

0. See
place
tern, ii.
s, 138;
intensity, 35 n.
n. cker and
er minds,
ity, i. 90.
ature, i.
nd Space-
; mathe-
geometry
l 'Spaces,'
d i. p. vii.;
wo Spaces,
ate, ii. 232
perienced,
other, 44; 48; three characters ctions from
; absolute,
; absolute 38, 168;
multiplicity
4, 233 (Bk.
; related as ehended by
chs. i. ii.;
mental, Bk.
i. 189; uni-
p. vii.; not 7; stuff of
and passim;
n, i. 120
ies, i. 236 n.;
ntheism, 389;
392; Time
te ilities, etc., ii.
i. 12 n.; cones, 206 n.; re-
many, 346 n.; n, ii. 95; per
nd pain, 123 n.;
local signs, 167; appearances, 191; error, 214 n., 262; mental activity, 318 n.
Strong, C. A.: relations, i. 239; consciousness as relation, ii. 87 n.
Structure of things, i. 50, 277, 302
Stumpf, C.: "specific synergy," ii. 21; pleasure and pain, 124 n.; "partial contents" of sensation, 167 Subconsciousness, ii. 4, 30 Subsistence: as neutral being, i. 201 (see Montague); timeless being (see Meinong), 203; and existence, 220
Substance, Bk. II. ch. vi. A; and causality,
i. 280; enjoyed in being contemplated,
ii. 151
Substantive: and transitive states of mind,
i. 94
Sully-Prudhomme: revived emotions, i.
128
Supposals. See Assumptions
Taylor, A. E.: 'third man,' i. 218 n.; other minds, ii. 32 n.; divine and finite minds, 43 n.
Temporal signs, i. 117
-Tertiary 'qualities,' Bk. III. ch. ia. A; imply union of subject and object, ii.
236; relation to secondary and primary,
238; their reality, 244
Theism: its strength and weakness, ii.
388; immanent, 390, 396
Thing: synthesis of appearances, i. 13;
within a piece of Space-Time, ii. 183; objects and, 92; as complexes of space-
time, passim
Thinking: imageless, i. 211; intensity of,
ii. 135; two senses of thought, ii. 95
-Third man, i. 218 and note
Time: see Space and Time, and Space-Time; Bergson on, i. 140, 148; 'mind' of Space, ii. 18; generator of qualities, 47; in spatial appearances, 196
Titchener: measurement of sensations, i.
308
Togetherness, i. 11; how experienced, 20 Touch: touch-space and colour-space not two spaces, ii. 165, 198; and vision in determining extent, 195; superiority of touch, 203

Truth: and Error, Bk. III. ch. ia. B; relation to goodness and beauty, ch. ia. E

Ugliness: and beauty, Bk. III. ch. ia. D

Uncsciousness, ii. 25

Unity of mind, ii. 22, 150

Universality: as category, i. 215

Universals: Bk. II. ch. iii.; time of,
i. 222; universal element in sensation,
ii. 131

Unrealities: status of, ii. 224

Urban, W. M.: feeling attitude, ii. 303 n.; value, 307 n.

Value, Bk. III. ch. ix.; how value arises, ii. 216; not a quality, 243; reality of,
244; subjective and objective value, 303; instinctive and reflective, 304;
economic, 306; and Darwinism, 309;
its general nature, Bk. III. ch. ix. F;
and deity, Bk. IV. ch. iii.

Ward, J.: succession, i. 116; temporal signs, 117; psycho-physical parallelism, ii. 10; attention = consciousness, 118;
local signs, 167; intersubjective intercourse, 231; art. 'Psychology,' 13

Watt, H. J.: order in sensations, i. 265, ii. 164 n.; on sound, quoted, ii. 57 n.; pleasure and pain, 125

Whitehead, A. N.: philosophers and mathematics, i. 156 n.; mathematics and generality, 162, 175; relational view of Space and Time, 169

Whole and parts, Bk. II. ch. viii.

Willing: and judgment, ii. 248; and causality, 157 (see Hume); process of, 316

Wodehouse, Helen M.: supposal and belief, ii. 250 n.

Wolf, A.: correlation and cause, i. 295 n.

Wordsworth: i. 11; pantheism, ii. 392

World-soul: and Time, ii. 368; and deity, ibid.

Young, J. W.: his Fundamental Concepts of Algebra and Geometry quoted, i. 157, 158, 159, 162, 170

THE END