HALIFAX, Feb. 5.
The Furness Withy steamer Papanahock, eighteen days from London, arrived to-night in tow of the tramp steamer Friederike, from Shields to Savannah. The Papanahock broke her tall shaft eighty miles off Halifax a week ago. Since then she was drifting about until Wednesday, when she was picked up and towed here. She has sixty tons of explosives to land here.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Feb. 5.
The new Parliament, the first to be will take place to-morrow. Monday, Lord Strathcona will appear in his Peers' robes, the other High Commissioners in Leves dress. They will have seats at the right of the throne, near the Ambassadors. The Daily Mail says:—"This recognition of the width of the Empire possesses a significance that it is impossible to overlook. It throws open the essential ceremonies of Parliament to the Dominions Overseas, as well as to the United Kingdom."

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Feb. 6.
The new Parliament, the first to be opened in State by King George V. and Queen Mary will be memorable also as the Parliament which will decide the status of the House of Lords and thereby probably effect the greatest change for a century in the British Constitution. Parliament assembled last Tuesday, but the State function is reserved for to-day. There are many important measures on the programme for the Liberal party—Home Rule for Ireland, and possibly Home Rule all round; abolition of plural voting; Disestablishment of the Church in Wales; State Insurance against Unemployment and Illness on a wholesale basis; other extensive financial schemes and possibly provision for the payment of members. The question of the Lords will precede and dominate all others, and will be disposed of first.

A Clergyman's House Burned.

Saturday night Hon. C. Emerson had a message from Magistrate Way, of Harbor Breton, informing him that the residence of Rev. M. Power, P.P., Harbor Breton, had been destroyed by fire during the afternoon. Father Power with his sister and a domestic were in the house at the time, but the fire had made great progress when discovered, and nothing was saved though the people about did everything possible to try and quench the flames. Inspector General Sullivan had a similar message, but with the additional information that two out-houses were also destroyed. Mr. S. Joy and other friends of Fr. Power also had messages of similar import.

ARM BADLY HURT.—Saturday night an elderly woman, who came down Barter's Hill, in turning into Central Street slipped on the ice and hurt herself severely. Her side was injured and her right arm which was sprained was otherwise hurt, some of the small bones being broken in the wrist. Two young men passing assisted her home.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Landlord's Troubles.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—If Councilor Myrick's resolutions become law in this city as regards the landlords being saddled with the tenants water taxes then the sooner the landlords go out of business and invest their money where they will not be called upon to pay both their own proportion of the house and then the tenants taxes, the better for themselves. Is Councilor Myrick not aware that the landlord pays now on the assessed rental of the tenant? Suppose the tenant pays no rent, he, the landlord, still has to pay on the rental the tenant promised to pay. That tenant might have paid one part of a month's rent going in or nothing. He has nothing to take even if you detain on him. The law allows him to stay in the house six months. Then you take legal steps to get him out which means another month or more, and then the house is left in an unsanitary condition, nuisance everywhere, no wonder we have typhus fever, when by the report in one of the newspapers, 16 loads was carted out of one home or hovel. Can any landlord receiving say a rental of forty dollars per year put in water and sewerage which means water-closet, cistern, sink, traps, tape, etc. at a cost of from one hundred to two hundred dollars, and then the first frost comes with no fires in the house and what is the result: water closet frozen and broken, cistern also cracked and water pipes burst up which means the whole of your rental gone for the year. Let if you got it. I know several houses where this has occurred this past winter and with several fires kept going; now what would occur with a tenant who has no fire going in the hall all night. Of course, Mr. Editor, we find a lot of deserving poor amongst the tenants and it is a tough proposition for the workman in winter time to get work to make both ends meet and some one has got to go unpaid, and why not the devil of a

LANDLORD.
P.S.—In Halifax if the water tax is not paid by the tenant the water is turned off, so I am informed. I should not think that would work winter time, as the service would become frozen up. What the Government or City Fathers should get at would be those absentee landlords who own the land. On one piece of land about 50 to 60 feet frontage I paid ground rent alone about fifteen hundred and fifty dollars per year, and its their income leaving the country that they ought to be taxed thereon.—Landlord.

Is Getting Better.

Mr. Horwill, gymnastic instructor on the Calypso who, while wrestling with another man a few weeks ago, broke his collar bone, is getting better and will soon be able to resume duty. Mr. Muggidge, also of the Calypso, who is a boxer of note, is doing good work in the training of men in "the noble art of self defence." Mr. Horwill is an excellent wrestler, and both intend to arrange later if possible for some boxing and wrestling contests, and if men of their weight, 10 stone, can be had, wrestling exhibitions will be given.

HAD TYPHOID AND PNEUMONIA.—Mr. Patk. Power, who collapsed after coming off the train when he landed here from Placentia in November last, and who went to Hospital suffering from typhoid fever, will soon leave that institution. He had a close call as he developed pneumonia after going to Hospital and for a long while was dangerously ill, giving his friends great concern.

Cromwell and Alexander.

Heavy Cavalry Was the Favorite Body of Both Generals.
Alexander the Great won all his battles by charges of heavy cavalry, while the phalanx formed merely the defensive wing of his line. He was even breaking up the phalanx into lighter order at the time of his death. So it came that the nobles and most esteemed of his companions were cavalry officers, and from this time onward no general thought of fighting, like Epaminondas, a battle on foot. Eastern warfare also brought in the use of elephants, but this was against the practise of Alexander, who did not use them in battle so far as we know.
A writer of our own day has called attention to the curious analogies between the tactics of Alexander and those of Cromwell. Each lived in an age when heavy cavalry were found to be superior to infantry, if it kept in control, and used with skill. Hence each of them fought most of his battles by charging with his cavalry on his right wing, overthrowing the enemy's horse, and then avoiding the temptation to pursue, charging the enemy's infantry in flank, and so deciding the issue. Meanwhile they both felt strong enough to disregard a defeat on their left wing by the enemy's horse, which was not under proper discipline, and went far away out of their battle in pursuit. So similar is the course of these battles, that one is tempted to believe that Cromwell knew something of Alexander. It is not so. Each of these men found by his genius the best way of using the forces at his disposal. Alexander's companions were Cromwell's Ironsides.
In one point, however, he still held to old and chivalrous ways, and so fell short of our ideal of a great commander. He always charged at the head of his cavalry, and himself took part in the thickest of the fight. Hence in every battle he ran the risk of ending the campaign with his own life. It may be said that he had full confidence in his fortune, and that the king's valor gave tremendous force to the charge of his personal companions. But nothing can convince us that Hannibal's view of his duties was not far higher, of whom it was noted that he always took ample care for his own safety, nor did he ever, so far as we know, risk himself as a combatant. Alexander's example, here as elsewhere, gave the law, and so a large proportion of his successors found their death on the battlefield.

The Fisheries of North Cape Breton.

The inshore fisheries of North Cape Breton, Victoria county, for 1910, were the most prolific and profitable for the thirty years. The total catch exceeded 25,000 quintals.
The biggest results were obtained at Ingonish, Neil's Harbor and White Point.
Last week the McLeod Bros., of Neil's Harbor, shipped 206 tons of green cod by the S. S. Scotsburn direct to Gloucester, Mass.
The profits of the firm alone for the season will easily exceed $10,000 and the net results on the whole coast will reach not less than $25,000.

Frozen to Death.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Word was received by the provincial police Saturday that the body of Holmer Wilson, the trapper in the district north of Gowanda, who was supposed to have been devoured by wolves, was found on the trail. Wilson had evidently been frozen to death.

Hero Awards.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The trustees of the Carnegie Hero Fund have made awards to three civilians for carrying to safety Sergt. Lesson of the London police after he was wounded by the Sidney Street anarchists and while the latter were firing at them.

Received Bad Falls.

Saturday night several men who had taken liquor received ugly falls on Water Street in places where the sidewalks were covered with ice and are extremely dangerous to walk over. An unfortunate fell just east of Steer's Cove and was knocked out for fully 5 minutes. The police picked him up and when he recovered handed him over to friends, who took him home. Another man had his head cut by a fall at the foot of Beck's Cove and was taken to a drug store to be fixed up.

Heavy Ice Outside.

Saturday afternoon the men at the Signal Station could see the heavy ice coming up from the northward and running south. It was about three miles off Cape Spear during the evening, and should N. E. winds prevail there is a possibility of the port being blocked. There is a good deal of sleet ice in Conception Bay.
