

LOCAL NEWS

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

Our bargains are not on the news page they are in our store. Come and get them at Bassen's 14-16-18 Charlotte street.

Petroleum coke and all sizes of hard and soft coal in stock. Geo. Dick. M. 1116. 18074-1-10

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

COMMUNITY CHORUS
Will all Community Chorus members who own music, or have music home, please bring it for tomorrow night's rehearsal, as we will need it all, and look for a large attendance.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN
Arnolds big bankrupt stock sale 187-189 Prince Edward street. Don't miss this opportunity to save money. Store open evenings. 1-11.

Violins restored, bows rehauled, Goudle 7 Charlotte. M. 742-31. 18121-1-10

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

SONS OF ENGLAND
Marlborough Lodge No. 207 will install their officers on Wednesday evening 11th inst at 8 p.m. Every member requested to attend. Portland and New Brunswick Lodges S. O. E. will be present. Good programme and refreshments after installation. Chas. Ledford, Secretary.

We have ten thousand yards of mill ends shaker at 10 cents a yard. Come and get it at Bassen's 14-16-18 Charlotte street.

New Year dancing classes, starting Alice Green, Main 9087-11. 1-14.

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

Come and buy your boy's mackinaws the cost is less at Bassen's 14-16-18 Charlotte street.

"Studio" Dancing every Saturday and Tuesday. 18489-1-10

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

A WINTER HOLIDAY.
A winter holiday in summer sunshine is provided by the Canadian Pacific Railway in the sailings of the S. S. Sicilian to Havana and return. This makes an ideal short holiday trip for those who cannot spare the time in summer, twenty days being required for the trip, the itinerary allowing five full days in Havana, the fascinating capital of Cuba, with its glorious winter climate and historic associations, its parks, parties and parades, and all that helps to add joy to life and rob it of care. The steamer calls at Boston on second day of the trip, returns to New York on the fourth day, and leaves Boston on the fifth day. The fares St. John to Havana and return, $100, and Boston to Havana and return $100. Accommodation is provided on board during the stay in Havana. No passports are necessary. Anyone contemplating this very delightful tropical cruise should communicate with Mr. N. R. DesRivaz, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, St. John, N. B., who will advise dates of sailings and all additional information that may be desired.

Your boots and shoes and rubber wear. Buy it for less money at Bassen's 14-16-18 Charlotte street.

The first to bring back pre-war prices for moving pictures was the Opera House.

BOYS' OVERCOATS.
AT HALF PRICE

Complete Line of Turner's Coats for Boys Now Offered at Sacrifice Prices to Clear.

See these coats. Let the boy try some on and note how admirably they become him; how easy they are. Feel at the rich, thick fabrics; observe the suaveness in line. Then it will really be brought home to you what this sacrifice sale means to you.

The superior values of these beautiful overcoats are proclaimed by the very quality of the fabrics; the softness, smoothness and richness of texture. Emphasized in the fine styling, the splendid tailoring, the appealing grace! Only the need for quick clearance could induce this drastic reduction in the prices. Come in and let us show you our stock—Turner's, 440 Main street, corner Shearwater.

1-10

THOMAS' JANUARY FUR SALE

A sale of much interest to the fur buying public was inaugurated today by the well known fur house of F. S. Thomas. This sale cries with it the usual Thomas Guarantee. Among the very desirable offerings are Hudson Seal, Raccoon, Muskrat and Persian Lamb coats, and a very drastic move is being made by offering all neck and shoulder pieces and muffs at just half their marked price for one week. See large announcement on page 10 this issue. 1-10

PRINCE WILLIAM HOTEL
Finest William Street.
Situated in cleanest and healthiest part of city, overlooking harbor. Rooms with bath, $1 per day. Special low rates by the week. 4-28-22.
Dining room service.

USE The Want Ad Way

ART POTTERY
Drapery Ware

New and Artistic Designs in Blue Drapery and Roses.

Flower Boxes, Jardiniere, Hanging Ferns, Vases and Candlesticks.

O. H. WARWICK CO., Limited
78-82 King Street

TORONTO HAS A WOMEN'S COURT

Dr. Margaret Patterson Well Qualified to Deal With Problems.

(Toronto Globe.)

When girls and women who from one unfortunate circumstance or another find themselves under the hand of the law and are brought up before Toronto magistrates, they will find not only a wife, a mother, a doctor and a trained nurse, but a woman whose chief desire will be to settle their troubles without bringing them to the bench at all.

Dr. Patterson first heard of her appointment, which was announced yesterday afternoon by the Hon. W. E. Ramey, the attorney-general, when the Press called her up to have a talk with her about the new office, and when she had done a great deal toward the establishment of the court over which she will now rule.

Experimenting With Poison Gas.

Amid the present talk of disarmament the Army Council seems to be engaged upon a peculiarly horrible scheme of preparation for war. I am credibly informed that it is in contemplation to establish somewhere near Salisbury Plain a research station where the various properties of poison gas will be studied by experiments on living animals, conducted on a grand scale.

According to my information, the staff is already being called into existence; the monkeys, goats, guinea pigs and the rest of the menagerie will follow their thousands in due course. It must be admitted that poison gas has come to stay as a lethal weapon, and if so, we must march in the van of scientific progress. But I doubt if people of this or any civilized country will consent in time of peace to the wholesale torturing and destruction of animals in order that the process may be applied with the best results to human beings.—London Truth.

SHIPPING

ALMANAC FOR ST. JOHN, JAN. 9.

High Tide... 8.04 Low Tide... 2.07

PORT OF ST. JOHN.

Arrived Saturday.

Str. Canadian Otter, 1887, McFadden, from Swansea.

Arrived Yesterday.

Str. Canadian Navigator, 1929, Gilbert, from Cardiff and Swansea via Halifax.

Str. Roanoke, 4081, Harrison, from Sydney.

Sunday, Jan. 8.

Str. Manchester Brigade, 3771, Poole, for Manchester.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Metagana arrived in port Saturday night on her second trip of the season from Liverpool. She carried 196 first and 194 second class passengers. Dr. H. C. Calkins, Miss J. H. Calkins and Miss E. Day, were the St. John passengers on board. Among the others on board were Mrs. Williams, wife of Professor Williams, and their two sons, Rear Admiral T. Noda was on board, returning to Tokyo, Japan, and although the steamer was stopped, no trace of him was found. A widowed mother survives him. Aside from this accident the voyage was uneventful.

A thrilling story of disaster at sea is brought to this port by the skipper and crew of the little schooner Oliver, who arrived in port on the Metagana Saturday night. The Oliver put out from Torrevella, Spain, for St. John with a cargo of salt on October 20. Fine weather was experienced until November 4 when a storm came up. She was hauled around and began to leak. For a month she drifted before the storm and on December 1 she ran into a heavy gale. The holds became flooded and they manned the pumps, the sea being too rough to leave the ship. When they had almost given up hope they were rescued by the tramp steamer Vulcan.

Several plates are said to have been damaged from the pounding received while lying at No. 16 berth, on New Year's Eve. Temporary repairs have been made and she will sail for Halifax today to enter drydock.

The vessel has completed loading her cargo for Newfoundland and she will sail from Halifax for St. John's.

The schooner Frederick H., which went ashore on the Negro Point breakwater on Saturday morning, was pulled off Saturday night by the tug Murray Stewart. The schooner was towed into Kennedy slip and an examination made. It was decided, as the vessel was not leaking badly, that she would be towed to Starr's wharf to discharge her cargo of coal before a thorough examination of her hull is made. It was not decided last night whether an investigation would be made into the affair or not. Mr. Cline, the pilot on board, is one of the oldest and most reliable pilots of the St. John's harbor.

The West Channel, for which the schooner was headed, is officially closed to mariners, on account of filling of rock and mud last summer. The usual "wag" was sent to mariners from the marine department at Ottawa.

12 lbs. GRANULATED SUGAR $1.00

14 lbs. BROWN SUGAR $1.00

11 oz. SEEDED RAISINS $1.00

16 oz. pkgs. CLEANED CURRANTS $1.00

BEST LAYER FIGS $1.00

FANCY DATES, pkgs. $1.00

BEST BULK DATES $1.00

4 lb. tin MINCEMATE $1.00

LITTLE BEAUTY BROOMS $1.00

REGULAR 75c. BROOMS $1.00

XMAS CANDY $1.00

FINEST HARD MIX. CANDY 22c. lb.

M. A. MALONE

516 Main St. Phone M. 2913

Try it Once—Use it Always

Yarmouth Creamery Butter

FRED. BRYDON, City Market

Try our West Side Sanitary Meat Market for choice meat and vegetables. Call West 166.

USE The Want Ad Way

PAINLESS EXTRACTION
Only 25c.

We make the BEST Teeth in Canada at the Most Reasonable Rates.

Boston Dental Parlors

Head Office: Branch Office:
527 Main St. 35 Charlotte St.
Phone 663 Phone 38

DR. J. D. MAHER, Prop.

Open 9 a.m. - - - Until 9 p.m.

Regular January Clearance

Ready-Tailored Overcoats

Seldom do men and young men have such an opportunity to obtain such thoroughly good coats as these, at such low prices.

$18.50, $20, $25, $35, $45 and—there's a label on the inside of each coat which stands for years of conscientious catering to men.

GILMOUR'S

68 King Street

Clothing, Tailoring, Furnishings.

LOCAL NEWS

Another recent break was made into the offices of Beatty Bros., Ltd., in Marsh road, in which the thieves were followed by their inability to open a modern safe by means of a hammer and cold chisel.

At the monthly meeting of the Railway Mail Clerks, held yesterday afternoon in the post office, G. H. Markham presiding, it was decided to show in some practical manner their sympathy with the family of H. G. Moulton, who died recently.

An attempt to break into the warehouse of the Canadian Distributors, Ltd., in Water street, was made about two o'clock yesterday morning. Policeman Quinlan found the big brass lock on the door broken and notified Inspector Caples and Percy W. Hand, who investigated in a brief space.

The officers of the St. John Garrison are arranging to give a farewell dinner to Brig-General A. H. Macdonnell, C.M.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

The llama and alpaca are extensively domesticated in South America. A relative of theirs, the vicuña, smaller in size, is a wild animal, native to the high plateaus of the Andes. The vicuña has been hunted almost to the point of extermination by the Indians, and before long it is likely to become an extinct species. Its fine silky wool, of a tawny color, is woven into very attractive ponchos, and rugs made of its skin are much sought as bed coverings. Vicuña rugs occasionally find their way to the United States, where they fetch high prices. They are usually six feet by four, and in Bolivia sell at 180 to 280 bolivianos. A boliviano is about thirty-eight cents.

Rev. H. A. Cody was in the chair at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, held Saturday afternoon. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for January 10 in order that the national secretary, Mr. Sandall, may be present. Those in attendance at the meeting were: Miss K. Bell, secretary; Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Heber Vroom, Miss Fleet, Miss Frances Alward and Rev. F. Daly.

Do You Know About the New Remedies

TEMPLETON'S RAZ-MAH CAPSULES—Internal Treatment for Asthma and Chronic Bronchitis. Very effective—$1.00 and $5.00 per box.

TEMPLETON'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY—Something different for rheumatism—$1.00 and $5.00 per box.

BUCKLEY'S ASTHMA TREATMENT—Comprising four different preparations. Guaranteed Satisfactory, $4 pkg.

ASPROLAX for colds, 60c.

WASSONS 2 STORES