

Thomas
ely after
th a wo-
, the De-
ture call
said, ac-
nd mixed
rp in this
d by the
services.
ups with
h he re-
He was
bo, where
egitimate
me table,
ATE CHIL-
he family.
more im-
o gain his
into the
ght their
me out of
d pertina-
persisted
certainly nds, as he
entlemen,
ber, 1823.
arn, a res-
a of Ash-
Mr. G. P.
Paper in Bull read
rtly after
led at Mr.
contained
e feel any
stated.—
avit before
to his fa-
ng execu-
knew of
him Mr.
ed and in-

censed at this; he denied that he ever seen or heard of any such deed. Gentlemen, he spoke upon the subject to William and Ogle Gowan. He desired them to destroy it, that he might hear no more of it. They affected to destroy the deed by throwing it into the fire, but it was only the cover of the deed that they burned—the deed itself they dropt into some trunk or box, and they afterwards boasted that they had deceived the old gentleman!!! Shortly before this one of the silver cups, which I stated the Grand Jury had given to Mr. Gowan disappeared. The family had reason to suspect Ogle Gowan of having taken it, and Thomas Gowan determined to prosecute him for it. Mr. John Hunter Gowan finally exerted himself to prevent the prosecution. He came to the Assizes, represented the case to the Grand Jury, and I need not say that he succeeded in having the Bills withdrawn. The prosecution was therefore rendered abortive. This was at the Spring Assizes. It will appear that he proceeded from the Assizes to the residence of his nephew, Henry Gowan of Enniscorthy, where he remained some days. He expressed great indignation at the prosecution instituted by Thomas Gowan against Ogle Gowan. He afterwards proceeded with Mr. Henry Gowan to Mount Nebo. The deed of the defendants, or rather conspirators, bears date on the 15th of March, that very month, and purports to have been executed at Mount Nebo. Mr. Henry Gowan continued at Mount Nebo for several days, and he will tell you distinctly that no such deed was executed during that time—that if it had been executed he should be likely to be the witness to its execution—that he did not hear of it, or even see the parties in it during that period. Gentlemen I have now to introduce to your notice the names of persons of the utmost respectability in this County. Lord Courtown, Mr. Beauman, of Hyde Park, and Mr. Medlicott, the Rector of the Parish, who exerted themselves to endeavour to reconcile the differences that existed between Mr. Gowan and his children, and after several efforts they succeeded. Mr. Gowan sent for Mr. Medlicott to administer to him the sacrament, but Mr. Medlicott felt that he would not be justified in administering to him that sacred rite while any irritated feeling existed between them, and he requested that they should be reconciled. Gentlemen you will find that the children were all called around the father—that he held out his hand cordially to them—and that they took the sacrament together. On the 2d of May, William Gowan went to Mr. Donovan, a respectable attorney of Enniscorthy, to consult with him about drawing up his father's will. Mr. Donovan acted