

Wolf. See Bronze She-wolf.
 Wolfe, General, 627.
 Woman and women, 191, 671, 672, 676, 680, 713, 726.
 "Poor thing of usages," 808. "Who can penetrate their sufferings," 808.
 Woman's love. See Love.
 Woman! experience might have told me, 13.
 "Wooden spoons of verse," 686.
 "Words are things," 684.
 Wordsworth, William, "mild apostate from poetic rule," 111. "Vulgar," and "simple," 122. His official employment, 626. Sharp remarks thereon, 894. His "Excursion," 625. "A drowsy, frowzy poem," 685. "Crazed beyond all hope," 648. His "Waggoners," 685. "Poet Wordy," 698. His genealogy of "Armageddon," 740, 899. See also 436, 650.
 World, vicissitudes of the, 692. When this world shall be former," 759. Meaning of "the great world," 779. "Where is the world?" 782. No description recent, 807.
 Worms, "and hungry Jacobins," 719.
 Wright, Walter Rodwell, 122, 867.
 Wrinkles, "the d—d democrats, won't flatter," 797.

X.

Xerxes, 364, 639, 669.

Y.

Yanua, 196.
 Ye Cupids, droop each little head, 5.
 Ye scenes of my childhood, 12.
 "Years steal fire from the mind," 204.
 You call me still your life.—Oh! change to wood, 70.
 You have ask'd for a verse, 110.
 Young Oak! when I planted thee deep in the ground, 50.
 Young, Dr. Edward, 782.
 Your pardon, my friend, if my chymes did offend, 28.
 Youth, "a chymic treasure," 649.
 Youth, Nature, and relenting Love, 59.

Z.

Zappi, Giovanni Battista, sonnet by, 887.
 Zegri, the, 169.
 Ziska, John, use made of the skin of, 166.
 Zitzu, convent and village of, 196, 861.
 Zoroaster, "the Persian," "devilish doctrine of," 797.

The Byronic hero
 - noble savage
 - the Hon. Sat. F.
 - the Gothic hero