Chautauqua's Programme Attractive

Chautauqua's programmes yesterday were replete with good things and were much enjoyed by appreciative audiences, which were generous in applause. The weather was ideal for the outdoor performances.

The Junior Chautauqua held its opening session in the morning and the junior superintendent, Mrs. Elizabeth Millison, had an enthusiastic band of children to start out on the junior programme. The children were duly enrolled but enrollment has not been completed and there is still an opportunity for others to enter into the game. Mrs. Millison in speaking of the Junior Chautauqua last night referred to it as the most constructive and most lasting of Chautauqua's benefits and related how in towns where Chautauqua has been an established institution for ten years, the former junior members are now among the most interested younger citizens and most staunch Chautauqua supporters.

The morning hour lecture was given by the superintendent, W. W. Schumaker and had for its subject "National Misconceptions." Having pointed out the misconceptions which exist as to what constitutes national greatness he went on to tell of those things that were essential to real greatness.

The Great Lakes String quartet made its appearance at Chautauqua last evening with a vigor and freshness that were indeed exhilarating and inspiring. The members of this group were: Herman Felber, first violin; Carl Passauer, second violin; Robert Dole, violoncello, and John Lingeman, cellist. The performance was an excellent one.

Yesterday afternoon the programme opened with a recital by the Hughes-Bawden Co., of Philadelphia, two of the Quaker city's most prominent artists. Miss Estelle Hughes, soprano, and Clarence Bawden, pianist, made up this company. They both are accomplished musicians and their performance was heartily received. A dramatic reading, "Walked Jimmy," by Miss Mary Agnes Doyle, formed the second part of the afternoon's programme. This delightful comedy of optimism has for its central theme the philosophy of the power of a smile. The hero is mentally alert, heroic, intensely magnetic, dashingly romantic and scientifically business-like. Miss Doyle's art enabled her to portray faithfully all of these characteristics.

DEFRAUDS RELIEF FUND, IS SENTENCED TO JAIL

Winnipeg, July 28.—While he was obtaining relief from the city unemployed relief fund John A. Bissell was paying instalments on an automobile, had a telephone in his house, and was working as an engineer on a construction job. He received a sentence of two months in jail when convicted on a charge of fraud.

PRISONERS BLIND CAPTOR.

"Mean Trick" Says Atlantic City Constable, Who Was Fixed So He Couldn't Pursue Them.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 27.—A "mean trick" played on Constable Jess Woodington resulted in the escape of two prisoners, who were manacled together in the constable's charge. One of the prisoners lifted his manacled hand as the train on which they were being taken from the Atlantic City jail to the County Jail at May's Landing slowed up and struck the pipe in the constable's mouth, so that the sparks flew and temporarily blinded him.

Thereupon the two prisoners, John Armstrong and Thomas Gibbs, jumped from the train. They made good their escape, as the constable could not follow because he had two other prisoners in charge.

DROWNS TRYING TO UNTIE BONDS UNDER WATER

Pittsburgh Man Bound at Own Request and Dropped in River—Companions Arrested.

Pittsburgh, July 28.—Two men were arrested here in connection with the drowning of William G. Githens, who died while attempting to free himself under water from bonds which bound his hands and feet.

Two companions, to whom he had boasted of his ability to escape from knotted cords, tied Githens at his request, the police say, and dropped him into the river. He rose to the surface screaming and attracted nearby bathers. They were too late to save him.

STREET CAR UNION MEETS.

The Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees held a regular meeting last evening in the Trades and Labor Hall in Prince William street. Thomas Trot, vice-president of the union, occupied the chair and the meeting was attended by more than sixty members. Several communications, which have been received from other locals, were read, in addition to a communication from the headquarters of the union. The communication from headquarters also contained a substantial check for the members of the local. A special committee was appointed last night in connection with the arrangements for the holding of sports in the near future. The committee was appointed as follows: Clarence Maxwell, Alexander Northrup, Winslow Colwell and A. Mayes.
