

CHAPTER XIII.

A Visit to the Pimo Villages. — We leave Jimmy at San Xavier. — Our Arrival among the Pimos. — Their Civilization. — Four Hundred Miles of Acequias. — Their Houses. — Their Weapons. — The only successful Apache Fighters. — An Ark of Safety. — A Visit to the "Casas Grandes." — Our first Sight of these Wonders of the Desert. — Their Condition. — What Mr. Bartlett said of them in 1852. — A Description of the Buildings. — The Elevation and Ground Plan. — The Pottery found here. — Remarkable Evidences of an Extinct Civilization — The Buildings supposed to be Eight Hundred Years Old. — Forty Miles of Ruins. — The Work of whose Hands? — Father Pedro Font visits them in 1775. — Extracts from a Manuscript Copy of his Journal. — Condition of the Ruins at the Time of his Visit. — A Description of them as Mangi found them in 1694. — Father Kino says Mass in them in that Year. — What the Government ought to do. — Speculations. — Return to the Pimo Villages. 184

CHAPTER XIV.

The Montezuma Indians. — Their distinguishing Characteristics. — The Ruins upon the Rio Verde and Salina River. — The four-story Houses, and who built them. — Gold and Silver Ornaments. — Cochise and the Apaches. — The Gold-bearing Region of Arizona. — In the Heart of the Apache Country. — Virgin Gold in the Hands of the Apaches. — They refuse all Information concerning it. — Felix Aubrey's Visit to the Gold-bearing Region in 1849. — What he found there. — Extent and Value of the Deposits. — The Indians use Golden Bullets. — Aubrey's Death. — Silver. — The Mountains full of it. — Gila City. — Up like a Rocket, down like a Stick. — Good-by to the Pimos. — Return to Tucson. — Jimmy puts in an Appearance. — What we saw in The-