Huns Admit Robber Aims

Are Now Proclaiming to People
Their True Intention of Conquest—Mr. Balfour's Speech

"What is now more pressingly required is that the fighting forces of the United States should be brought as speedily as possible into the field," said A. J. Balfour, the foreign secretary, in speaking at a luncheon to an American labor delegation in London the other day.

"The Germans' plan," continued Mr. Balfour, "is to shatter the British army before the American weight can be brought into the scale. The German inspired press has been instructed by its masters to show the utmost contempt for the American military effort. But the masters do not share that contempt. They are planning their whole campaign and are sacrificing men with reckless extravagance in order that the American help may arrive after their blow has been struck."

In proposing a toast to the Allied cause at the luncheon to the American labor delegation, Mr. Balfour said:

"We have been the witnesses during the last year or year and a half," he said, "of strange tergiversation on the part of those who wished to delude either the German, neutral, or, it might be, even the Allied public with regard to German intentions and methods."

"There was a moment before the facile success which Germany obtained against an unresisting enemy, an enemy in the east, when German statesmen and German members of parliament discussed public affairs as they would lead one to suppose that Germany was on the highway to democratic institutions and to a heartfelt adoption of the four principles which President Wilson has made famous throughout the world."

Merely Camouflage.

"They now almost cynically admit that the resolution of the Reichstag, of which we have heard so much, all the talk of no annexations and indemnities, of considering the wishes of subject populations, of spreading the principles of security and freedom throughout the world, was what we sometimes call camouflage."

"Germany now stands forth undisguised as a robber state," declared Mr. Balfour. "How is she going to carry out her robbery so far as her internal politics are concerned? Her methods are simple. If things are going wrong, or are not going as well as her optimists expected, then they tell the German public:

"You must fight on, because the powers against whom you are fighting desire nothing less, and will be content with nothing less, than the total destruction of your country."

Will Prove Wrong.

"As the Germans have been proved hopelessly wrong in their estimates of the ideas, desires and determination of the American people," said Mr. Balfour, "so they will be proved wrong in their estimate as to the speed with which the Americans will be able to carry out their purpose and programme."

"The thought uppermost in all British minds today is confidence that America will upset the German plans, that America will be able to send over her indomitable forces in a way which no German general staff officer has ever calculated. It is men we need now."

THE JOCKS.

The following extract from a Scotch paper sent here by Pte. Alex. Morrison of Highland Light Infantry, Glasgow, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Morrison, 102 Queen street, gives an idea of what the Huns think of the Jocks in frocks:

The Germans have compiled statistics which show that the troops of a certain Scottish division are the most dangerous and deadly of all their enemies.

The War Lord's brow was sad
And the War Lord's speech was low,
And darkly scanned he the reports
Of Hindenburg & Co.

"What enemies are these?" he cried
"That give my Field Greys shocks?"
And with one voice the Vons replied
"All Highest, 'tis the Jocks."

Then up spake gallant Ruprecht,
A swashbuckler was he,
Come Kaiser, stand by my right hand
And view the fight with me.
Der flower of all Bavaria
Was dead or wounded, crooked,
Thanks to der tenfold nut ze pipes
Gott strafe ze cold-steel Jocks.

And up spake little Willie,
His father's eldest son,
A bad lad who never won a fight
But looked like a Hun:
No more, alas, I forgoe
For watches, jewels or clocks,
Because the road ahead is barred
And held by killed Jocks.

The War Lord gave his fierce moustache
Another upward twist,
Go, let loose yet more frightfulness
And bang the mailed fist.
Let's rattle loud the sabre
And o'erawe these men in frocks,
But Generals and Field Marshals cried
You do not know ze Jocks.
