

THE

Maritime Medical News

A MONTHLY JOURNAL OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

Vol. XVI.

HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA, MAY, 1904.

No. 5

PANOPEPTON

has every quality

of a perfect food for the sick

It is a clear fluid of a rich ruddy color, good to look at; has a fine delicate aroma, pleasing to the sense of smell; a wholesome, agreeable flavor, satisfying to the taste.

PANOPEPTON is inviting, is taken readily, retained perfectly, absorbed instantly; is nourishing, and keeps the patient in condition to derive the greatest benefit from the medicinal treatment.

FAIRCHILD BROS. & FOSTER

New York

