LABOR PEERS TO Woman Leader of French Bandits Is Shot By Posse During Revels

Paris, Nov. 28—The police of the Seine et Marne Department have rounded up a large gang of robbers, after shooting the leader, a tattooed woman, who is said to have a remarkable career.

For a long time the robbers have defied the police, but news brought to the police led them to strange revels which were going on in the woods and provinces, and, headed by the Mayor of the village, armed with a shot gun, the inhabitants, with scythes and poles, etc., set out to catch the rob-

They found the band around a great fire eating chicken and drinking champagne, with the woman dancing in front of them. The robbers ran away, but one of them and the woman were shot. The woman ran into the woods and gave her pursuers a long chase, ventually swimming the river and disappearing.

Next morning she was found dead. She was tattooed from head to The man captured said the woman had had many previous hair-breadth escapes from the police, and had carried these out owing to the rapidity with which she changed from a man's to a woman's clothing.

night's ago by Zion's Sunday School team of little fellows are now challenging Central Baptist Juniors for Saturday night in their own gymnaslum. The Baptist lads are willing, though they themselves have just emerged from a trimming administered by the Methodist boys of Zion's.
All this activity amongst the small boys—12 to 14 years—suggests the possibility of framing up an interSunday School schedule, a miniature league. One citizen stands ready to donate a silver cup if the young fellows will call a joint meeting and make a winter schedule. In the basketball game these undersized players are seemingly showing the first real pep. This is the kind of wholesome rivalry and worthwhile fun that help make good citizens—never too young to start at it either.

The same rigid standard of work-manship and materials as governs our Boys' Boots is likewise insisted upon when Francis & Vaughan order for growing girls and misses. And, lastly, they must fit so the feet can grow correctly and comfortably.

The soles last longer because of oak tanned leather off the toughes back and rump of the hide.

Old manufacturing experience tells us which is which and what to reject. Our Footwear stands better up for repairs also because of the kind of box toes, insoles and count-ers. The appearance of the uppers speaks for itself.

Below $2.95 you cannot get anywhere good Boots for young girls—$3.45 the low limit for older girls. Our large buying obtains smarter values in Black and Mahogany Boots and Oxfords.
