Will Make No Mistake

People Who seem Doubtful if The Allwise is Guiding the Heavenly Bodies Aright.

(Colchester Sun)

It seems to us that a great deal of "Tomfoolery" is being engaged in in connection with the visit of Halley's comet to the space within a few millions of miles of our planet. There are those, and in some instances we do not have to go far afield for them, who are afraid that this sweeping celestial visitor will dash into our planet and demolish it.

An American paper informs us that a call has gone forth to Christian people to join in a supplication to the Most High to intercede and avoid the disaster to our globe. It is not stated how they would have the Almighty do this, possibly by causing our earth to veer, or the comet, from their courses. But supposing this were done and our earth should into another planet, or the comet should plunge into some other planet what then would happen? Simply this: The entire universe would be thrown out of kilter and chaos would reign; destruction of our planet would come sure.

"Perhaps we are a bit off, but we have faith enough in Him who threw the planets into space and started them on their journey to believe that. He made no mistakes that will cause collision and bring disaster to this or any other planet. We are told that Halley's comet has been dashing up to and dashing away from our planet for two thousand years, and we know not how much longer than that and yet there has been no collision between the two. That, to our mind, proves that both bodies are moving in a fixed course, a course set by the Allwise Creator of the wonderful universe, a course that it is as impossible for them to veer from as it is for God to err.

Oh, ye of little faith! It seems to us to be sacrilege for people, especially professing Christians, to approach the Almighty in supplication in connection with this matter. To us it seems like saying to Him in effect: "Are you sure your fixed laws for the guidance of the heavenly bodies are sound? Please look into the matter, for we fear there may be a defect." The planets, the heavenly bodies, have not wills of their own. Theirs is the will of the Almighty. It is only human beings and other creatures that have wills of their own—that make mistakes and bring collision, disaster and destruction.

DISGRACEFUL

A shocking account of cruelty to animals comes from Margaree regarding the terrible condition in which the mail horses were found and upon which prosecution will be instituted. The report says:—"They were in a dreadful condition from galled shoulders. One of the three was in a dying condition, lying down pounding herself in pain and had been in that way all the night before, and as for the other two animals the sores on their shoulders were beyond description." The S. P. C. A. will take the matter in hand at once and see that the offenders are prosecuted.

REMEDY WORSE THAN DISEASE.

Remedies are unfortunately sometimes worse than the disease which they are made to cure. Tommy's mother had made him a present of a toy shovel, and sent him out in the sand lot to play with his baby brother. "Take care of baby, and don't let anything hurt him."

Presently screams of anguish from baby sent the distracted parent flying to the sand lot.

"For goodness sake, Tommy, what has happened to the baby?" said she, trying to soothe the wailing infant. "There was a naughty fly biting him on top of the head, and I killed it with a shovel," was the proud reply.

SLANG TABOOED.

Slang is tabooed in the home of a West Philadelphia family, principally because there is a bright little girl who displays a persistent aptitude in retaining expressive, but uncultured phrases.

The other evening at dinner the mother, father and daughter drifted into the vernacular and a fresh start was necessary. The little girl started it. "I'm not struck on this bread," she remarked.

"Margie," said her mother, "you want to cut that slang out."

"That's a peach of a way of correcting the child," commented the father.

"I know," replied the mother, "but I just wanted to put her wise."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

HER INDIVIDUAL CUP.

Marjorie is a day pupil at a private school. Her mother disapproved of her drinking from the common drinking cup, and bought her, says the housekeeper, an aluminum collapsing cup of her own.

The next day Marjorie came running home, and with a kiss, exclaimed:

"O mother, all the other little girls at school like me so especially much, and we have the most fun with my new cup! They all stand in a line and take turns drinking with it!"

Blifkins tells us he is done going to church, for whenever he goes he is barricaded on each side with a hat about three feet in diameter, while in front of him are others, making a complete high board fence, so far as sight is concerned. We advised him to take a front seat or ask the ladies to take off their headgear, but he stared at us as being idiotic. Perhaps Blifkins needs a new excuse for absence from church during the summer months, but there is something realistic about his remark after all.—Exchange.

On a field attached to a certain theological college a donkey was accustomed to graze. One day some of the students brought Neddy into the college and placed him opposite the door of the lecture room, and after gently tapping at the door left the donkey standing. The professor, on opening the door, was surprised for a moment; but his ready wit turned the tables on the jokers, for, turning to the smiling group inside the room, he said: "Ah, another new student."

The old laay had had a severe illness, and she was relating its vicissitudes to a friend or two in the grocer's shop when the minister came in. "It's only the Lord's mercy she piously declared, "that I'm not in heaven tonight."

John D. Rockefeller would go broke if he should spend his entire income trying to prepare a better medicine than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is simply impossible, and so says every one that has used it. Sold by all dealers.

NO ANNEXATION SAYS PREMIER.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Annexation of Newfoundland, either to the United States or Canada is a visionary project, according to Sir Edward Morris, premier of the island, who expressed this view at a farewell dinner given in his honor at the Hoffman House last night, previous to his departure to attend the fisheries conference at The Hague.

"While a very decided friendliness exists between Newfoundland and the American people," said the premier, "and while thousands of Newfoundlanders have found a home in this republic, the people are absolutely loyal to the British crown. There is no annexation sentiment whatever in the island and as for confederation with Canada, there is less prospect of that than ever. Canada has nothing to offer Newfoundland which could induce her to sacrifice her independence to become a province of the Dominion."
