LIQUOR BANDITS OPEN FIRE ON HOUSEHOLDERS

Lives of Ten in Peril in Sandwich East.

[Special To The Advertiser.] WINDSOR, June 1.—Falling to secure a quantity of liquor when they swooped down on the homes of M. A. Brian and his son, Bert Brian, Sandwich East, last night, nine liquor bandits fired a fusillade of shots at the houses, endangering the lives of ten occupants, five of them children. According to the story told the police, two cars with the bandits drove up to the home of the elder Brian and fired several shots without doing any damage. They then ran to the home of his son. They were greeted by Mrs. Brian, and when she pushed her way into the centre of the group, one of the men fired at her feet. Two more shots were fired and the men ran to the car, the members of the gang firing at the houses as they sped away. While the shooting was going on Bert Brian ran to the rear of the house and loaded a shotgun, and rushed outside to repel the bandits, but they escaped before he could get the gun working. Bert Brian is a brother of Ed. Brian, city engineer of Windsor.

DOHERTY HOPES EMBARGO WILL BE LIFTED SOON

Minister of Agriculture Discusses Problems At Blenheim Meeting.

[Special To The Advertiser.] BLENHEIM, June 1.—Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, addressed a meeting in the opera house here, giving an account of his stewardship since he became member for East Kent. In the speaker's opinion the cattle embargo will shortly be lifted as a result of the educational campaign which has begun since his trip to the old land on the mission of trying to have it removed. There will be an experimental farm established in the district, just where he was not prepared to say, but it will serve Essex, Kent, Lambton and part of Elgin. There will be no outside influence that will be effective in the locating of it as he assured his hearers. Suitable soil, suitable location, etc., will determine the site, and not "pull," even at the loss of votes.

Chairman's Address.
J. C. McGuigan of Cedar Springs occupied the chair very ably, and on the platform with the speaker were Duncan McDermid of Orford, and Alex. McDougall of Harwich. The chairman and Mr. McDermid made short addresses, in which they referred to the unfortunate Rondeau Park trouble of some time ago. They attributed this to some uncalculated statements made by somebody and they were sure the minister had the interests of his constituents at heart, and was working in their best interests.

Both were of opinion that owing to the splendid work done in the old land by Hon. Mr. Doherty on his recent trip that the embargo on cattle would be lifted. Great praise was given the Doherty Government for its many reforms in the interests of the people and to Hon. Mr. Doherty for his interest taken in the people's welfare.

Discuss Problems.
Hon. Manning Doherty in his opening remarks said that as minister of agriculture he especially felt it his duty to meet his people and discuss their problems and find out their needs. This he proposed always to do. He kept an open door at the Parliament Building for them at any time to interview him. He pointed out the great difficulties which confronted the present Government on taking office, owing to problems arising out of the war. He had no criticism to offer in regard to the past Government, but there were many things the present one had to finish begun by them, but not completed partly owing to war problems.

No Class Rule.
He upheld the large expenditure made and defied any person to show that a single dollar had been misapplied, or that the Government could be properly called a class government. There has been no class legislation, he claimed. Some of the city party press had criticised unduly and unfairly. The rural press had been quite fair. He dealt with criticisms offered since the session by the leader of the Conservative party under three heads. First, That the Drury Government was not capable.

"I hold," he said, "that Premier Drury is quite capable of handling both leaders of the Opposition singly or together, or with another thrown in." In connection with charges of extravagance, he held that Hon. G. H. Ferguson had not moved a single amendment to any expenditure or objected to a single item on the floor of the House, but rather had held them to be negligible. They had had some large expenditures, but if they followed the old system of bookkeeping could have shown a surplus of $82,000, instead of a deficit. The deficit largely was caused by expenditure, over which they had no control, such as needed repairs to institutions, war debt, interest, etc.

Grants to Schools.
They had made large grants to schools for which he had no apology to offer. He pointed out the great benefits to be derived from his bill, the rural credits act, which will assist men who wish to farm. Those unable to get a start financially will, under the act, be able, if worthy. He showed how the bill had been put through giving all an opportunity to criticise. He claimed much for this bill.

The embargo question was gone into fully. He justified his trip to England showing the conditions he found. Cattle selling there on foot for 25 cents a pound, which here brought only 9 cents. "The people wanting the embargo lifted," he said, "nothing being definitely done to get it, and the great need of an educational campaign to obtain it. He had gone with the consent of both leaders of the Opposition in the House, and was criticised afterwards for going. He acted wisely and carefully; had first consulted the British Government, and got their consent to go ahead with an educational campaign before doing so. He had started the campaign, and got some leading papers to take it up after showing them that a mistake had been made in 1892 and 1895 in putting on the embargo.

Now—Firestone Quality at Basic Prices

When Firestone entered Canada we fully expected to be offering Canadian car owners tires from our Canadian plant this summer.

Unavoidable delays have retarded the construction of our plant so that this is not possible. An investment of about two million dollars has already been made and work is progressing.

But we have decided to place the prices of Firestone Cord and Fabric Tires upon the level that would be in effect if our Canadian plant were now in operation.

This is in line with the well known Firestone policy of building business by keeping faith, and above all, of giving the car owner most miles for his dollar.

These representative Firestone prices show that it is now possible to buy quality tires at prices no higher than you pay for an ordinary product.
