

Dull Youths who Became Famous.

Many of our most celebrated men, whose names are conspicuous in the world of literature, were not renowned in their youth for any special mental brilliancy.

The celebrated and eloquent Dr. Chalmers was exceedingly dull and stupid at his school tasks—so ready for play and prejudiced against study—that his master grew discouraged and lost all his patience with him.

It is related of Sir Isaac Newton that he stood at the bottom of the lowest form but one in school, though he afterward went to work with a strong determination to outrival a boy above him with whom he had fought, and was so successful that he soon won the head place in his class, showing what continued perseverance will do.

The famous and brilliant Sheridan showed so little mental brilliancy as a boy that "his mother, in presenting him to a tutor, declared in complimentary terms that he was an incorrigible dunce."

Alfieri, the most eminent of tragic poets, gave promise of no talent in his early days. His outbursts of temper repelled his friends, and he learned little or nothing in his youth.

Goldsmith, in his boyhood, neglected the golden opportunities offered him, and gave little heed to study. Obedience to rules he detested, and he became notorious for his impudence and irregularities.

Neither did Byron like the prescribed tasks assigned him. "Dry intellectual food" was not his ambition at school, and the patience of his teacher was sorely tried—he proved such an unwilling pupil.

Robert Burns was not a precocious youth—he excelled more in athletic sports than in his studies. He was not noticeably bright or brilliant; and Thos. Chatterton, whose brief career was such a melancholy one, was another youth sent home to his mother with the consoling compliment that "he was a fool of whom nothing could be made."

Even Walter Scott, whose works are a literature in themselves, cared little for his text-books. He much preferred desultory reading, and relished regular study so poorly that the Professor of the famous Edinburgh University declared "he was a dunce and would remain so."

"Stuttering Jack Curran," as he was familiarly known at school, was awkward and ungainly as a lad, and started out to make something for himself, with the odds against him. A stupid scholar, he realized his imperfections, and most admirably succeeded in his efforts.

The Duke of Wellington showed no promise of future greatness in his early life, and gave his mother hours of uneasiness and worry. She felt no happy pride in her child, and it was far later on that he achieved fame and won her interest and admiration by his heroic deeds.

Many are the men, famous in the grand walks of life, who have, as Goldsmith said of himself, "flowered late." They have often distanced the brilliant companions who ridiculed and looked down upon them; and the march of time has proved their right to immortal fame.

Free Trade in Whiskey.

The refusal of the Dominion Government to ratify the legally-made Boundary Award is working injustice to the municipality of Rat Portage. Liquor selling is rampant there, and fines for illegal sale are frequent.

CINGALESE.—A name well known in connection with the Hair Renewer, which restores grey hair to its natural color by a few weeks use. Sold at 50 cents per bottle by James Wilson. 2m

A REWARD.—Of one dozen "TRABERRY" to any one sending the best four line rhyme on "TRABERRY," the remarkable little gem for the Teeth and Breath. Ask your druggist for address.

Words of Wisdom.

The leader will fail who acts on the counsel of those whose intelligence and means of information is inferior to his own.

Faith draws the poison from every grief, takes the sting from every loss, and quenches the fire of every pain, and only faith can do it.

A man who is sensitive to right and wrong, and is trying to do right instead of wrong, has not committed the unpardonable sin.

We ought not to look back unless it is to derive useful lessons from past errors and for the purpose of profiting by dear-bought experience.

Every person is responsible for all the good within the scope of his abilities, and for no more, and none can tell whose sphere is the largest.

The most brilliant people are by no means the most talented. We often find intellectual superiority under the guise of apparent insignificance.

Remember my boy, says Bob Burdette, the good things in the world are always the cheapest. Spring water costs less than corn whiskey; a box of cigars will buy two or three bibles; a gallon of old brandy costs more than a barrel of flour.

The graceful use of the "cold shoulder," fairly deserves to be ranked among the fine arts; while, on the contrary, nothing can be more ungainly than its awkward application. When a tactless man meets the object of his detestation, he looks nervously self-conscious, and seems undecided whether to cut or merely slight his enemy.

Except a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God. I often rejoice Christ did not say this to that woman at the well, nor to that woman who was a sinner. If he had spoken it to them, people would have said, "Oh, that poor woman needed to be converted; but I am a moral character—I do not need to be converted. Regeneration will do for harlots, thieves, drunkards, but as for those who are moral do not need it."

One of the leading questions upon which the next general election for the Ontario Legislature will turn will be the Boundary Award, a question upon which the Opposition voted solidly with the Government when the question came up in the Local Legislature.

he most wonderful curative remedies of the present day, are those that come from Germany, or at least originate there. The GREAT GERMAN INVENTOR, which has never been known to fail in curing a single case of impotency, spermatorrhoea, weakness and all diseases resulting from self-abuse, a nervous debility, inability, mental anxiety, languor, lassitude, depression of spirits and functional derangements of the nervous system.

That the omission of the Government and Parliament of Canada to confirm the award is attended with great inconvenience, has the effect of retarding settlement and municipal organization, embarrasses the administration of the laws, and interferes with the preservation of the peace, the maintenance of order, and the establishment of good Government in the northerly and north-westerly parts of the Province of Ontario.

It has Entered the Capital Buildings. It has finally gained its point and no less a personage than the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Commons, Mr. D. W. McDonnell, Ottawa, thus indorses the Great German Remedy.

After many years of patient investigation Dr. VanBuren, of Germany, finally succeeded in perfecting a Kidney Cure that would permanently relieve all cases of Kidney Disease. Be sure and ask your Druggist for Dr. VANBUREN'S KIDNEY CURE. Sold by James Wilson, Goderich. 2m is the most common of all diseases, and under ordinary drug treatment the most difficult to cure. It is a chronic weakness of the stomach with indigestion. The sensitive mucous membrane coating of the stomach becomes irritated, and nearly all that enters the stomach continues to add fuel to the fire. Heartburn and Sour Eructations, Belching of Wind, Nausea, Headache, Variable Appetite, Colic, Stomachic Bowels, etc., are its prominent symptoms. Burdock Blood Bitters is a positive cure for this miserable disease. 2

Fashion's Fancies.

A great deal of red will be worn by little people.

Street costumes are either very gay or very sober.

The fish wife's poke is the novelty for little girl's wear.

Arabian red is the newest and liveliest shade of this color.

Plush is as frequently used for children's dressy wraps as for larger people.

Tan-colored, long-wristed loose gloves are the first favorites of fashion.

Plush artificial flowers and leaves are striking, elegant novelties in millinery.

Little girls' dresses are even more quaint and picturesque than in summer.

Little girls wear pelisses similar to those of their mothers and older sisters.

Fashionable women wear laced shoes, but the button boot is by no means discarded.

Combinations of materials in contrasting colors appear in Paris imported costumes.

A skirt of bright plaid worn with a jacket of imperial blue makes a very attractive costume.

Jersey waists in new forms will be worn by girls and little children, and to a limited extent by ladies.

The same variety and latitude in color and materials appear in children's clothing as in that of older people.

The turban and Tam o'Shanter cap and Turkish fez in red wools and red cashmere will be much worn by little girls under ten.

The first fall wraps for children are of dark, rich-toned, fine woolen plaids, in pelisse-like forms, with pleated shoulder capes.

Artificial leaves are more in use for millinery purposes than flowers, but many of the handsomest fall bonnets have leaves, flowers, and feathers combined in the trimming.

How it Works. The purifying and healing properties of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry impart a healthy tone to the diseased mucous surface of the Stomach and Bowels.

Grandpa, does hens make their own eggs? "Yes, indeed they do, Johnnie."

"An' do they always put the yolk in the middle?" "Guess they do, Johnnie."

"An' do they put the starch around it to keep the yolk from rubbing off?" "Quite likely, my little boy."

"An' who sews the cover on?" This stumped the old gentleman, and he barricaded Johnnie's mouth with a lollipop.

Robert A. Wilson, Dispensing Chemist, Brockville, says under date of June 5th, '82. "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has given my customers more satisfaction than any medicine in my store for the cure of Summer Complaints; Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Piles, etc., you can use my name, ect."

A CURE FOR AN UNKIND HUSBAND.—"A decent countrywoman," says an English divine, "came to me one market-day and begged to speak to me. She told me, with an air of secrecy, that her husband behaved unkindly to her, and that, knowing me to be a wise man, I could tell her what would cure him."

Arthur's Presentation.

A gentleman who is on intimate terms of personal friendship with President Arthur, and who was the bosom friend of his law partner, the late Benjamin K. Phelps, was speaking of the accident to the United States steamer Dispatch a few days since, when she ran upon the rocks of Newport harbor, and says that he was terribly distressed over it, trifling as it was. "As for the President," he remarked, "I do not wonder over the telegram which says that he was very much depressed by the casualty. He has not had a really happy day since he was inaugurated President. I do not think him any more superstitious than the average of men, but I know that he is harassed by a presentiment that he will not live out his term. He has no fear of assassination, but his nervous imagination (for it is nothing but imagination) leans toward death by sickness or accident, and this makes his life a very sad one." Probably the thousands of men who envy Mr. Arthur his wonderful good luck, and think that he must necessarily be the happiest man in the United States, will be surprised to learn that the President carries his own load of sorrow and finds that the highest office is not without its thorns. It was this that made him weary of the ceaseless round of gaiety at Newport and led him to turn his back upon the smiles of thoddy at a time when the aristocracy of fashion's city by the sea thought their flattering attentions had raised him to the pinnacle of self-satisfaction.

Hints about Oysters.

FRICASSE OYSTERS.—Drain the liquid from a quart of large oysters, strain half a pint; put it in a porcelain kettle; when it comes to a boil put in the oysters. Have a tablespoonful of flour rubbed into two spoonfuls of butter. When the oysters begin to swell, stir in the butter and flour; cook until the oysters are white and plump; then add a gill of cream and a few sprigs of parsley chopped fine. Pepper and salt it desired.

OYSTER POTATO BALLS.—Beard a dozen small, plump oysters, cover them singly with a plain mashed potato paste, roll them with four or beaten up bread crumbs, into balls, and fry them in butter or dripping. Put into each ball when you make it up a teaspoonful of the oyster liquid.

Phosphatine

Is a wonderful thing, yet so natural, so reasonable. Why? If you have feelings of goneness; too weak and dragging to rally; too nervous to sleep; an appetite hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together; headache, with pains across the back; the whole system relaxed; perhaps coughs and sore lungs; and will use one or six bottles of Dr. G. L. Austin's Phosphatine as the case may demand; it will not fail to make you an enthusiastic friend. Why do we say this? Because Phosphatine supplies a want, the very properties the system is lacking and yearning for. It is not a medicine, but nutrient instantly converted into blood, bone and tissue. It is also delicious to the taste. Try it. The result is as certain as that cause and effect go hand in hand. All druggists. Lowrey & Co., Sole agents for the Dominion, 55 Front St. East, Toronto.
