

Sawdust and Chips.

A Dutchman, in San Francisco, in trying to reach the ferryboat, fell into the water. His first exclamation, on being hauled out, was, "Mine Got, let's have a pridge!"

"I'd rather not take a horn with you," said a loafer to a mad bull; but the bull insisted on treating him to two, and the loafer got quite high.

"I never saw such a cold woman as Mrs. — is," said an envious beauty of another, the other evening. "I feel confident she must give her husband a cold in the head whenever she kisses him."

A Kentucky paper contains a report of a recent wedding, in which "the bride was not particularly handsome, but the father threw in seven mules and the husband was satisfied."

An Irishman who got laughed at for making faces over some perimmons retorted thusly: "Ye may grin, you mutton-headed idiots! but I can lather the sowl out uv the man that split vinegar over thin plums."

A Correspondent, writing from China says,—"This country is rapidly undergoing the process of civilization. Beer is made at Shanghai, a whiskey distillery is going up at Canton, and the first hanging recently came off with great eclat."

Mr. Prudhomme, in the decline of life, was talking with his nephew, to whom he related stories of his youth. "But, uncle," suddenly exclaimed the young man, "What struck you most during your life?" "My dear boy, it was your aunt."

A young man, in San Francisco, found an old deacon he knew "bucking the tiger" in a gambling hell. "What!" he exclaimed, "deacon, you here?" "Yes," was the reply, "I am bound to break down this evil institution."

A New York journal gives a conversation between two little girls, aged respectively five and six years. "Emma," said one of them, "wouldn't it be awful if somebody should shoot our schoolmistress?" "Yes," was the reply; "but then wouldn't it be nice not to have any school!"

Many persons use the phrase, "He is a brick," without the least idea that it is supposed to be of classic origin. It is said that King Agesilans, being asked by an Ambassador from Epirus, why they had no wall for Sparta, replied, "We have." Pointing to his marshalled army, he said, "There are the walls of Sparta; every man you see is a brick."

A college student, in a discussion with a doctor, as to whether the sense of seeing or that of touch was the most delicate of the senses, maintained that the sense of touch was. "What proof can you give of this?" asked the professor. "Why," responded the student, "there's my chum's mous'ache, he's all the time feeling of it, and nobody has yet been able to see it."

A Cincinnati youth, guided by the advice of a fortune teller, sought to make a girl love him by means of electricity working from under her chair. When the time came she sprang into the air about three feet, and when she came down she landed in her lover's hair and took about two handfuls therefrom, and then told him that she hated him. No match.

A Pottsville man, who says he hasn't attended church for twenty years, boasts that he can remember perfectly the preacher's text on the last occasion of a visit to the sanctuary. And this is the way he remembered it when asked what it was: "It is easier for a camel to enter a circus, than for a man to eat a package of needles."

A butcher in this city has a dog. The other day this miserable animal bit an ash-cart man in the leg. The sufferer threatened to sue the meatist for keeping a vicious animal, whereupon the butcher offered to give him three dollars to keep quiet about it. Giving the ash-cart man a five dollar bill, he held out his hand for change. "I haven't got a cent about me," said the ash-man; "but I'll tell you what I'll do. You give me the two dollars and I'll let the dog bite me on the other leg." He got five dollars for the one bite.

Here is a Quaker toast that has a thought in it: "This is me and mine to thee and thine. I wish when thee and thine come and see me and mine, that me and mine will treat thee and thine as kindly as thee and thine has treated me and mine." This is a new version of an old compliment, which runs something after this wise: "I wish thee and thy folks loved me and my folks as well as me and my folks love thee and thy folks. For sure, there never were folks, since folks were folks, that ever loved folks half as well as me and my folks love thee and thy folks."

A wag was requested by an old lady to read a newspaper for her. He took it up and read as follows: "Last night yesterday morning about two o'clock in the afternoon before breakfast, a hungry boy somewhere about forty years old, bought a big custard for a levy, and saw it through a brick wall nine feet thick and jumped over it, broke his right ankle off above his right knee and fell into a dry mill where he was drowned. About thirty years afterwards, on the same day, an old cat had nine turkey robbers, a high wind blew Yankee Doodle on a frying pan, and killed an old cow and two pigs at Boston, where a Peter was talking to his Aunt Peter." Whereupon the old lady taking a long breath, exclaimed "Du tell!"

The WHITE HART, cor. of Yonge & Elm sts., is conducted on the good old English style, by Bell Belmont, late of London, Eng., who has made the above the most popular resort of the city. The bar is most elegantly decorated, displaying both judgment and taste, and is pronounced to be the "Prince of Bars." It is under the sole control of Mrs. Emma Belmont, who is quite capable of discharging the duties entrusted to her. The spacious billiard room is managed by H. Vosper; and the utmost courtesy is displayed by every one connected with this establishment. Adv.

ORGAN & MELODEON

MANUFACTURERS.

Our trade mark, "Crenonia and Celeste Organ," is placed upon the name-board or key-slip of all Organs manufactured by us, and having been registered for our sole use, all parties are cautioned not to infringe on the said trade mark.

We claim especial attention to our Vox Celeste Organs, No. 27 and No. 34. The Vox Celeste Reeds were first introduced in Canada by us in 1869, in a 6 reed organ, which took the first prize at the Provincial Fair held that year in London. We have since applied it successfully to our single and double reed organs, making our "Celeste Organs" the most popular instrument now before the Canadian public.

Mr. John Jackson has been an active member and equal manager in the late firm since its commencement, and all the employees remain with him. With greatly increased financial strength, and by providing a larger stock of material, we will be enabled to supply a better article, and fill orders with more promptitude than has been possible in the past.

We manufacture all the most popular styles. Examine our new styles with all the latest improvements. 42" All instruments fully warranted for five years. JOHN JACKSON & CO., GUELPH, ONT. 57-oh
