CITY NET CLUB PLANS 6 MORE COURTS IN 1924

Meet Saturday To Elect Officers and Will Discuss Outdoor Rink.

A meeting of the directors of the London Tennis Club is to be held next Wednesday evening, when the question of raising sufficient funds for the building of an additional four clay and two cement courts will be discussed. The suggestion from many of the members of the club that a skating rink be made on the club property for the use of club members during the winter time will be gone into at the meeting. It has been pointed out to the directors that a skating rink in the north end of he city is needed. John Puddicon nt, said this morning that it was likely the directors would do something to keep the junior mem-bers together during the winter

Brain Muddled He Helps Foe

Students of Wooster College, Ohio, tell a good story of Willie Flattery, star tackle of the Wooster football squad, who during a scrimmage in an Ohio Conference game at Cincinnati last Saturday landed on his head receiving an injury which temporarily disturbed him mentally.

When the teams lined up for the next play Quarterback Swigart, of Wooster, called the signals and Flat-tery announced loud enough for all players on both teams to hear, "That players on both teams to hear, "That play goes through here"—and so it did. As they lined up again the signals were given. Flattery called out, "That goes around the other end!" Swigart, hearing him, checked and called another play.

"I know that one, too," the big tackle announced; "it goes around the other end."

Time was called and Flattery was led to the side lines until the effects of the bump wore off, when he went back into the line-up and played a

WOODSTOCK TEAM LOSES ANOTHER STAR ATHLETE

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Nov. 7.—The local Southern Ontario League Club has lost another of its best performers with the departure today for Indianapolis of Jack Ray who, for the past three seasons has been a tower of strength on the local line-up. Ray was one of the best outfielders in the S. O. B. L., and besides he was a very handy man in the box. He had the distinction of being the only slab wery handy man in the box.

The distinction of being the only slab artist in the league to administer a defeat to the champion St. Thomas team on their own lot in a league game the past season. He was also a handy man on the infield and a fair batter, and with Harold Lynch, who left recently for St. Thomas, will be missed when the Pirates line up for next spring. It was whispered around today that Ray might return to St. Thomas and line up with Nethercott's crew next season.

London Collegians Ready For Coach Cornelius' Squad's Invasion.

Hamilton C. I. team will be her tomorrow to meet London Central's squad in the fifirst of what is being established as annual clashes between the two rivals. Last year the played home-and-home games, the played home-and-home games, the twain providing in their tilt here one of the best games of the season. Young McKelvey's rush in the dark over the London touch line was one of the best bits of rugby pulled off here lest season and gave a high here last season and gave a big bunch of fans a real thrill as weil as eyestrain trying to follow the play in the gloom.

London Collegiate primed themselves up for the tilt by making the trip to Ingersoll Wednesday. The long lay-off since they were put out by St. Thomas, it was shown, hadn't done the squad any great amount of done the squad any great amount of good. Fortunately the Ingersoll game brought that point out, and the Col-legians put lots of determination into a final drill before they tackle Coach Cornelius' crew.

The latter is a firm believer in these annual rugby clashes, regardless of the showing either of the teams make in their respective groups. However, rivalry engendered between the Hamilton C. I. and Lon-don on the cinder path does not neel much force behind it to be carried over into rugby.

Such a meeting would produce not only harmony from a clearer understanding of each others aims, but should provide something in the way of a united effort.

If British soccer enthusiasts wish to see what progress their beloved dribbling code is making among the Canadian-born, they should turn out at Thames Park Saturday at 2:30 to see London South Collegiate and Windsor C. The Garrison A. A. Will make a bid for the Ontario indoor track championships ir the spring. If the Garrison lands this prize, it will be a real achievement and will bring London into the spotlight in the indoor events. The Garrison, M. A. A. The armories may be displaced by the London arena as the scene of these meets.

The market for heavyweight cauliflowers has been boomed to some extent by the victory of Private Jack Renault, ex-member of the Canadian Northwest Mounted, over Floyd Johnson. After watching many of his battlers subsiding into a horizontal position, the Hon. Leo Polonius Fly at last finds himself managing what would pass in some circles for a "logical contender." A "logical contender" is a pugilist who is abo chin by the champion for a consideration, and the consideration is now fairly substantial.

The career of the Hon. Leo Polonius Flynn is a demonstration of the axiom that patience eventually gathers the moss or something of the sor. Certainly Mr. Flynn has been patient. He has sat at the ringside for years watching his fighters dust the resin from their tights. Mr. Flynn never nched, no matter now hard his battlers were slugged.

Mr. Flynn, in fact, was the first manager to say: "Go on in. He can't hurt US." He used the saying so frequently that this half truth has become one of the epigrams of the cauliflower industry. "As far as I am concerned," said Mr. Flynn frequently, "not one of those punches even ruffled my hair, I never felt one of them."

Outside the description of the Garden of Eden, nothing was to compare with the Elysian Fields of Homes of the H As a general rule, baseball grounds were free in those days; they were hold interests, but they were happy in their new location and their game. The few old-timers who remember the Knicker-bockers will recall when twenty-one runs constituted a game; whether they were made in three, four or nine innings didn't matter. They used to go to the Elysian Fields, with its undulating greens to see the Washingtons of Yorkville, fresh from their own camping ground near the old Red House.

There was also the Fashion Race Course on Long Island, where, in 1858, the "exarbitant admission of 50 cents" was charged, and where there assembled "nearly 2,000 people"
