The exteriors will be of brick and stone, and will be mostly one and one-half and two-story houses. The houses will contain five, six and seven rooms, including living-room, dining-room, kitchen and bedrooms, also bathroom and sun porch.

CORN SELLS HIGHER AFTER EARLY BREAK

Rush to Cover Short Contracts Offsets Prospect of Larger Receipts.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Efforts of shorts to escape losses in nearby deliveries carried the corn market up today, except March and May options, which showed a slight advance. The close was firm; January at $1.43 to $1.43 1/2; May, $1.36 1/2 to $1.36 3/4, and the finish as a whole 3/4 cent off to 3/4 cent advance, compared with 2 1/2 hours before.

At first deliveries of corn, barring only December, had a downward slant because of evidence that a large part of New Year's large crop movement would take place. Subsequently, however, the fact became evident that the contraction in December contracts had affected the January delivery, inasmuch as January shorts were expected to have difficulty in covering, although the scarcity of sellers was of lesser degree than in the December market. A balance in prices for both months followed, and for February as well.

Rallies took place also in March and May, but the upturns were insufficient to overcome entirely the effects of the earlier weakness.

Improved domestic demand gave independent strength to wheat, and the south was said to be out-bidding Chicago at some points in Illinois.

Provisions were covered chiefly by the action of corn. Strength in the hog market appeared to have but little, if any, direct influence.

ANTHRACITE SUPPLY EXCEEDS ESTIMATES

Despite Handicaps of War and Epidemic, the Coal Output Keeps Up.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 29.—With two-thirds of the coal year gone, the anthracite committee of the United States fuel administration is able to announce that the actual distribution of anthracite during the eight months to Dec. 1, notwithstanding the heavy loss in production due to the influenza scourge, was not materially less than when on May 29 last, the allotment of domestic sizes was made for the coal year. It may also be stated that the country comes into the winter generally well provided in advance with anthracite and with the coal far more equitably distributed to meet the needs of the millions of consumers throughout the country.

Such accomplishment, which had it not been for the influenza would have been a very difficult one, was made possible by the fact that the anthracite industry would have been able to overcome the influenza handicap by increasing production and other device to increase production. The fearful influenza epidemic which swept the coal regions during the winter, a loss of fully 2,000,000 tons of production.

In the eight months to Dec. 1, total anthracite shipments reached 52,186,418 tons. If the same average output can be maintained until the end of next March the anthracite industry will have shipped 78,000,000 tons to consumers, or 245 tons for each of the 318,000,000 people of the United States.

So far, the amount of domestic sizes shipped is about 38,000,000 tons, so that with the output maintained during the balance of the period, the estimated supply should be available, very little human effort, supported by all the great equipment of the anthracite industry, will be put forth during the winter to supply the daily demand for coal, and it is important that it is now only the current requirements which will be pressing.

WAR WORK IN BRANTFORD.

Brantford, Ont., Dec. 29.—A resume of the work of the Women's Patriotic League, the central organization, which is aiding every women's organization in Brantford, work, shows that during the period of the war women's cash contributions reached $45,850, while the work shipped for Red Cross prisoners and relief needs would double this amount in value.
