THE STARS AGAIN WIN.

The Stars and Alerts met on Kensington Park Saturday and the former were again successful. Sim Collins for the Stars pitched a fine game, keeping the hits well scattered. Johnson for the Alerts was not hit much until the sixth and seventh. In the latter inning he was replaced by Hiscott, who was touched up in the ninth. The fielding on both sides was loose, the errors of the Alerts being costly. This is probably the last game on the home grounds. The Alerts go to Toronto Saturday, and will meet the Dukes and the 'Varsity nine. The score:

THE WHEEL.

ROAD RIGHTS OF BICYCLISTS UPHELD IN 1892 at the Division Court before Judge Muir at Hamilton last week. George H. Cuthriss, a member of the Hamilton Bicycle Club, is sued F. L. Cherrier for damages for running over his machine on the beach road. The defendant refused to turn out for the wheelman, who could not get out of the way, as his wheel was in a rut, and the accident resulted. The suit was backed up by the ciub, and was a test case to vindicate the right of bicyclists to be protected by the ordinary rules of the road in passing vehicles on the highway. After hearing the evidence Judge Muir gave judgment in favor of the wheelman for $25 and costs.

Justifiable Cornet Practice.

Calhoun, Ga., Sept. 19.—Mr. H. J. Rof, of Calhoun, experienced an adventure with a big bear on Grassy Mountain which he will never forget. He was roaming across that high mountain the other day weaponless. Suddenly the popping of some twigs reached the ears of Mr. Rod, and, looking up, he was horrified to behold, only a few yards away, a huge black bear. No knife, no pistol, nothing had Mr. Roff, save a cornet, which he had brought along to give comfort when he should become tired of wandering and sit down to rest. When Mr. Roff saw this animal he knew that, being unarmed, there was nothing to do but try to escape, and with a few leaps he reached a tree several yards away. Mr. Roff had no more than succeeded in reaching the first limb than he saw the fearful bear making toward the tree. With the agility of a cat the frightened man went springing higher up the tree until the top was reached, and then he looked down only to see the bear coming slowly up. There is an old saying about music having charms to soothe the savage breast. Mr. Roff thought of it, and he commenced to blow fearful blasts on his cornet. The animal paused, listened a few moments, and then scampered of into the swamp.

Rats Play at Toss and Catch with Eggs. "Do you want to see something funny?" said a drug clerk to a reporter last evening.

"Do you want to see something funny?" said a drug clerk to a reporter last evening. Of course the reporter was not averse to seeing something in the humorous line, and so informed the mixer of pills and powders. "Well, if no one comes in for a moment I'll show it to you," said he, placing a basket of eggs used in making egg phesphates from the top of the soda fountain to the counter. "Now, stand here and watch the rata," and the news man stood where he could get a view.

It took but a moment's silence, and then out popped a heary old rat, soon followed by three more. They seemed to understand their part, and climbed nimbly up a box about a foot high, used in covering pipes, and from that to the tray under the counter where the glasses are washed. Up on top of another box they went, and then to the top of the counter. They looked around and began to scamper down. The first descended to the floor, the second remained on the box, the third in the tray and the fourth on the high box. Seeing they were all there, the old rat on top walked to the eggs and picked up one, carrying it with his front legs, walking on his hind feet like a squirrel. He dropped it over and it was caught by the rat beneath, who in turn gave it to the one beneath him. This rat jumped down and relied the egg under the soda fountain. In this manner they carried down six eggs in exactly one minute, when, thinking the flux was expensioned.

minute, when, thinking the fun was expensive, the clerk drove them away.
