☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

WITHIN the last few years the cultivation of the carrot has engrossed a greater share of attention than formerly. This plant may be brought to great perfection in any part of Nova Scotia, and with suitable attention will abundantly remunerate the farmer for all his necessary care and labour. If our farmers would devote a spare acre or two to the cultivation of this root, they will find themselves in possession of a large store of feed of valuable and rare qualities for sheep, horses and cattle, which will save largely of hay and other fodder, in time of scarcity of such crops. The soil best adapted to the carrot, is a deep rich loam free from gravel or sand. If it be too adhesive or lumpy, ashes or lime may be mixed with it. If manure be used, it should be entirely decomposed or rotted, and intimately mixed with the earth. The ground should be ploughed or spaded fine and deep, the whole being made mellow. The seed should be planted early in April, in drills not less than 22 inches apart. The yield will be 6 or 700 bushels per acre.
