

I N D E X.

Anadirsky Isles, or Isles of Anadyr, so called by Mr. Stæhlin, and after him by Buffon, p. 25. 284—288.

Anoor river, called by the Manchurs Sakalin-Ula; and by the Mongols, Karamuran, or the Black River.

Andrianoffskie Islands, their situation doubtful, 25. Description of, 74, 75. Must not be blended with the Fox Islands, 74. Account of the inhabitants, 77. Other islands beyond them to the East, ibid. Position of the Andreanoffskie Islands, 289.

Anachulla, supposed by the Chinese a wicked spirit of the air, 229.

Archangel, voyages from thence to the Yeniseï, 305.

Artic, or Ice Foxes, description of, 15.

Asia, the first report of its vicinity to America, learned from the Tschutski, 293.

Ataktak, a great promontory N. E. of Alakfu, 118.

Ataku, one of the Aleütian Islands, 45.

Atchu, one of the Andreanoffsky Islands, description of, 76.

Atchu, Atchak, Atach, Goreloi, or Burnt Island, one of the Fox Islands, 61.

Atlassoff (Volodimir), takes possession of the river Kamtschatka, 4.

Atrar, a town of Little Bucharïa, 333.

Att, one of the Aleütian Isles, 30.

Ayagh, or Kayachu, one of the Andreanoffsky Islands, 72. Description of, 75.

B.

Bacchoff. See Novikoff.

Baranai Kamen, or Sheep's Rock, description of, 328.

Bear Islands. See Medviedkie Oстрова.

Beering, his voyage made at the expense of the crown, 8. His voyage (with Tschirikoff) in search of a junction between Asia and America, in 1728 and 1729, unsuccessful, 20. Shipwrecked, ibid. and death on an island called after his name, 21. See Discoveries, Steller; see also p. 323.

Beering's Island, the winter-station of all the ships sailing for the new-discovered islands, 52.

Belayeff (Lavion), treats the inhabitants of the Aleütian Islands in an hostile manner; in which he is under-hand abetted by Tsuproff, 34.

Bolcheretzk, a district of Kamtschatka, 5. See Kamtschatkai Ostrogs.

Belkesky (prince), appointed waywode of Siberia, 190. See Termac.

Boris and Glebb. See Trapeznikoff.

Bucharïa (Little), all subject to China, 333.

Buache (Mr.). See Longitude.

Burgoltei, a mountain in the valley of Kiachta, 214.

Burnt Island. See Atchu.

Buttons (of different colours), used as marks of distinction among the Chinese, 218.

C.

Calumet of peace, a symbol of friendship peculiar to America, 280.

Cambî,