Bunch of Prisoners This Morning Were

Worth Fifty Two Dollars to the City.

The police on Saturday night and Sunday placed eleven prisoners behind the bars. Of the number ten were drunks, one being a woman, and the eleventh a man charged with fighting. The latter was Fred Peck, who had been wanted by the police for a few days on the charge of fighting on Reed's Point. Saturday night he was found hiding under his bed and was released on a deposit of $20. He did not appear in court this morning and the deposit was forfeited.

By the prisoners the court treasury was enriched by $52, as three had been released on $8 deposits for drunkenness and with Peck's $20 for fighting Police.

A Halifax man in hard luck entered the mayor's office this morning. He had only been discharged from the Victoria hospital at Montreal three days ago, where he had his right foot amputated. The hospital authorities find furnished him with a railway ticket to this city. The unfortunate Haligonian is without money and will probably be a public charge until arrangements are made to have him removed to Halifax.

Mayor Sears was not at all pleased that the Montreal authorities had not issued the man a ticket to his home.

was enriched by $52, as three had been released on $8 deposits for drunkenness and with Peck's $20 for fighting Police Clerk Henderson totalled up $44 in deposits that were forfeited. Then a drunk paid an $8 fine which brought the amount up to $52. The rest of the unfortunates went to jail in default of paying their fines of $8 each. There were no cut prices for drunks this morning. There was one of the eleven who did not appear to feel very gratemorning. There was one of the eleven who did not appear to feel very grateful to the police for his arrest, and when, when asked regarding the charge, said he guessed he was drunk. Sergt. Campbell gave evidence that the prisoner, who gave his name as Patrick Carney, was found drunk on Coburg street between one and two o'clock Sunday morning. Policeman Totten was with the sergeant at the was lying on the street face downwards and wery drunk. If the man had not been discovered at that time he would have frozen to death. This morning.

Dead in His Home at Rothesay

Charles Taylor, one of the best known residents of Rothesay, and also very well known in St. John, died very suddenly this morning at his home in Rothesay. Mr. Taylor, who had always been in the best of health, was teeling as usual this morning when he got up. He had breakfast, and later went to the yard, where he assisted his brother, John R. Taylor, and one of the hired men in getting some cattle ready to be driven to the St. John people scarcely appreciate," says Engineer Barbour. "That is the great saving in soap which will result from the use of Loch Lomond water instead of the supply which is now coming. This saving will, I believe, amount to thousands of dollars every year."

The present water supply comes from Douglas Lake, augmented under various conditions by several small brooks, by contributions from Longs Lake, Bustin's Lake, Birch Lake and sometimes from Lake Latimer, and by ket. Shortly afterwards John Taylor returned to the house, and a little later the surface drainage from a consider chanced to inquire where his brother ably wide stretch of country. This chanced to inquire where his brother was. Nobody seemed to know, and a search was made. Mr. Taylor was not in the yard, but in a few minutes he was found lying in the front vestibule of the house, either dead or in a faint. Dr. Fairweather was hurriedly summoned, but Mr. Taylor never recovered consciousness. Death was due to heart failure. It is thought that in the work in the yard he became excited and over-heated and that this brought on a collapse.

The late Charles. Taylor was the senior partner of the firm of Taylor ably wide stretch of country. This water contains many substances very suitable for certain things but the enrichers are not such as can be appreciated for drinking purposes. There is a large proportion of lime in the present supply which makes the water hard but which is very much less in the Loch Lomond supply. This will result in the use of less soap and according to Mr. Barbour, the saving to the citizens as a whole will amount to thousands of dollars annually.

The Y. P. A. of St. David's church will hold its musical night this evening. The following will take part in the programme: DeWitt Cairns, Miss Maggie Seaton, Mrs. Allan, Harry Shaw, Miss Cochrane, and Miss Thompson.

The late Charles, Taylor was the senior partner of the firm of Taylor Bros., who for many years conducted an extensive business in St. John as contractors for shipping and also as shippers. They had no yard of their own, but made contracts for the construction of many vessels. Saturday evening the police made read, after which the meeting adjournshop on Sydney street, and James Miller's premises on Britain street, with the result that the proprietors have been reported for keeping liquor for sale on the premises. The cases will probably be heard before Magistrate Ritchie this afternoon.

The enquiry into the conditions of No. 3 fire station will be continued this evening in the city hall committee rooms. Chief Kerr, Director Wisley and Chairman Vanwart, of the board of safety, will be the witnesses and then the evidence will be left in the hands of Chairman Bullock and his committee.

Rev. J. E. Gosline preached at Waterloo St. Baptist Church on Sunlay, and J. W. Keirstead at Charlotte street Baptist Church.

The reports from the churches were encouraging. Rev. J. W. Keirstead from Oxford, N. S., reported splendid progress in church finances in his church. He is to speak at the Tabernacle Church this evening on the subject of finance, a subject which he treats with special skill. In speaking of the smallpox at Oxford and Springhill he declares the matter has been exaggerated. There have only been ten cases in Oxford. Five houses are now quarantined and the schools and churches are reopened. Rev. Rev. J. E. Goseline has resigned his charge at Kemptville, Yarmouth Co., and is on his way out West.
