LA SALLE AND SEISMIC
ONLY FAVORITES TO WIN

Herbert Turner, at 15 to 1, is the Long Shot to Land—Minoru
Plate To-day.

Wednesday was the first real fine day for the fall races at Woodbine Park and consequently the attendance was the best of the meeting. This was especially noticeable on the members' lawn, there being a splendid representation of the fair sex. La Salle and Seismic were the only winners favorites. Herbert Turner, at 15 to 1, was the long shot to land. Archibald was again the winning jockey, with two firsts to his credit. The seven races were divided among as many famous owners, like H. F. Cameron, Red Walker, Barney Schreiber, J. E. Seagram, G. S. Tompkins and J. W. Schorr. John Reardon being the last named's first win of the meeting.

The track has dried out fairly well, but was far from fast. There were 36 bookmakers in line and it looked again like their day.

H. F. Cameron's La Salle, skilfully handled by Archibald, won with two firsts leading all round and having a length to the good at the wire, when Royal Oxy, that came from behind, finished his drive. Oxy was always third. The most money was on the first two and Dr. Barclay. Herbert Turner, who was the favorite, the second event, going out at flag fall and staying ahead for the verdict, the Planter drove him to the limit and looked again like a half length at the wire. Rash, the odds-on choice, just beat Clay for the show.

Sager was again a good horse in the Deaneater Plate, going past Donald Macdonald when Archibald called on him, the rest away back. J. H. Houghton pocketed his nose in front of Big Stick, the pace-maker, for the show money. The defeat of Donald Macdonald was a sore jolt to the public.

The Dominion Cup, $100 added, for Canadian bred, brought out a field of seven, with Seismic installed favorite, at 1 to 1, and he went a fraction longer at past time, the race was only a romp, 3:10.3 being fast enough to beat the best. Seismic rated nicely by Stanley Davis, was third. Oxy, the pace-maker, dropped back the last quarter.

The Steeplechase was a two-horse race. Four started and only two finished. Tom and Oakhurst were down at the second jump, leaving Jimmy Lane and Nebuchadnezzar to fight a duel that went to the former by his staying quality. They paid, neither of the other two could go courses and the O.J.C. takes down third money.

The Voltigeur Plate was a brisk betting event, every one of the five being supported, the winner least and Spellbound most. It was J. Reardon's day, however. Schorr, who avoided the early pace and went to the fore rounding the turn, increasing his lead as every stride. Spellbound pressed under on the run home, but could never get near the leader. Question Mark evidently does not like this track. The time, 1:45, shows the class of the performance, considering the condition of the track.

A big field of eleven went to the post for the last event of the day, with La Salle and Dan De Noyes installed as the colts, though there was a wild Duffin. Heine, who was the favorite, was the best, but he was chucked up at the opening. Tom and Oakhurst, against Temperate at the opening, the class was, however, too good for the Duffin and might have won but for the taking a jump before the race and the leading to within a jump of the wire. Heine was disqualified, however, for taking a jump before the race and the leading to within a jump of the wire. Heine was disqualified, however, for taking a jump before the race and the leading to within a jump of the wire.

The following races close at the office of the clerk of the course, Woodbine Park, on September 29, at 12 o'clock noon.
