

APRIL.

So WORN and distracted, a princess, she mourns
For the death of her March-love, while rosy dawn glows,
And, with blossoms bright, she his lone grave adorns, Kneeling there, while the rain of her tears sadly flows.