Comment on the Announcement Their Intended Transfer to the Pacific

The declaration of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, that it is the intention of his company to put two faster steamers on the Liverpool-St. Lawrence route, has elicited a good Lawrence route, has elicited a good deal of comment in the press on both sides of the pond, says a Quebec correspondent of Shipping Illustrated. But, outside of the enthusiasts, who look at things enly superficially, the advertised developments are looked upon cum grane salis. Rallway officials have still a good many things to learn in the shipping business, and it will be some time before they have learned them, at their own expense. It

ARRIVES TO FIND HIS BROTHER IS MISSING

Mystery Surrounds Disappear ance of Alexander Knowles

(From Sunday's Daily) The present whereabouts of Alexander Knowles, a retired farmer of Wapella, Sask., who left the Dominion hotel on the night of November 1 and has not been seen or heard of since the following day when he registered at the Hotel Metropole, Vancouver, is a problem which the local detective department is attempting to solve. From the fact that Knowles, prior to leaving this city made a remark to an acquaintance, Mr. Bligh, that in case he did not return or anything happened to him, the latter should take care of some books of accounts and other documents leads the police to believe that probably some untoward accident or occurrence has hap pened to him.

The search for Knowles commenced

Applies to Police

James Knowles, on finding his bro ther missing, immediately commenced his search, not appealing to the police until certain facts led him to believe that something had happened to his brother. A wire sent to the manager of the Metropole hotel in Vancouver disclosed the fact that Alexander Knowles arrived at that hotel on the morning of November 2, stayed but a few hours, and paying his bill, left stating that he was returning to Vic-toria. Whether he did so is the question, but it appears that he boarded the boat, for in the possession of the C. P. R. at present is the missing man's overcoat, which he checked on board the boat but never called for and the garment was, on the 6th, turned over by the steward of the boat to the officials here.
