FRESH DISCLOSURES IN GRAFT INQUIRY

Another Big Sensation Said to Be Developing in Winnipeg.

HORWOOD COLLAPSED

Former Provincial Architect's Testimony Came to Dramatic Close.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. June 13.— Replete with sensations thrucut its three days' course, the session of the Manitoba Royal Commission, enquiring into the parliament buildings scandal, came to a dramatic close here yesterday afternoon when Victor W. Horwood, late provincial architect, who had been cross-examined, broke down completely in the witness box when counsel for members of the late cabinot asked him if he did not deliberateit perjure himself before the Manitoba ly perjure himself before the Manitoba cused, and shortly afterwards the commission adjourned, to meet again in Winnipeg.
More Sensations?

There is a good deal of speculation as to when the commission is likely to conclude its labors and present its rethis week for Winnipeg. The commission may make its report in July. It is thought that within thirty days of the bringing in of the report Premier No. bringing in of the report Premier Nor-ris will go to the electorate, but if the report were to be delayed until after the middle of July no election would be likely until after harvest. One counsel was heard to remark before leaving last night that in Winnipeg big sensation was preparing.

Horwood's Revelations. Cross-examined by Mr. Sweatman vesterday afternoon, Horwood told again the story of the duplicate plans, one light and one heavy, for the steel of the dome to be prepared by the Chicago engineer, Mr. Shackland. In reply to the chief justice, the witness said he explained to Shackland why these duplicate plans had to be pre-pared—that Kelly had paid money in to the campaign fund, and this was to make it up.

Horwood said he never suspected the $10,000 to be paid Salt, which Hook said he was robbed of in Omaha, came from Kelly. Reasons were that Coldwell had told him he and Howden would raise the money, and also Kelly always maintained it was foolish to keep Salt away. Horwood told Mr. Sweatman he had never attempt. to make any money for himself in the matter. Asked if he had not substituted for Kelly's name in his eviunderstood there was to be a percentage of the concrete prices for the campaign fund. He denied he had ever from a German submarine, landed at

One day the pro-vincial treasurer, Hon. Hugh Armstrong, said to him: "Why don't you and Dr. Montague get together on your estimates?" Roblin's Warning.

Horwood stated positively that it was to Sir Rodmond Roblin he had made his recommendation about the $802,000 contract. The premier had told him to be very careful in making his estimates; a royal commission would always be able to go into the figures.

Mr. Sweatman then asked him if he admitted he had deliberately commit-ted perjury. Horwood broke down, was permitted to go into another room, but on being unable to recover him-self, he was excused further attendance.
