

DREAMER HAS PART IN MODERN WORLD

Not Only Men of Action Necessary, Says Rev. Dr. Ribourg.

Rev. Dr. Ribourg, preaching at Saint Anne's Cathedral, Sunday evening, said that a new vision of the world, "A vision from the mountain top," said in part:

After the ascension of their Master, the apostles had a new vision of their mission. They were to be co-laborers with Him in the work of saving the world. There is no more valuable member of society than the man of vision. He is leading the way toward the new and beautiful city of the ideal. Aspiration, not contentment, is the law of his life. We owe the improvement of the world, the climb of civilization largely to the men of vision. The apostles were men of vision and to them we owe the benefits of our Christian civilization.

Practical men of action are needed in the world, but they could do very little if these men of vision were not there. It is the vision of the men of vision, in a nation, especially the men whose vision is fixed on Christ's ideals. They are the salt which preserves the moral decay of the community in which they live. They are the light which will guide their countrymen in the path of righteousness and honest prosperity. We have such men of vision in Canada, and it is a national duty in the present period of unrest, regardless of party inclinations, to give these men the greatest opportunities to use their ability, to the greatest interest of the nation.

Too often in the past the men of vision, scientists, teachers and prophets have been kept in the background, because of their underground workings of political bigotry. The seriousness of the world's crisis demands that these men of vision should be given the contribution of their high intellect to the solution of the most vital problems of the hour and to the reorganization of society.

WESLEY METHODISTS UNVEIL MEMORIAL

Tablet to Twenty-Five Heroes Placed Directly in Front of Pulpit.

An interesting event which was attended by many returned men and also by relatives of those who fell in the great war took place yesterday at Wesley Methodist Church, Dundas and Ossington avenue, when a memorial tablet in honor of 25 young men of that congregation who gave their lives for "faith and freedom" was unveiled. The tablet, which is a handsome bronze one, is 26 by 34 inches in size, and is placed directly in front of the pulpit in the sanctuary. It bears the names of the following soldiers: J. E. Belfry, Herbert Butt, James P. Crawford, John A. Eaton, Fred Ellis, Henry Friesen, Arthur G. Gault, Herbert Greenhalgh, John A. Hall, Hugh H. Hoan, Leslie Mahon, Ernest W. Nesbitt, Albert Nicholson, Thomas L. Orr, R. Ellis Peacock, Roy V. Polley, Earl P. Power, H. C. Quall, Fred C. Robinson, Henry Serase, Ralph Sharpe, John Wesley and George Williams.

The unveiling service was conducted by Rev. (Colonel) G. H. Williams, the former chaplain of the military district.

At the evening service, which was also a memorial table, Dr. W. H. Gutzert, the church organist and choir-master, played a specially composed symphony, composed by the Rev. Dr. Williams, in memory of the 25 heroic dead. Rev. (Captain) B. N. Burns, who lost a son in the war, was the evening preacher, and his text, "The Spirit of the Men."

"What's in a Name?"

Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it derived; how it came to be your lucky day and lucky jewel.

By MILDRED MARSHALL

MARGORIE.

Margorie, sometimes spelled Margery, is one of the many popular derivatives of Margaret, which has gained a place of its own as a separate name, since it was evolved from Margaret it necessarily signifies "pearl" and was taken from the Persian term for the jewel.

When Margaret was subjected to the influence of other countries, it became Marguerite in France; Margherita in Italy and Spain; the Scottish favorite was the little name of Marjorie. Margaret Ethel took it to the land of the thistles and seems to have been contrived to make it almost the national Scottish name. Margaret gained voice in England through the famous Margaret of Anjou, Margaret Beaufort, mother of Henry VII, and her granddaughter, Margaret Tudor.

But the oldest and most derivatives is perhaps the most famous of the Scottish women so called. It was readily contracted to Mairie, who does not recall "proud Mairie" of the ballad? The surname Margoribanks was derived from the barony of Rath, granted to Margorie Bruce on her marriage with a high steward of Scotland. Margorie also flourished in Scotland, where the little poem originated:

"My sister Margie, gentle May, Took all my little bonnie away. May is an endearment evolved from Marjorie and Margaret. Edward Steadman wrote a poem combining the two names, which runs:

"One can never quite forget Eyes like yours May Margaret, Eyes of dewy violet. Noting like them, Margaret, Save the blossoms newly-born Of the May and of the morn."

Margorie's talismanic jewel is the pearl. Old superstition has it that she will be blessed with good fortune and will win great love. Monday is her lucky day and two her lucky number. The daisy is her flower.

GALLANT DEPARTED PRAY FOR LIVING

Declares General Davey, Preaching to Brotherhood and Veterans.

MUST BE UNSELFISH

Sacrifice of Men in the Trenches Example for the World to Follow.

A memorial service organized by the Canadian Brotherhood Federation was held in St. Paul's Church, Bloor street, yesterday afternoon, in memory of Canada's heroes, who laid down their lives for King and country in the great war. The large church was well filled by relatives of those who have "gone west," and many returned men, doing in addition, representatives and supporters of the brotherhood were well in evidence. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by Rev. Dr. King, pastor of St. Paul's, whilst Rev. Dr. P. A. Moore read the lesson of the day.

The address was given by Brigadier-General J. Penry Davey, C.M.G., principal chaplain to the imperial forces. General Davey, who at all times is an eloquent speaker, preached a most impressive sermon, and frequently brought tears to the eyes of the audience. He said that the great lesson of the war was that of sacrifice. He said that the great lesson of the war was that of sacrifice.

He said that the great lesson of the war was that of sacrifice. He said that the great lesson of the war was that of sacrifice. He said that the great lesson of the war was that of sacrifice.
