WATFORD, JUNE 14, 1912.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

When the men of some of the towns in the southern portion of the United States feel the need of a little recreation they go out and cheerfully hang or burn a negro. It's one of their agreeable ways.

Let us work and stimulate every legitimate enterprise by giving it all the friendly encouragement we can and unite our industry, intelligence and capital in a common cause for the good of our town.

Most people fail to see any good reason why June 3rd should be observed as a public holiday. The keeping of the 24th of May is a firmly established custom in this country, and it is not at all probable that it will be superseded. The cessation of business on the 3rd of June is quite unnecessary from all points of view, and is not needed to show our loyalty to the Sovereign.

During the past week over 3,000 artisans and agriculturists from Scotland have embarked for Canada. They are the pick of their classes, and their departure has renewed the criticism that the land and labor policy of the government is driving the best men from the country. All the immigration agents of the various colonial dominions are reporting an extraordinary demand for passage from prospective immigrants, and it is said that the present steamship lines will not be able to handle much more than half of the traffic during the coming season.

Another gold rush is in full swing following discoveries of gold and copper in the region north of Massey Station, on the Soo branch of the C.P.R., by a prospector named Teasdale. Prospectors are flocking in large numbers to the scene of latest excitement, which entails a 40-mile drive north of Massey to Whiskey Lake, then a canoe trip some miles further into the wilderness.

The anti-treating bill which will be introduced by the Government at next session of the Ontario Legislature will be, it is understood, of a drastic nature, and will thoroughly eliminate the treating system. The hotel-keeper, the bar-tender, the man who buys the drink and the man who is treated will be prosecuted under the new law. A heavy fine will be imposed upon hotel-keepers who violate the law for the first and second time, and on the third occasion the license will be cancelled. The bar-tender likely will be fined to the amount of $100 or $200, and the "treater" and "treated" will be dealt with in a similar way.

Earn Their Living.

"Every girl in the world, whether she is a millionaire or a pauper should be taught some trade or profession so thoroughly that she could support herself by practicing it if the necessity ever arose."

So says Dorothy Dix the well-known writer on questions specially relating to women. She goes on to say that fathers and mothers excuse their negligence in this matter by saying that Mamie and Susie will get married, so what is the use in spending money in teaching her a business that she will never follow? They speak as if marriage insured a woman against any possibility of want or poverty. Yet they see all about them dozens of married women who have to support sick or trifling husbands or whose husbands die and leave them widows with a house full of children to be provided for.

No education is lost. No woman can know too much. The millionaire will administer her affairs the better for having graduated as an expert bookkeeper. The woman of fashion will be all the better for understanding law and medicine. But if there are those parents who object to spending money on a girl's education for something she may possibly not require at that moment, there remain the purely feminine trades of cooking, sewing, nursing, etc., that they may be taught. All of these every woman needs to know, and at any of these she can make a living if she has taken a thorough course in them. Then if she is left with the necessity of earning a living she will not be helpless.

She Should Marry a Minister.

"If I were a minister's wife," said a lady in the car, who was talking too loud not to be overheard, "you may rest assured I should take an interest—and a live interest—in my husband's work. I should say to him: 'Richard, if you want to do well next Sunday, preach short! If you want your congregation to grow larger and larger, preach short! If you want to draw them to this church, that church and the other, preach short! Always preach short! But, Richard, have something to say, always! Condense, condense and condense and then have an air about you as if time were worth something and you could not afford to lose a minute of it.' If on a Sunday morning he seemed to be in an extra amiable mood, I would venture to say: 'Richard, dear, don't be all day in giving out your notices! Don't blink over them as if you had never seen them before and were pondering them in your mind as you call attention to them! Don't, I beg you, Richard, read them straight forward and then say them all over again backward! There is nothing so tiresome! I am not sure but some Sunday I should say: 'Richard, if you get the least might tedious to-day I shall fuss with my bonnet-strings as a warning! 'And when you say "in conclusion," don't go on until you reach a "Finally," and after that "One word" or "Just another thought." I do think it is such a mistake to tell all one knows in one sermon.—Exchange.

PRENTIS FOR High Class Tailoring DARK ROOM TESTING

Every child on reaching the age of seven years should have the eyes examined. Many children have defective vision, and it often happens that one eye only is affected. This throws all the work on the better eye while the other through disuse frequently loses its function entirely. With proper lense correction this trouble will be wholly overcome. If accompanied by parents we will be glad to examine children's eyes free of charge.

Living to be Old.

A druggist in London has died at the age of 89, and is said to have attributed his length of days to excellent habits cultivated in his youth. The Free Press speaks of his cheerfulness and courtesy as qualities that contributed to make his life what it was. These are qualities for which there is nothing but praise. A man can cultivate the habit of courtesy and it is well worth the cultivation, but cheerfulness is not always to be had for the asking. Good health is necessary to it, and a certain measure of good fortune, or at last immunity from a steady run of ill fortune.

But does the man who has lived to a great age really know what has enabled him to do so? Does he know any more about it than another man knows why it is that he is out down in middle age? A man lives while he can and dies when he must. While he enjoys good health he gives very little thought to the matter of longevity, and seldom, until his last illness comes, does he fully realize that he is mortal. Of one thing we may be reasonably sure, and that is that those who live to be centenarians are those who did not, throughout life, fuss and worry, dope and drug themselves in anxious fear that the machinery of their bodies would go wrong unless constantly tended. It is probable that they did not survive by taking thought or by planning, but that they evolved some sort of plan as they reviewed the years.

INWOOD.

Mr. L. Watson returned to London Tuesday, after spending his vacation at his home, near the village.

The W. F. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church will meet on Thursday afternoon of this week at the home of Mrs. Warner.

Mr. E. S. Lorrain, the undertaker, is moving this week into the building lately occupied by Mr. John Askew, near the M.C.R. Station.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed last Sunday in the Presbyterian Church at the morning service, and six new members were added to the church on Friday evening at the preparatory service.

The young ladies of Miss Kate Lamont's and Rev. N. A. Campbell's Sunday School classes drove out to the home of Miss Lamont on Saturday afternoon and gave her a "miscellaneous shower."

Father, Mother, Sister, Brother, All Should Use Parisian Sage.

Prevents Baldness—Banishes Dandruff—Stops Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

PARISIAN SAGE is a family hair tonic and dressing that will do much good in every home.

The man who uses PARISIAN SAGE, if only occasionally, will never grow bald. Baldness is caused by dandruff germs which dig down into the roots of the hair, devour its nourishment and cause the root to die and the hair to fall and thin out.

PARISIAN SAGE is a scientific hair remedy that not only kills the dandruff germs, but gives the hair root just the same nourishment that nature gives it.

PARISIAN SAGE first kills the germs; then nourishes the weakened hair root and causes a growth of healthy hair.

This same nourishment (PARISIAN SAGE) causes the hair to grow vigorous, which means that the hair becomes full of life and lustre, and grows radiant and beautiful.

Thousands are wasting time, losing hair and growing bald because they are using superficial tonics. While they may clean the scalp and make it feel refreshed, they do not get to the root of the hair where the real destroyer of hair, the pernicious dandruff germs, thrives and multiplies.

Try PARISIAN SAGE for all hair trouble; it means death to the germs; life to the hair. It is pleasant to use and so harmless that it can be used by every member of the family from the oldest to the little tot.

Get a 50 cent bottle to-day, and if you are not satisfied that it is just as good as claimed, your money back without any quibblings. Sold by T. B. Taylor & Sons and druggists everywhere. Girl with auburn hair on every carton and bottle.
