NO TAXES IF NO BREAKWATER. Mr. Dennis Collins Offers Alternative HE CHIDES THE ALDERMEN Accuses Them of Lack of Interest in West London's Welfare—Speaks of Assessment Problems.

Mr. Editor.—Dear Sir,—This breakwater matter seems to be treated by the City Council as something funny, but to us it is a very serious matter—a question of life and property.

When it comes to anything for the breakwater, numerous difficulties are in the way of their raising money. The Council are all against it, and anything that do costs double prices, and in the end has to be gone over again. We were treated, when amalgamating, that it would be one of the first acts of the city to give us a permanent breakwater. It is referred to in some of their raising money.

When we were amalgamated, we were assessed for $225,000, and now we are asked $500,000, or an increase of $275,000. This means that we are asked to pay $275,000 more for the same amount of property.

All can remember the devastation at Galveston. They are now celebrating the completion of a grand sea wall around the city, finished a year and a half ago, at a cost of $1,200,000, besides nearly as much more to raise the level of the city to that of the wall. For this purpose, Texas has given all the taxes in the State of Galveston for eighteen years. If this city had a few enterprising men in the Council as that city must have, London West would have had protection long ago, and now be the most flourishing suburb of any city in the Dominion.

If the city do not think that it would pay to do this work, let them grant all the taxes on the assessment above $400,000 for ten years for this purpose, I am satisfied the debt of the breakwater would be wiped out by that time and a fair margin left.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space, I remain, yours truly, DENNIS COLLINS.
