By FRED A.

And so some of our wandering invalids have got back to old Terra Nova again. It was very strange, however, to note that there was none of the former spectacular welcomes accorded them.

Judging by the photo engraving, the Silent Premier is looking none the worse for his laborious exercises at the Peace Conference, and we are indeed glad to note same. In connection with his return, we feel that we must await a later occasion to hear of all the doings abroad and the part played in them by our (?) representative, as the recorded interview by the "organ" is not very enlightening, excepting, of course, when it informs the public of a little excursion to the battlements, which was very proper.

The "wordy" President is apparently making an exhaustive survey of the fields of action, and the latest story going the rounds, is that he is gathering "facts" for the issuing of a book entitled "Some Reflections on Beaumont-Hamel." The Dame also adds that the book may be sold in conjunction with the National (?) paper. Our island home promises to have additional lustre given to its name by its peerless authors.

Without going into any of the ramifications of the seal question, and the price of fat as propounded by "Calchas," it is rather strange that so little has been said about the price regulation as influenced by the "friend." And without saying anything out of the way at all, it is quite true that many of the Union men were disgusted at the difference between their reception this year and the promised good things held out to them last year. Possibly though, the promise of good roads was given as a substitute. If so, "Nuff said!"

"When will the House be open?" is the question often asked to-day, and no definite answer is as yet forthcoming. Rumor says about the end of the month. Admitting that it does, whom have we to attend? Will the few mis-representatives on assembling, try to retain their present manipulation of the treasury, and subject us longer to such an unstable and unsatisfactory government? We are well aware that they may possibly try to do so, but we feel equally confident that the electorate is not as much asleep as appears on the surface, and so the days of the present few are numbered, and their downfall certain.

Great fear appears to be felt these days by the majority of the government heeled. Is it an omen of the sentiment of the bulk of the people? We presage it as such, and emphasize the wish that the fear may grow speedily—it's bound to come some time, and the quicker the better—when we may once more have an honest administration and the minimum of inter-dependent flatterers and irrationalists.

There is quite a little talk in Canada over the Daylight Bill, as many people, especially farmers, wish the Act repealed. As we copy so extensively from our continental neighbors, and as the voyagers only recently visited that part of the world, perhaps we may once again revert back to the old time system. As a repeal would be popular with many fishermen, it is quite possible that the Nationalist candidates will they go out as Nationalists or some other high sounding name—may promise even that in the vain hope of another little term of doing yeoman service for personal benefit.

GEORGE M. BARR.He Never Spoke Again.

A ventriloquist who had a worthless dog and no money hit upon a clever scheme to convert the former into the latter. Going into a restaurant he took a seat, the dog sitting on the floor beside the chair. When the waiter came the ventriloquist turned to the dog with the query: "Well, Jack, what will you have?" The waiter nearly collapsed when he apparently heard the dog answer, "A ham and beef sandwich." Then he hastened to the proprietor. "I say, gov'nor," he exclaimed, "there's a dog over there that can talk!" It immediately struck the proprietor that such a dog could draw custom, so after hearing the animal talk he began bargaining for him. The dog during the haggling over the price begged in so realistic a manner not to be sold that the restaurant keeper became the more determined to have him, and at last agreed to the ventriloquist's price, $20. As the trickster started for the door with the money the dog inquired:

"Have you really sold me?" "Yes, Jack, I've sold you," was the reply.

"Well," said the dog, "mark my words, I'll never speak again!"—Rod and Gun.

Dear Sir:—Would you kindly, through your valuable paper, enquire why it is the authorities permit the corners of New Gower Street to be forever thronged with crowds of ruffianly and unruly corner toughs who use the most filthy and abusive language? When people are going and coming from different churches, and when those that dwell in the places referred to sit in their rooms to chat or pray with their families, they are obliged to witness the ribald conduct of these corner hangers. It is time for some one to wake up and get a policeman in plain clothes to get after this gentry. A few five dollar fines and one would have clear corners and less people insulted.

Yours truly,
ONE WHO SUFFERS.

Dear Sir:—In reading the extended notice in the press of the visit of His Excellency the Governor to the Boot & Shoe Factory, I noticed that due reference was made to the manager, his assistant and heads of departments. I consider that our old friend "Ted Hunter," who has been associated with the plant for many years, should have been included in the list of those who have assisted in bringing this concern to its present state.

Yours truly,

Llewellyn Club.

At the "Llewellyn Club" last night a fairly large gathering assembled to listen to the address of Mr. Llewellyn Colley on London. The address was delivered in a very interesting manner, and the accompanying slides were an added education.

Rev. Mr. Moulton, in the capacity of Chairman, regretted the absence of the Rector, Rev. Dr. Jones, and also the Vice-President's, and referred to the long associations he had had with the speaker.

Mr. Colley prefaced his lecture by saying he had spent nearly one year in London, and had endeavored to take in some of the sights of that city during his stay, and gave a short history of the rise and growth of London, explaining that London was really comprised of three circles, the inner circle, or real London, having a population of 20,000 people. He also dwelt on the qualities of the Metropolitan police, and the efficient regulation of the traffic. The pictures shown gave a very clear illustration of the city as a whole, Downing Street, Charing Cross, the Horse Guards, Westminster Bridge (and here he quoted the words of Wordsworth who paid in verse a glowing tribute to the memories evoked while standing thereon), Houses of Parliament, the Three Towers, Clock Tower, Victoria Tower, and St. Stephen's Tower, the interior of the House of Lords and Commons, St. Margaret's Church, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, Jerusalem Chamber, Buckingham Palace, Hyde Park, Kensington Lake, Royal Albert Hall, Edgeware Road, Tyburn Tree, British Museum, Covent Gardens, Holborn, Imperial Institute (University of London), The Strand, Cleopatra's Needle, Mansion House, Bank of England, Royal Exchange Building, Guild Hall, Cheapside, St. Paul's Cathedral, London Bridge, Tower of London, The Mint, Lambeth Palace, Crystal Palace, Hampton Court, The King and Queen.

Rev. Mr. Clayton proposed a vote of thanks to the speaker which Mr. R. G. Macdonald seconded. Rev. Mr. Moulton in putting the motion referred, as did the other speakers, to the most instructive lecture of Mr. Colley, and one and all felt that the evening had been well spent in listening to the description given of London. The National Anthem closed the evening.

The Maternity Home.

This is a work of rescue in which the Salvation Army leads, and it seems a blot on our civilization to thwart her purpose. Somebody must lead off in every work of reconstruction and reform. The idea must be conceived by some mind and carried into action by some individual or natural force.

The Salvation Army has taken the initiative in nearly every social reform movement in this, and other countries, and in the present instance has come forward courageously and confidently. She has the field, and only one who is willing to take advantage of another's ideas or another's efforts, will try and take the field from her.

When we consider the need of national institutions of a Social Reform character we might also ask, why not the churches be nationalized, instead of being the property of the various conferences? Why not the S. A. Citadel be a national institution? They are built by public funds, and have as much right to be placed in the category of public institutions as the Salvation Army Maternity Home.

We would like to know just how long we would have to wait for this much-needed institution if the Salvation Army had not considered this an age of "action, not of whining?" We seem to be afflicted with a national religion, instead of a national religion based on Christianity.

The trouble is that the church does not reach down far enough, and that we have few social institutions to rescue fallen humanity, which are sufficiently adequate in their scope of service to do so. The times demand prompt action instead of lengthy criticism and theorizing. The success of these institutions elsewhere put them outside the need of such formula. This is an age which demands the straight issue—the truth, devoid of bigotry, prejudice, or any other evils, which blight our social and religious advancement.
