Messrs, Lugsdin, owing to the large demand for their fine hats, have made special arrangements with the best makers of Europe to meet this demand. They have imported very largely this season and keep only the best goods in the hat line.

The Sultan of Turkey with seven hundred wives is not half so happy as the man who buys his clothing at the Army & Navy stores. Seven hundred or seven thousand wives are now such a trouble to a man as a bad ditting suit. He can get away from his wives, but his suit attless to him. No man should pass the Army & Navy stores when he wants a suit.
