WILL ASK CITY TO MAKE UP
DIFFERENCE IN FAIR GATE

Applied For by Fair Representatives Loss From 25-

KICK COMING

Dr. Drake Says People Will
"Raise Cain" If City Has
To Make Up Loss.

SECTION PAGE—Will ask city

The sum we are asking from the city, namely $9,347, is not a deficit of the finances of the fair, said Mr. Jewell, C.A. accountant to the fair. It is simply the difference between the gate receipts of 1923 and the average gate receipts for the previous three years.

Mr. Jewell outlined the understanding which was entered into by the fair board and the city council in 1922, when the city agreed to meet any loss in gate receipts up to $10,000. "The arrangement was this," said Mr. Jewell, "when the city council, or other some members of it, suggested that there should be a 25-cent admission this year, we said we could not afford to do it and that if the city agreed to meet any loss in gate receipts up to $10,000, we would agree to a 25-cent admission. The actual number of admissions to the fair," said Mr. Jewell, "has been about 100,000. The money taken in at the gates because there were many 10 and 15 cent admissions, and then on Monday there were no children who were admitted free."

Mr. Jewell made it clear that the sum asked from the council has nothing to do with the gate receipts of the fair except the gate receipts. "The arrangement with the city concerned the gate receipts only, and that was all we calculated when we asked for a guarantee in the beginning of the season."

Sees Big Kick Coming.

"The people will raise Cain if we have to take that money out of the taxes," said Mr. Drake.

So predicts Ald. Gordon Drake, one of the city council representatives on the Western Fair Board, who adds that he does not believe the money is coming from the fair board as requested by the fair board.

"I don't know where they get such a large overhead as the fair board seems like an awful price to me, and

ALDERMAN JUDD
NOW POSSIBILITY FOR MAYOR'S JOB

Report That Local Conservative Association Is Grooming
Him For Fray.

MEETING ON FRIDAY

Several hundred notices have gone forth for the big Tory rally set for tomorrow night, and from present indications "a most enjoyable time will be had by one and all."

While those who advocate the closing of the club were outvoted at the last session, they are not content to abide by this decision, they state today, and a similar resolution will be introduced on Friday night.

Then there is the municipal aspect, and while it may not take official form, there are members of the "inner circle" at headquarters, as well as certain members of the rank and file, who have stated definitely that "Wenige must not be re-elected."

Who would be a suitable candidate? This question is prompting no little discussion, and while many have suggested, none are officially called.

For instance, it is quite freely stated at headquarters that Ald. John T. May is angling for the support of the machine, and with that assurance he would enter the ring without further preliminary. Before Friday week, Ald. May announced that he would have an important announcement to make directly the exhibition was over. No public declaration has been forthcoming, and it is presumed that to date his possibilities have not been sanctioned by the boys in the side-room.

Something may develop in this connection on Friday night if reports "direct from the feed-box" can be accepted with any degree of assurance, but from casual survey of the situation it would appear as though Ald. Albert Judd has the edge on all other prospects. That is, if he should be elected, he would be a member of the Conservative Association, which he has been grooming for some time, and again that he will be through for good at the end of December, but the members of the Conservative Association who think he can be induced by Mayor Wenige.

Ald. Judd has served two terms in the city council from ward two, and as chairman of the finance committee, his next logical move—consistent with the unwritten law at the city hall—would be to the mayor's chair, with the approval of the ratepayers, of course.

TO HOLD MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS
AT AN EARLY DATE

The members of the city council were apparently aware that such a meeting would not be held, as they already advised by City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, but it had been pointed out that practically the same course of action was followed by the 1922 city council in arranging for the opening of the Hamilton road when the company was allowed three years in which to complete the road. The city council has already been made, and in any event, while the members of the city council may have a "gentle" agreement with the street railway authorities about the establishment of a ten-year period, no concrete agreement to that effect is in existence. City Solicitor T. G. Meredith stated this morning that he had never seen one, although he had made inquiries concerning the same. If there had been such a contract, he would have known about it through the ordinary course of events.

PRE-PROHIBITION SCENT NOT THOUGHT EVIDENCE

A broken six-ounce bottle that police constables declared smelled strongly of liquor was not enough to convict a local young man in police court today under section 41 of the O. T. A., which states that liquor shall not be kept in a place other than a private dwelling.

The defendant explained that he had started to work at McClary's and had a long way to go for his cup of tea and then he had returned to the cell of the Assembly room last night when he saw an old man with some fluid in the bottom of it and conceived the brilliant idea that it would do to carry tea in. He washed the bottle out as well as he could and placed it in his pocket.

Later on Constable McMaster approached him as he sat in a motor car on Richmond street, and he told the young chap he was going to search him for liquor, whereupon the search was produced by the defendant and sent crashing to the pavement.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN
DO WELL FOR MISSIONS

In the past year the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in London sent $4,295 to the general treasury in Toronto. This gratifying financial statement was made at the regular meeting for the month of September, held last Tuesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, the president, was in charge of the meeting, which was very well attended.

A source of much interest to the executive was the visit of Miss Mayne Young to the meeting. Miss Young, during the summer was in charge of the first vacation school held in the city. With a number of volunteer helpers, she conducted a school on Hill street, in the morning hours of the entire vacation, and there a great many mothers had the assurance of knowing their children to be in the best of care for a few hours each day. Miss Young brought several of her young pupils to the meeting with her, and the executive progress they showed, and the samples exhibited of pretty handiwork made during the summer.

The executive gratefully acknowledged the gift of a number of Bibles from E. E. Reid of the London Life Company. Dr. D. C. MacGregor was present at the meeting and offered many useful suggestions on the carrying on of the season's work.

Mrs. W. A. Tanner, who read the Bible lesson, directed the attention of the members to the fact that in many cases the load of loneliness in a strange country might be lightened.

JAILER AND PRISONER

Associated Press Dispatch.
Dallas, Texas, Sept. 27.—Willis Chapman, assistant night jailer, and C. E. Gaines, under a death sentence for murder in connection with a post-office robbery, were killed, and a prisoner, Pete Welk, another prisoner, was probably fatally wounded in an attempted delivery which got no farther than a pistol fight on the sixth floor of the Dallas County jail last night. The jailer was preparing to place a man in one of the cells when Gaines and Welk suddenly covered him with pistols. A prisoner said the jailer threw away the keys and Gaines fired. Other guards in a short fight shot Gaines.

PAVING PAVEMENT
BY INSTALLMENT NO AGREED ON

No Arrangement Yet Between
City and Street Railway as to Spreading Burden.

CITY MAY COLLECT

There is no formal agreement between the London street railway corporation and the municipality of London whereby the former's share of the financial burden occasioned by the Richmond street or other paving projects may be spread over a period of ten years, city officials state.

The impression has been general that the city would share the Richmond street and several contemplated paving undertakings, and the street railway company would meet its obligation in ten annual installments.

But the city authorities state that the paving had been completed, and that the city council session, attended by the street railway representatives, in which Charles Currie, and perhaps approved by a majority of the council, no formal agreement has been prepared and signed by the two contracting parties.

The impression among the city officials is that nothing of a definite nature was to be done until after the paving had been completed, and there would be a final consideration of the question and a decision arrived at. "If this is a fact (although the street railway authorities appear to view the future more optimistically), there is still a possibility that the city council will insist upon immediate payment."

The members of the city council were apparently aware that such a meeting would not be held, as they already advised by City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, but it had been pointed out that practically the same course of action was followed by the 1922 city council in arranging for the opening of the Hamilton road when the company was allowed three years in which to complete the road. DEAN FOX LOOKS
FOR AN AVERAGE IN ATTENDANCE

University of Western Ontario
Will Not Suffer to Any Extent.

"EXAMS" HARDER

While other universities are looking for a decrease in the registration of freshmen this year, Dean Fox at the University of Western Ontario, expects that at that institution the attendance will be up to the average of previous years.

Owing to the new matriculation requirements, which are now in force, and which are more strict than in the past, the number of those who succeed in passing the examination is smaller than in previous years and this is reflected in the attendance at the universities.

Dean Fox said that he expects a slight decrease this year in registration, but that the University will not suffer nearly as much as other institutions. At Toronto the registration is considerably less than last year, but judging from present indications, we will run about the same number, therefore, are looking forward to a good year.

SIXTEENTH BAG OF COAL

Leonard Saul Pleads Guilty to Stealing Fuel From Dealer.

Coal dealers have advised their patrons through the medium of advertisements that they should get their coal supply as soon as possible. Leonard Saul thought this was a good idea, but didn't care about putting his dealers to any trouble about delivering it, so he started in to fill his bin after hours. Fourteen or fifteen bags of "black diamonds" found their way into his bin, but he had no luck with the sixteenth bag, and had to plead guilty in police court today to stealing a bag of coal, worth 50 cents, from J. C. Hawken, on Sept. 26. Saul was remanded a week for sentence.

He admitted to Magistrate Graydon that he thought he would take the coal to prepare for winter. He had fourteen or fifteen bags in his bin now.

Further questioning by the court elicited the information that he worked for the C. N. R. and drew $145 per month.

"There is no excuse except deliberate dishonesty," stated the magistrate.

"There is more behind this theft of coal than appears on the surface," continued Mr. Graydon, addressing J. C. Gilliland, who appeared for the accused. "I wish you would make the inquiries. Mr. Gilliland, in the meantime I will remand this man a week for sentence."

DECLARES REVISION

Rev. Fr. Parnell Mahoney
Tells Truth Society History of Douay Version.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Rev. Fr. Parnell Mahoney, professor of sacred scriptures, St. Peter's Seminary, London, Ont., speaking to the Catholic Truth Society, declared tonight that the Bible in English, "dealt with the history of the post-reformation English Douay version, which in a revised form, remained the standard English Catholic Bible in use today. In 1578, because of political disturbances, the Douay version was temporarily transferred to Rheims, returning to Douay in 1593. It was during this period that the entire Bible was translated into the English tongue."

Father Mahoney asserted that a new revision is badly needed. This work, however, will not be started until the publication of the revised and typical edition of St. Jerome's Latin Vulgate, the Benedictines now have in course of preparation.

Pilot Says Government
Party Had Lots of Spunk

Special to The Advertiser.
Cochrane, Sept. 27.—Captain W. R. Maxwell, who piloted the lieutenant-governor's party from Moose Harbour to Remi Lake, was a relieved man when he had brought the big seaplane to a sure landing and escorted his distinguished passengers to shore. "That's some load off my mind," he said as he wiped the perspiration from his forehead. "But they were a great bunch to handle and never turned a hair the whole time; real spunk, that."

Captain Maxwell, who already had the honor of being the first airman to fly over the northland, has added another laurel to his crown by being the first to carry a lieutenant-governor and an Ontario premier at the same time. He had a second plane brought in the morning through the morning just to save time in case anything should prove necessary. But everything worked splendidly all the way, so the use was made of the second machine, which was in charge of Pilot Thompson.

"Hold on, I've done something else for the first time too," shouted the captain with a laugh, just as the train was pulling out. "The only chap who has carried three heap-birds at once, I am."

And he was right, for the lieutenant-governor, prime minister and Rev. Dr. Cody were all made full-fledged chiefs in the local Cree tribe at Moose Factory.

STUDENTS ARE JOINING ATHLETIC ASSOCIATIONS

Students at the South London Collegiate are making an excellent response to the membership campaign which is being carried out by the athletic associations at that institution.

The campaign, which started yesterday, will continue for three days. The first day produced results which aggregated about 75 per cent of the available members, and with two more days to go, there is no reason why it should not be 100 per cent.

Last night over 100 girls and boys of the school held a track workout at Thames Park, preparatory to the choosing of the team, which will represent the institute during the coming season.

RANCHERS GATHER FOR PICNIC WITH PRINCE AS HOST

Lord Renfrew Extends Invitation To Meet His Western Neighbors.

PRESENTS TROPHY

Special to The Advertiser.
by a Staff Correspondent.
High River, Alta., Sept. 27.—This is a red letter day on Lord Renfrew's ranch. Following the practice of two years, the Alberta Shorthorn Breeding Association is holding its annual meeting there. Formerly gatherings have been for only the sixty members of the association and their families, but Lord Renfrew's occupation of this ranch has changed the order of things.

He had requested that some opportunity be given him to meet his neighbors, and so this was made the occasion. Special invitations were sent out to the ranchers on the north, east and south sides of the Highwood river, and special invitations went out to "Seven C" Brown, that old-timer, whose holdings lie to the west of the ranch, and so this morning found Lord Renfrew in the truly western "Hall fellow, well met" fashion. Some trails in automobiles, but the majority rode as the occasion and the pocket demanded.

Premier Greenfield and Hon. Geo. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, also were present in connection with the meeting.

This took the form of a picnic and there was primarily a discussion of the breeding of Shorthorn cattle on the prairies. All during the stay at the ranch, Lord Renfrew has evinced a real interest in the stock, and this meeting was of particular interest to him. From Calgary to the ranch he had been busy with the stampede there last summer, and the like Lord Renfrew's neighbors were by special request.

Presented Trophy.

They were there to see the prince present to Peter Vandenberg the silver trophy, which he annexed yesterday at international event—the stinking horse contest—at the Calgary stampede. Lord Renfrew demonstrated before Lord Renfrew took part in a miniature round-up. He rode on the range with his cowboys, when they were to cut some Short-horn bulls from the herd.

Several of these animals were shown today before the Shorthorn Breeding Association. Yesterday afternoon Lord Renfrew did a little partridge shooting, but it has not yet been decided whether he will go for some big game hunting before he returns east.

Leaves This Week.

Lord Renfrew is to begin his return to England this week-end. It is announced now that he will leave for Calgary on Sunday. He will stay there until Tuesday, when he will continue to Winnipeg. It is expected he will spend a few days in Winnipeg. From there he is to go straight through to Ottawa, where he will spend three days with Governor-General Borden. He is to sail on October 13. Now that it is known that Lord Renfrew will be in this vicinity for only a few days more, the mooted question here is "who is he going to come back?" And there are predictions made here, seemingly based on hopes that on his next trip the Prince of Wales will be accompanied by the king and queen. Local parties point out that King George and Queen Mary have shown a special interest in "the man from Canada."

He has been supplied with prize stock and horses from the royal farm in England. Almost any High River citizen asked about the prince is likely to return, reply: "You'll see him back within a couple of years."

One, "and I wouldn't be surprised if he wasn't the only one of the royal family to come. Probably the king and queen will be here next."

Right now, High River says, "there's hoping."

London, Sept. 27.—Dr. Edwin B. Walton, Des Moines, Iowa, surgeon, who spent the summer studying under famous surgeons at Munich, Vienna, and has just reached London with the assertion that great masses of Bavarians and Prussians are so desperately hungry that they are willing to follow any leader who promises a change from existing conditions of misery. "Practically every class of town dweller," said Dr. Walton, "are starved for fats. Their bodies show plainly the effects of under-nourishment. I watched from fifteen to twenty operations daily, change political leanings."

JAILER AND PRISONER
KILLED IN GUN BATTLE

Associated Press Dispatch.
Dallas, Texas, Sept. 27.—Willis Chapman, assistant night jailer, and C. E. Gaines, under a death sentence for murder in connection with a post-office robbery, were killed, and a prisoner, Pete Welk, another prisoner, was probably fatally wounded in an attempted delivery which got no farther than a pistol fight on the sixth floor of the Dallas County jail last night. The jailer was preparing to place a man in one of the cells when Gaines and Welk suddenly covered him with pistols. A prisoner said the jailer threw away the keys and Gaines fired. Other guards in a short fight shot Gaines.

Col. Robert McEwen Points Out Need of Improving Agricultural Side.

EXPANSION IS VITAL

"I believe that the Western Fair might be very much improved and increased in value to this part of the province, especially in the agricultural side of the fair," said Colonel Robert McEwen, who is a director of the fair board and who is one of the largest exhibitors of Shropshire pure bred sheep in the country, was particularly interested in the agricultural side of the question. He is not a believer in the 25 cent admission, and in this is in accord with the majority of the directors.

"The Western Fair," he said, "is generally acknowledged to be the second agricultural show in the Dominion and many exhibitors will tell you that they do more real business here than at Toronto where the exhibition is more in the nature of a sight-seeing holiday."

"Down in this part of the province there is a keen and ever-growing demand for pure bred stock of all kinds, much more so than in the eastern parts of Ontario and the full value of The Western Fair is not realized by the average man and hardly by the Londoner. Col. McEwen pointed out that one of the supreme needs today in the fair is new and up-to-date cattle barns. He said, "The present buildings are not by any means adequate and the results is that many of the fairgoers never go into them or if they do, are not impressed with the beauty or worth of the animals shown, and this applies to every class of live stock in the fair."

"There should be some concerted effort on the part of the city and by everyone in any way interested in this district to get a really substantial grant from both the federal and the provincial governments to build a Show that this country and all the Western countries have voted a sum of $25,000 a year for a period of ten years to build a new and better show towards it, and I am sure that the Western could get some measure of financial assistance if there was the necessary co-operation and co-ordination on the part of the city and of all the minds of breeders and all live stock men that the Western is entitled to a larger grant than it is getting in view of the value that it holds in the live stock world in Canada and even in the U.S.A."

"London," said the colonel, "is in the centre of the finest live stock and stock breeding district in the country, but the live stock buildings are not commensurate with its prestige or position. I am convinced that the live stock buildings would drive on the part of the city and of all interested in the progress of this part of the province on the federal and provincial governments for a larger grant than the $5,000 that we are getting now, would in every way be beneficial to both the city and the surrounding country and incidentally to the whole Dominion."
