

REV. JAMES BARR, B.D.

Rev. James Barr, B.D., is the successor of Rev. Dr. Howie, in St. Mary's U. F. Church, Govan, Glasgow, to which he was called from Denistom. St. Mary's is one of the greatest middle class congregations in Scotland, and the temperance problem is a very acute one. Mr. Barr is one of the foremost temperance workers in Scotland, and an article on this question from his pen is of special interest to the readers of the Westminster Hall Magazine at this time, as we are beginning to realize the importance of this question to the future well being of the province as never before.
