THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled, the United States Heach Reports have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsement of these reports to the remedy known as "Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure," manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 218 La Salle street, Chicago. They are distributing literature this week all through the city, and in the light of our examinations and tests of "Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure," we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we indorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common (For Only $.) hence we earnestly advise you to read full particulars, and if you have not seen circulars to call at W. S. Bryers Bark-well's, wholesole and retail agents for Canada, 268 Dundas street, London.

play, the author does not class his ckit among the comedies or the farces, and does not even raise it to the dignity of a play, as broad as that term is. He calls "A Run on the Bank," for instance, "an invasion of the dra ma," an "unassuming effort to present a few character sketches in an amusing form," which will express the nature of the entertainment. There is a sort of plot to connect or introduce the efforts of merriment but after one leaves the theater with sides aching from laughter, he remembers nothing of the story, though he has a vivid recollection of Percy and Harold's antics and "nerve," as sham noblemen and bogus bankers. After a good night's rest we started out to explore the town, but discovered that the town consisted only of a hotel and station. The town is just across the line from the United States, and, of course, it is a mining district. After two hours' ride on a steamer up the Columbia River, among the most magnificent and romantic scenery in the world, we arrived in Trail. Trail has a population of about 1,000, and, as the smelter for this district is situated there, in my opinion, it will be a big town some day. Still we had a ride of thirteen miles up the mountain as yet, before we used to keep a hardware reached our destination. The railroad London, is keeping one here is a narrow guage one, and the cars doing a very large business. are very narrow. Only on one side Lots that were selling two years can two persons sit in one seat. After ago for $200 are now worth from $3,000 of an hour and a half we up. Living is high, and the wages are reached Rossland, the biggest mining camp in British Columbia. Now, before going any further, T want to give a little bit of advice. This is no place for a workingman Mechanics are not required, and there are plenty of laborers walking the streets here. This is not a poor man's country, but the rich man's, and if any person starts for this place with the idea that he will get a situation as soon as he reaches here, he will be sadly mistaken. Of course, I know the correspondents of different eastern papers praise the country up as a paradise for the workingman; but let me say that plenty of men are walking out of this camp every day who cannot get a day's work at anything. Now, another bit of advice to the people who want to linvest their money in the gold fields: Do not be in hurry. There are plenty of districts in British Columbia which are a great deal richer than the Trail country, and next spring you will be able to invest your money more profitably and with better security than at present. Rosland is a town of about four thousand inhabitants, as I said beumbia. The houses are all of wood, and if you go in the residential district at night you can see the lights through the cracks of the boards. How they are going to live in them during the winter is a mystery to me. Of course, the first place we visited delight at the prospect of walking in was the Le Roi mine. For years the woods, which she thinks are so ago you could have bought the mine much pleasanter than the city. for a mere song, today the owners have refused $3,500,000 for it. One man was owed a debt by the Le Roi stituted, the financier, the business

Sundays, and the stores also keep open on Sundays. The population is mostly composed of Americans, and you see the prospector and working man playing ten-pins or billiards with the hon. somebody, of England, and Sir Want Goldmine, of the same place. All distinction of rank is forgotten here. The largest and richest mine here is the Le Roi; then comes the War Eagle, Iron Mask, Jumbo, and about a hundred minor mines.

There are three churches here, the Church of England, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic, and I must say that for a place that is composed mostly of men, the town is remarkably orderly and quiet.

This is one of the many signs I have met with out here: : KINNEY'S GRUB STICKS TO YOUR RIBS. NO CHINESE EMPLOYED.

There is not much mention of politics here; but if they unseat Mr. Bostock (Liberal), I am confident that ne will go in by a larger majority than he received before. There are a number of Middlesex people here, and they all seem to be doing very well. A. McBride, who used to keep a hardware store in London, is keeping one here, and is not much more than they are in the I may go down to the Slocan country from here, and if so I will write
