

For the development of public speaking, and at the same time to gain an acquaintance with the work of the several courts of the Church, discussions are held as frequently as possible. Students of this year are required to pass an oral examination on Public Speaking.

The students of the second and third year are required to deliver two extemporaneous addresses during the session before the class. These addresses are criticized by the Lecturer, and by the Professor in whose class they may be delivered.