

Weekly Colonist

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1887.

THE CITIZENS' HALL.

The ball of Friday evening was a popular mark of the esteem in which Sir Michael Colman-Seymour and his officers are held by the citizens of British Columbia.

THE VERDICT IN THE MORROW CASE.

The jury in the case of R. F. Morrow, indicted for embezzlement as he has before been chronicled in THE COLONIST, remained in session for seven hours at San Francisco and was unable to agree on a verdict.

NOT REPRESENTATIVES.

Lead-headed demagogues like those who profess to represent the labor element in this city at Friday night's meeting will fast bring the honest workmen into disrepute should they continue their antics.

THE COMOX ELECTION.

It is very evident that the electors of Comox are determined, very wisely, to return a local man to represent them in the local legislature. Such a decision is commendable and in keeping with the sound sense which characterizes that industrious and intelligent community.

AN EXPLODED THEORY.

There are a few political agitators in every period of a country's history who seem destined to hit upon some one or another political scheme which has in the past been so thoroughly dissected, and discussed and so unanimously rejected that there is no possibility of its scoring even a temporary popularity.

THE FUTURE OF THE COLON.

The proposition which has been sometimes mooted of a Zollverein with the United States is simply a commercial amalgamation with that country to the exclusion of all others, except on such terms as her policy might dictate.

Mr. Roberts recently purchased some very choice fine eggs of Old Folkestone, and in reply to a suggestion that he should present them to the town museum, he said:
