

MAN AND BROTHER
WALKER INVITES YOU.

Come to the fatal hall tonight.
Bright eyes will be there.
Come where scenes are glad and light.
These are long with friends to share.
Yet, oh, turn from gaily splendor,
Tutu from gliding to and fro,
Come and view the sweet and tender,
Look and learn to make a home.
Weary would be rest and banquet,
Did we never cease to rest.
After battle—in the shadow,
See the soldier-captain his breast,
After tumult, noise, confusion,
For ever nature seeks repose.
Soon or late comes this conclusion,
Hence the medicine for our woes.
Gaiety itself can tire one,
Glens and glitters will grow dry,
Make a home, don't try to live one—
Tight contentment's deathless joy.
When your schoolmates rally round you
In our dear old town once more,
Take them down to Walker's Store,
Let your innocent clean and pure,
If they wish to let Walker's Store,
Put in all your own effort,
He's the chap who will do the trick,
Cut down prices like a man,
In Walker's Store, for he's not joking—
Try that grand old store.

Why, really you know, when you come to think about it, there isn't the ghost of a reason for you to live the way you do. In one corner of somebody's house—your wife is not happy, your children are not happy, and you are not happy. It is the saddest thing in the world to see a man who is paying so much a week for his own home, and who is not happy in it.
New goods just come in.
WALKER'S WEEKLY PAYMENT STORE,
107, 109 Queen-st. West.
P.S.—Walker's a rouser, he'll start you.
