feel just as proud of the glory and success attained by Edward Blake and Timothy Eaton as we do of O'Brien, Eugene O'Keefe, or Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. They have all contributed to the honor and prestige of the race and we honor and respect the Protestant as much as the Catholic. I feel I would not be doing my duty to-night if I did not convey to our Protestant fellow countrymen this message of peace and good will. It is our dearest wish to have our Protestant brothers co-operating with us in the elevation and upbuilding of our race.

"Before I conclude, I think it but meet and proper that I should make reference to our own beloved Canada. I know that I but feebly express your sentiments when I declare that we love her with all the warmth and intensity of our Celtic natures, and if her liberty and independence were threatened—no matter by what power on earth—the first to rush to her defence would be her Irish Canadians."

A souvenir of the concert which was held under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was a sketch of the history of the order and its aims, with portraits of prominent local members.

"The first great principle of Hibernianism," it is stated, "is unity; unity of action and desire and unity of thought. To acquire this condition, it is absolutely necessary to eliminate everything upon which men are likely to disagree. Religion being the greatest cause of conflict, it becomes necessary that Hibernians must all be of one religious belief, hence the rejection of all other religions and the adoption of the Catholic faith. True Christian charity is adopted as the principle of the order."

"He who practices true Christian charity, lives a blameless life; a life of sobriety and honor, a life of generosity and a life laden with beautiful examples to his fellowmen; not alone in the giving of gifts does charity consist, but in the giving of himself. He who practices his belief that every member of the human race is entitled to the same consideration as himself, and his desire and willingness to grant it to them."

"Political freedom still remains to be gained," it is further stated, "and Hibernians will strive for until the last vestige of alien domination has been obliterated from Ireland."

SHEFFIELD CHAIR SEND-OFF.

Dr. Charles Harris, who is to be one of the conductors of the Sheffield choir, received the following cable at the Queen's Hotel yesterday:

Sheffield, Mar. 17. Sheffield choir had enormous send-off this morning on leaving for Canada. Great cheering at Liverpool landing stage as steamer Victoria sailed this afternoon, chorus singing the national anthem and "O Canada."

Huron Old Boys.

The Huron Old Boys' Association held their annual Irish night banquet last night in Williams' Cafe. In the absence of Major Beck, who is seriously ill, Dr. Stanbury occupied the chair. At the head table were Col. Hugh Clark, M.L.A.; Col. Becker, Robt. Holmes, ex-M.P.; E. Flood, secretary; S. G. Soole, Dr. W. E. Struthers, Dr. Burton, W. Prendergast, John R. Robertson, science master, Cousins of Jamieson Collegiate.

It was decided to prepare a historical sketch of the county, and the work is already under preparation.

Harper, Customs Broker, McKinnon Building, 10 Jordan St., Toronto. edit

The Biter Bit. John Ryan, no home, got on a King-st. car last night. He was drunk and not allowed to enter. When he was put off, he punched holes in one of the car windows and an artery and a tendon of his right wrist were severed.

He was arrested by Policeman Lewis and sent to St. Michael's Hospital in the patrol wagon, where his injury was dressed.

London Out of Ball League.

BERLIN, Out, March 17.—London dropped out of the Ontario Professional Baseball League at a meeting here tonight. The reason for their action was that the other clubs would not put up a $1000 guarantee that they would finish the season. The other clubs are willing to put up $200. This leaves the league with five teams. Representatives of the league will come here Monday on an effort to get someone else to promote a club.

Hank O'Day, the dean of the regular staff of National League umpires, has positive ideas on all questions. So when he was recently asked his opinion of the proposed rule to have three umpires work in every game, Hank promptly had his say to this effect: That one umpire was enough to handle any ball game.

"Four were used in the world's series," it was suggested.
"I know that," said Hank; "but let me tell you that there never was a time when more than one umpire was necessary in any game of baseball. If one umpire can't handle one game—why, then, he's got an umpire. Baseball writers are responsible for the idea of having two men umpire every game and now they are trying to stretch it to three."

O'Day also gave his opinion of the suggestion to reduce the number of called balls to three. "Give a man his base on three balls," said he, "and you'll spoil the game. It would mean a constant procession around the bases, and if there is anything the fans don't want to see, it's a whole lot of bases on balls. Would the rule force the pitchers to acquire more control? I don't think so. It might not affect fellows with great control, like Brown and Mathewson, but it would simply deprive some other twirlers of their way of earning bread and butter."

PLAN OF CO-OPERATION IN HOME MISSION WORK

ly official board of the Methodist Church, to appoint not more than three persons to state their case before a local committee, a co-operating committee, or this general committee. This refers to fields where a change may be contemplated.

Seek to Unify Peoples.

(6) That, while seeking to unify the people of each community with the local church under one of the co-operating denominations, the following principles be recognized and acted on:

(a) Connection with such church need not imply abandonment of denominational preferences and affiliations.

(b) It is supposed that members of the local affiliating churches will be, in general, full members of the denomination to whose ministrations the field is left, but members who prefer to retain their own denominational connection, either by enrolment in such a congregation or by the depositing of their certificates with the proper denominational authorities, shall, as far as possible, enjoy all the rights and privileges of membership in the local church. Such persons shall be known as associate members of the congregation concerned.

(c) These associate members shall be expected to bear their fair share of the local expenses of the congregation they are associated with, but they shall be permitted, if they desire to do so, to devote their contributions to missionary and other connexional funds to their own denominations.

Note—Wherever, in the carrying out of this plan of co-operation, any existing church property may not be necessary for the purposes of the united congregation, such property can only be disposed of according to the regulations of the denomination in whose name it is held; and the proper denominational court must determine the purpose to which the proceeds shall be applied.

Originating Work in New Territory.

(7) That the co-operating committees at their annual meeting consider the plans proposed by the several denominations for work in new territory for the ensuing year, as reported by their home mission superintendents. They shall also review such new work as may have been initiated by the local committees or missionary superintendents since the last meeting.

(a) When anyone of the co-operating churches is ready to undertake work in a new unoccupied field, the proposal shall be submitted by the superintendent of missions of the church undertaking the work, to the local committee of the district in which the field lies, with full information regarding the field, including the numerical strength of the several Protestant denominations in the community, and the location and distance of adjacent missions. The local committee so consulted shall, without delay, send reply to the superintendent, mailing also a copy of that reply to the secretary of the co-operating committee having jurisdiction.

(b) The home mission superintendents of the respective denominations shall, as far as possible, consult with one another before undertaking work in any unoccupied field, in which such consultation would unnecessarily delay ministrations to the needs of a new community, the initiation of work by any denomination may be undertaken as at present; the initiation of such work, along with full information regarding the field, shall be submitted to the chairman of the nearest local committee, and to the secretary of the co-operating committee having jurisdiction.

(c) Work so initiated, after April 1, 1911, shall be subject to the review of the co-operating committee of the district in which the field lies, and, in such cases, priority of occupation shall be given to the denomination to which the field should be assigned, according to the plan.

(d) Work so initiated, after April 1, 1911, shall be subject to the review of the co-operating committee of the district in which the field lies, and, in such cases, priority of occupation shall be given to the denomination to which the field should be assigned, according to the plan.

(e) Regarding shall be had to the disadvantage under which any of the denominations may be placed in putting a stop to overlapping in existing fields. They shall to the number contributed by such denomination to the sister denominations in fields where its membership is not sufficiently numerous to justify a separate church, by assigning that denomination in certain cases.

(f) The home mission superintendents of the respective denominations shall, as far as possible, consult with one another before undertaking work in any unoccupied field, in which such consultation would unnecessarily delay ministrations to the needs of a new community, the initiation of work by any denomination may be undertaken as at present; the initiation of such work, along with full information regarding the field, shall be submitted to the chairman of the nearest local committee, and to the secretary of the co-operating committee having jurisdiction.

(g) Regarding shall be had to the disadvantage under which any of the denominations may be placed in putting a stop to overlapping in existing fields. They shall to the number contributed by such denomination to the sister denominations in fields where its membership is not sufficiently numerous to justify a separate church, by assigning that denomination in certain cases.

(h) Regarding shall be had to the disadvantage under which any of the denominations may be placed in putting a stop to overlapping in existing fields. They shall to the number contributed by such denomination to the sister denominations in fields where its membership is not sufficiently numerous to justify a separate church, by assigning that denomination in certain cases.

(i) Regarding shall be had to the disadvantage under which any of the denominations may be placed in putting a stop to overlapping in existing fields. They shall to the number contributed by such denomination to the sister denominations in fields where its membership is not sufficiently numerous to justify a separate church, by assigning that denomination in certain cases.

that may be agreed upon a specified district as its sphere of labor.

Work Among Non-English-Speaking Races.

(8) That, in the work among the non-English-speaking part of our population, certain districts or nationalities be assigned to the different denominations; but that, if preferred, in any locality, there be a combination of resources for the prosecution of a united work.

Note—The following is a general statement of the nationalities of foreign speech amongst whom the co-operating denominations are at present carrying on work:

Presbyterian—Ruthenians, Hungarians, Finns, Bohemians, Bulgarians and Italians. The foreign mission committee has charge of work among Jews, Chinese and Indians.

Methodist—Under the home department, work among Austrians, Italians, Scandinavians, Poles and Syrians. Under the foreign department, in Canada, among Indians, Japanese and Chinese. Congregational—Swedish, German and Welsh.

Revision.

(9) Any of the co-operating churches may, at any meeting of a co-operating committee, give notice thru its missionary superintendent of its desire for a reconsideration of the decision arrived at in regard to any field or territory. Such reconsideration shall be given at the next meeting of the committee, or at a special meeting which may be called at the request of any three members of the committee.

(10) Modifications of the plan of co-operation above set forth may be adopted by the general committee from time to time as experience may prove to be desirable. Local and co-operating committees are invited to submit to this committee such modifications as they consider necessary.

(Signed) A. Carman, chairman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church; E. W. McLaughlin, vice-chairman, general superintendent of the Presbyterian Church; W. T. Gunn, church secretary, secretary Canada Congregational Missionary Society.

member for Humboldt if that language is parliamentary—can get up here and under your protection say something that he cannot say anywhere else, in God's wide world. What he says is absolutely false and it was all the time false.

Then there followed a wrangle between the chairman, Mr. Campbell and Dr. Neely over the explanation of the point of order. The chairman did not know that the words were unparliamentary themselves, but "if the hon. member for Dauphin denies having done the act attributed to him by Dr. Neely, with full information regarding the field, including the numerical strength of the several Protestant denominations in the community, and the location and distance of adjacent missions. The local committee so consulted shall, without delay, send reply to the superintendent, mailing also a copy of that reply to the secretary of the co-operating committee having jurisdiction."

Dr. Neely began to equivocate. "If the hon. member for Dauphin says he did not make the statement, he would have the denial and insisted on fair play. He wanted Dr. Neely to take his statement without any reservation."

After further quibbling, the chairman thought the words of Dr. Neely might be fairly construed as a withdrawal of his expression.

The Whitewash Brush.

Dr. Neely said he was prepared to apply the "white wash brush" to the member for Dauphin, but Mr. Campbell came back with "he had better revise his text before he makes that statement."

BEFORE Liggett's, Limited, open the doors of their new modern Drug Store to the Toronto Public, the management desire to give a series of facts, concerning the policy of the House and its aims, as well as the advantages it will offer the drug buying public.

The reason for its coming has been discussed, its objects analyzed and its development noted. Toronto is now witnessing the establishing of a new business.

The building at 106 Yonge Street is rapidly being transformed into what we know will be Canada's greatest and best drug store—Liggett's, Limited—which will be operated by Canada's most progressive pharmaceutical chemists. Everything at Liggett's will be new—new store, new fixtures, new soda fountain.

The immense stock in each department will be new, fresh and strong. None but first quality goods will find space on our shelves.

Only people of ability will be employed in the various departments. Every employee will be chosen on account of his particular ability to fill the position which he occupies.

We will tell the public through varied and persistent advertising about our store, and all promises will be kept, whether advertised or not, thereby securing the public confidence.
