had been teaching for years. As a proof of the success of the movement, Mr. Moore said that no person who had entered upon the work had expressed any desire to drop it.

Dr. W. T. Stackhouse was the next speaker in connection with the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and he said that if the Gospel was not given to the heathen now it would never be, as far as their time was concerned. The Church of God was simply criminal if self-satisfied and complacent. Every Christian man and woman in Christ's church should be interested in the progress of missionary work, and those who were not were unworthy to be called members of the true church. In concluding his address he gave instances of the success of various churches which had entered into the movement.

Mr. J. N. Shenstone, Toronto, was the next speaker, and said that a great many people had been aroused and awakened by the far-reaching of the gigantic plans of the movement. A brighter and broader idea of stewardship was brought into the life by the Laymen's Missionary Movement. Stewardship means trust, and every blessing and gift received meant extra responsibility. A distinct call was made to men to be true stewards in the earning of wealth. Acquiring and storing wealth was a serious thing, and all persons should be careful that in furthering their own interests they did not rob their fellowmen. He concluded by saying that if as much attention was given to Christ as to business the evangelization of the world would soon be accomplished.

Mr. C. Cook, Brantford, spoke a few words on the inspiration that a few words by taking part in sending the Gospel to all the world.

On account of the late hour of the evening, Rev. J. B. Kennedy, M. A., spoke shortly on "The Church's Attitude toward Legislation," which had been laid over from the afternoon session. He pointed out in a very efficient manner that legislation had been instituted by

God, and had been carried out through the old and new Testaments.

He also spoke a few words on the benefits derived from it and the right manner of carrying it out.

The resolutions which were to have been presented were laid over until this morning's session.

TIMES PATTERNS.

No. 8502.—The pretty little model here portrayed is excellent for the Scotch plaid gingham now shown in such charming variety. The fullness of the waist is laid in tucks, those in centre, front and back forming a box plait. Strapped bands of the material caught down with pearl buttons form a most effective trimming. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes, 6 to 12 years. Size 8 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

Pattern illustrated will be mailed to any address upon receipt of 10c in stamps or silver.

Address, "Pattern Department," Times Office, Hamilton.

It will take several days before you can get pattern.

BAD RECORD IN BALTIMORE.

Samuel Wolfe, Black Hand Convict, Identified as Lupo.

And Pronounced One of Worst Black Hand Criminals.

Police Marshal Says He Was In a Dynamite Outrage.

At the time of the Black Hand outrage here, for which three men were recently sent to penitentiary for ten years, the Times published a story to the effect that one of the three had a very bad record, and stated some things which, it was informed, were facts. Chief of Police Smith set about to try to learn, from official sources, how much of the story was true. The result he has received convinces him that all that was said was a record of fact.

The marshal of police of Baltimore, Md., writes:

Replying to your communication enclosing photograph of one Samuel Wolfe, would advise that the picture has been identified as Salvatore Lupo, who was arrested in Buffalo, N. Y., on Dec. 30, 1907, by officers from this department, and brought back to Baltimore on requisition papers. He pleaded guilty on April 28th, 1908, to the charge of conspiring to murder Joseph D. Giorgio and was sentenced to 15 months in the Baltimore City Jail by Judge Stockbridge. Lupo's alias was Wolf, and he was identified by the active part he played in the dynamiting of Joseph D. Giorgio's residence in Baltimore on the 10th December, 1907.

Others arrested in conjunction with the conspiracy to annihilate the family of Giorgio, who is a prosperous fruit importer, and who refused to be intimidated into according to the demands of the Black Hand organization are hereunder named:

John Schlatta, arrested in Cleveland, O., and brought back to Baltimore on requisition papers on Jan. 20th, 1908.

Joseph Tamboro, a resident of Baltimore, Md.

Francesco La Rosa, alias Carmelia La Rosa, alias "The Chevalier," arrested in New York and brought to Baltimore on requisition papers, Feb. 5, 1908. La Rosa, as you will no doubt recall, was shot in New York Feb. 7, 1908, and died two days later in the Harlem Hospital. He was the acknowledged head of the Black Hand and was shot by members of his own clan for his treacherous attitude.

Micklena Russo, arrested in Washington.

Coluro Nonteleone, arrested in Baltimore, Md.

Joseph Cataline, arrested in Baltimore, Md.

Antonio Balistrone, arrested in Baltimore, Md.

Antonio Louasa, arrested in Baltimore, Md.

Louasa was tried by a jury and found guilty, but succeeded in having his case appealed.

Salvatore Lupo, at the time of his arrest, was residing on Church street, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and when searched a number of letters were found on him from La Rosa, "The Chevalier," and a number of other Black Hand conspirators. Lupo was indicted in Pittsburgh for attempting to murder Joseph Sunnen, a merchant of Pittsburgh. La Rosa made his escape, while another member of the gang was instantly killed.

In Lupo, alias Wolfe, you have one of the most dangerous and desperate Black Hand criminals in this or any other country, and you are to be commended for your success in taking him into custody. We have letters in our possession that may be of some assistance to you, and we will cheerfully render you whatever aid we can to enable you to have this man sentenced for a long term.

Yours respectfully,
Thomas P. Farnan,
Marshal of Police, Baltimore, Md.

T. R. Barding, representing Buffalo and Toronto financial interests, has arranged to meet the Brantford Township Council in reference to the construction of an electric railway through the township.

BAD WALK

Likely to Give Dundas Some More Litigation.

Dundas, Oct. 28.—There is a possibility that the town may have another unfortunate law suit to defend owing to a bad sidewalk. There is probably no town of its size in the Province better provided with cement walks than Dundas, but right in the centre of the business part on the west side of Foundry street, from King street to the H. & D. Railway, there still remains an old treacherous board walk. Recently Mrs. Johnston, who keeps a confectionery store on King street, near Foundry street, was walking along this board walk, when a loose plank on which she stepped, flew up, giving her a severe fall. One of her knees was so severely injured that she has been unable to use the leg since, and her hands are badly swollen and injured from the fall.

Yesterday afternoon, Wm. Lunn, son of Wm. Lunn, agent of the T. H. & B. Railway, was driving under an arch at Cockburn's lumber yard, sitting on a high load. Seeing that he was in danger of coming in contact with the top of the arch, he stooped down, but the load was too high, and he was struck on the head and shoulders and was thought to be fatally injured. He was carried to his home only a short distance away, and attended by three doctors. At last reports he was resting easily.

Yesterday evening there was the liveliest kind of a runaway from near Christie's Corners to Dundas. Thos. Woods, Martin Hewitt and Ernest Greenwood were returning from work on Bigg's new stone house when the team of bronches they were driving started

Adjustable Convertible Overcoat.

The "Adjusto" convertible overcoat has made a tremendous hit. Everyone pronounces it the one perfect convertible coat—the coat you want. A smart, stylish dress coat; an ideal storm coat; the only convertible coat made to order. Collar can be adjusted to five different positions; requires but an instant to change. Enough better than others to be instantly appreciated. Made to order in all materials, $15 to $25. Patented and tailored solely by the Lyons Tailoring Co., 114-116 James street north.

James Robbins, a married man, aged 50 years, while at work on the new Burford electric light plant on Wednesday, fell a distance of 20 feet, his head striking a cement foundation. He never regained consciousness, and expired in a few hours. He lived at Delhi.

ROYAL ARCH.

Hamilton Masons at a Canadian Night In Toronto.

A party of Hamilton Royal Arch Masons attended the convocation of King Solomon Chapter in Toronto last evening, which took the form of a Canadian night. The chapter was honored by a visit from M. E. Comp. George Moore, of this city, the Grand First Principle of the Grand Chapter of Canada, accompanied by the Grand Council, and also a visit by ex-Comp. George Britton, the ex. Z of St. John's Chapter, of this city, with his officers and companions. The Hamilton companions creditably exemplified the work of the M. M. degree and at the banquet which followed the toast of "Canada" was proposed by Ex-Comp. W. H. Wardrop, and responded to by Ex-Comp. Col. W. N. Fonton, Belleville. The musical programme in connection with the banquet was of a very high order.

De Vilbiss Atomizers.

The most satisfactory used in the treatment of sore throat and catarrh. We carry a complete stock, guarantee every atomizer, and will repair or replace all defective bulbs or instruments. They will spray oil or water, and cost no more than the ordinary atomizers. Gerrie's drug store, 32 James street north.

The marriage of Miss Mina Irene Flaville, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flaville, to Mr. William Wallace Barrett, son of the late Mr. Harold Barrett, Port Hope, took place in the Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Toronto, before a large gathering of friends.
