

temptation to wasteful and extravagant expenditures by Congress. There would be, indeed, a powerful persuasive to discreet and economical appropriations, in the desire of each community to have its debts lifted, and its taxation lightened.