HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR SUGGESTS LINE OF SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTE.

Editor Evening Telegram:—Dear Sir,—I enclose herewith copy of a communication from His Excellency the Governor having reference to Brigade matters which will, no doubt, prove of interest to your readers.

Yours truly,
R. G. RENDELL.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S LETTER.

Government House, St. John's, Newfoundland.

17th May, 1911. To the Officers Commanding The Church Lads' Brigade, The Catholic Cadet Corps, The Methodist Guards, The Newfoundland Highlanders.

Gentlemen,—I have learned with regret that the projected Field Day on Friday, the 23rd of June, in which all the four Brigades of St. John's, Newfoundland, were to take part, is in danger of being abandoned owing to a question of the order in which each is to take its place.

The question of order is one which naturally arises in connection with a rule, either settled by the King or by custom.

In this case, the Brigades not being in a strict sense official, I as Commander in Chief in Newfoundland have no authority to direct.

It cannot be said that custom rules, because these Brigades are a new departure and are each mainly a rule unto themselves.

It therefore seems to me that the rule which should be followed is that obtaining in the regular Army, of the order of the Regiments as they appear in the Army List.

Now in Newfoundland such order, if an official list were compiled, would be that of incorporation in the Colony. That would be the order in which I should deal with the Brigades in any official document making reference to them.

Such order does not, as your members very well know, signify pre-eminence in anything, and a signal proof of it is that in the Army some of the finest Regiments in the service appear quite late in the numbering.

I have seen many Field Days in Gibraltar and I am able to say with absolute assurance that the order in which the Regiments marched past, or in which they performed military acts or evolutions, was not in any sense an indication of their smartness or importance as units of the Army, and was not so regarded either by themselves or by the public.

It has been, I believe, suggested that the local order should be made alternative, or that lots should be drawn.

With regard to alternation, it would not, I think, at times, without considerable confusion, be quite easy in the absence of a highly experienced and acknowledged Brigade Commanding Officer, to manage it, while the drawing of lots seems to me to be quite beneath the dignity of a serious movement of this kind, and to reduce it to the level of a sporting organization.

The order of local incorporation is, I am informed, as follows:—The Church Lads' Brigade, The Catholic Cadet Corps, The Methodist Guards, The Newfoundland Highlanders.

Simply no friction should occur in adopting such order, as would simply be a matter of convenience.

Were the order otherwise, no matter how, it does not appear to me that it would be a question of any consequence whatever, but the difficulty is to find any possible grounds for varying it. Had the Brigades all been formed at the same time, I should have suggested that the order should be alphabetical, but they were not; so that contingency does not arise.

I pass for a moment to the possibility of a temporary modus Vivendi for the purposes of the Coronation, and I am bound to say that I do not think anything would be gained by it. The very same difficulty would occur on each succeeding public occasion and would be accentuated were it to happen that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales were to honour the Colony with a visit at no distant date, and would then, in the actual presence of Royalty, be even more deeply deplorable.

It has been at once my pride and pleasure to write officially to the Secretary of State for the Colonies in the highest terms of the several Brigades, as showing the best spirit of manliness and loyalty and as an indication of all that is best in the young life of the Colony, and it is a matter of grievous concern to me that any difference between the Brigades except such differences as should be fought out in the drill ground and in the inter-Brigade sports; I mean those which arise from a generous emulation be the best in all things.

There is much to be said both for and against the denominational system, but surely the best and foremost thing in it is that it should lead to a noble striving for seniority, not in pride of place, but in excellence of results, in all good will, amongst the young men of the several religious bodies of the community.

I shall regret beyond measure any differences which may withdraw from the great National Celebration of the Coronation of His Majesty the King any of the Brigades which do so much credit to Newfoundland, and so lessen the importance of that Parade which should undoubtedly be held in honour of His Majesty and of so great an occasion.

In conclusion let me say that I believe all the Brigades are acting in what they believe to be a spirit of fair dealing, but they unfortunately fail in agreement.

It is too much for me to ask that this being so they should be willing to accept the views of their Governor, whom every one of them knows to be animated by a whole-souled good will towards themselves and towards the Colony.

I shall be glad if you will cause this letter to be communicated to the whole of the Corps and to the members at a convenient opportunity, and if the four Commanding Officers will meet at an early date with a view to the Parade on the 23rd of June at which I still believe every Brigade will be present in its full strength.

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) RALPH WILLIAMS.

Declaration of London.

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-Day.

The Imperial Conference discussed the Australian complaint that the Dominions had not been consulted in reference to the Declaration of London and the agreement concerning Prizes in naval warfare, which was adopted at a conference. Sir Edward Grey pointed out that a refusal to agree to the ratification of the Declaration would be a great blow to the cause of Arbitration. Premier Laurier thought that the claim that the Dominions should be consulted by the Imperial Government when treating or negotiating was unjustified. He said that the Arbitration Treaty with the States might not be carried through if the Declaration was not ratified.

Fell From Train.

A young man named Dwyer who fell off the express which left here at 6 p.m. yesterday, was brought in by the shore train at 10.15 last night. Just after dark some boys passing along near Duff's station found the man lying on the ground, and at first believed him dead. They acquainted the station agent who went to the place where he was found, saw that the man was under the influence of drink, and brought him to the station. He was cut about the face and his clothing was filled with gravel and dust, but otherwise he was not hurt. Headquarters here were informed and the man was brought along by the incoming train. Dr. Mitchell was at the station and when the train arrived Head Dawe and Const. Nugent took him into the surgery where the medico examined him and found him to be all right. He was then taken to the police station by the officers. When found the man had a ticket in his pocket for Birch Cove, and in going along on the train must have fallen off the platform. He was not missed by those on the express, and it is evident that none of his fellow passengers missed him.

Boy Meets Accident.

On running over Hutching's Street yesterday afternoon Master Gerald Kennedy, on reaching Water Street, tried to avoid a passing horse and in doing so had a narrow escape from being run over by street car No. 7. The car was bound west, and as the boy turned to escape the passing team by trying to cross the street he ran full tilt into the street car. Fearing he would go over the lad the street car motorman checked the car but for which the lad might have been seriously hurt. The lad fell to the street and was picked up and brought into Mr. P. O'Mara's drug store. He was cut over the eye and sustained some bruises, and after being attended to was brought home.

Treacherous Orange Peels.

At 7.15 last night one of the blue jackets of the Brilliant was passing along Water Street near Anderson's store when he slipped on an orange peel thrown on the sidewalk and fell backwards, his head striking the pavement with great force. The man was dazed from the blow received and blood flowed over his clothing. He received a cut about an inch long and very deep, and officer Tobin took him to the police station, rendering first aid and plastering and otherwise treating the wound. The seaman was then taken to the King's wharf where he was sent on board ship to be treated by a doctor.
