THE BRITISH NAVY.
General Wolseley's Speech at a London Banquet Last Night.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—General Lord Garnet Wolseley, field marshal and commander in chief of the British army, speaking at a banquet in London this evening, refuted what he called the pessimist notions current about the army. He asserted that if England declared war tomorrow she could have two of the finest and most fully equipped army corps in readiness for any British port before ships could be prepared to embark them. He said that if the men were better paid there would be no difficulty in obtaining recruits.

GLADSTONE'S HEALTH.
LONDON, Jan. 19.—An official medical statement issued today says that there is no cause for alarm as to Mr. Gladstone's health, although it has not been as good as it has been hoped at Cannes. The facial neuralgia pains persist with daily fluctuations owing to the cold winds and wet weather, but the complaint is quite local. His physical powers have not suffered, his strength is good, his appetite excellent; he joins the family at meals and takes regular drive, weather permitting. It is not true that the family has been summoned. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone will go to Cannes on Saturday in accordance with an arrangement made weeks ago. Lord Stuart Rendel, with whom Mr. Gladstone is visiting, telegraphed tonight at 8.40 that Mr. Gladstone's health was unchanged.

all vessels used for milk should first be well rinsed with lukewarm water, after which a scalding is advisable, and washing with a cloth in a thorough manner is necessary. Cool with pure cold water, wipe dry and leave in an airy place till used again. Too much care cannot be exercised in milking to avoid any particles of foreign matter from getting into the milk. Clean cows and clean hands must be the rule. Strain your milk as soon as possible after drawn from the cow. Do not depend solely upon the old-time wire strainer, but use it with the addition of a double cheese cloth. In the hot weather it is always like to stir the milk till the animal heat is expelled. Use creamers, or what is better known, deep setting cans. I keep these cans immersed in a tank of ice water. I draw off the milk every twelve hours, milking the cows two or three sittings, and stir to cause the cream to rise. Over-churning is to be avoided. Stop when you reach the granular state the size of wheat. These granules can be washed in the churn; two waters are preferable, and see that it is pure and free from specks. Next take the butter from the churn, weigh, and salt, using one ounce of salt to the pound. Extra care must be now exercised in the working. Do not rub with the hands, and be sure to get the salt well incorporated; one working is enough if properly done. If you put in salt as I do, wrap in parchment paper, and if the article is good, don't be ashamed to add the name of the maker. It will advertise your business. With close attention to all details the finest butter can be made, pure round and the highest price obtained.

It would cost to make a pig of 140 lbs. live weight?
Thos. A. Peters said by judicious feeding such a pig could be made very cheaply. He believed clover to be the best; peas were next best. He said while referring to the pork and dairy business he wanted to advocate the starting of a cheese and butter factory at Hampton. He considered the main profit was in the winter time. The separator would make much cleaner and it took a lot of work away from the home. A farmer in Sussex had lately received 13-4 lbs. of butter from 87 lbs. of his skimmed milk; he now sent his milk to the separator.

The Sussex creamery was now paying 161-3c. per lb. of butter fat to the farmers.
Mr. Frost said that though he had been living here for a good many years, he found he yet had much to learn. He approved of both the starting of a cheese factory and pork production. These things went hand in hand. These things would give the farmer or would give growth according to management. Pigs to be lean wanted plenty of exercise. If they were shut up they would fatten.

Mr. Frost said in reference to the use of separators that the people of St. John were so well satisfied with the benefits of using separators that today there were prospects of three more separators and these factories in St. John.
Dr. Gilchrist said that at present he was shipping cream to St. John and had no time to spare to do much more than to encourage to do so.

W. A. Jack read an excellent paper upon Foully Raising. (A full report of this paper was published on Thursday.) In discussing it Dr. Gilchrist said he did not like the flavor and quality of the flesh of the large Asiatic breeds. He thought well of the Indian breeds, they made a splendid crossbred fowl with the Plymouth Rock.
W. A. Jack said the White Wyandotte was with him a magnificent layer and did not seem to want to lay. He said that the best of the Indian game was a particularly well developed part, and for that reason it was highly thought of.

J. E. Stair of Kings Co. N. S., next gave an excellent address upon fruit growing. It was heartily appreciated and discussed.
At the evening session Hon. C. H. G. McCrear gave an excellent address stating the policy of his government. Col. McCrae gave an exposition of the cause and prevention of tuberculosis.
Dr. Gilchrist, who was present, expressed his views and was very much interested in the discussion of the disease.

COUNTY COUNCILS.

The Business of the Northumberland and Restigouche Bodies.
The County and Town of Chatham Have a Dispute Over Scott Act Fines—Queens County Council.

NEWCASTLE, Jan. 19.—The county council of Northumberland was called to order yesterday at 12 o'clock by Councilor Pond, the ex-warden. Councilor James W. Connors was unanimously elected warden. Mr. Connors thanked the council for the honor, and hoped that the business of the council would be transacted as harmoniously in the future as it had been in the past.

The minutes of the last session were read and adopted.
The committee on the petition of the County of Chatham, presented by Councilor Irving and Cassidy were appointed to attend on the meeting.
J. L. Stewart was appointed official reporter.

Councilors Morrison, Betts and Kerr were appointed a committee to nominate the standing committees.
A protest was read by Jeremiah Sullivan, an ex-councilor, against the election of Councilor Maitland, on the ground that he had not filed his nomination before the time required by law.

Councilors Pond, Jones, Loggie, Doyle and Betts were appointed a committee to inquire into the matter.
The nominating committee submitted the following list of committees, which was adopted:
County accounts—Councilors Betts, Anderson, Morrison, Kerr and Swinburn.
County contingencies—Councilors Loggie, Betts and Morrison.

Councilor Morrison called the attention of the council to the fact that the town council of Chatham had instructed Police Magistrate S. N. McCully not to hand over any of the Scott act fines collected by him in Chatham to the secretary-treasurer of the county. The secretary-treasurer then read a communication from Mr. McCully notifying the secretary-treasurer of the instructions he had received from the town council.

Councilor Morrison asked whether that meant all fines collected in Chatham from parties all over the county, or from residents of the town only.
Councilor Loggie said he thought the town was entitled to all, but that the town council would meet the county council half way. He thought they would not want any fines except those collected from residents of Chatham. He referred to the case of the town of St. Stephen, where the county of Charlotte had brought action against the town for the balance of the Scott act fines collected there. The supreme court of Canada had reversed the decision of the supreme court of New Brunswick, and given judgment in favor of the town.

Councilor Anderson said that the cases were not parallel, as the town of St. Stephen had appointed and supported the inspector, while here he was a servant of the council.
After some further arguments on the matter, it was moved by Councilor Morrison, seconded by Councilor Betts, that Police Magistrate McCully be ordered to make returns forthwith of the Scott act fines in his hands, except those collected from residents of Chatham, to the limits of the town of Chatham.

Culligan, also a representative of the parish of Durham, has been a member for nineteen years, both years men having been returned without opposition for a number of years.
GAGRIEOWN, N. B., Jan. 18th.—The County Council for the municipality of Queens county convened at the Court House at 10 o'clock, a. m. The council was called to order by the secretary-treasurer Babbitt, and on motion Councilor Leonard was elected chairman.
