YALE WINS A MORAL VICTORY

CAPT. DALY, OF YALE.

Blue Weaker Team, but Held Crimson to No Score--Costly Fumbles Cost Harvard Victory.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—A drawn and scoreless battle was fought out on Yale field this afternoon between Harvard and Yale. To the adherents of the blue it was a moral victory for their team had proved too strong for the powerful crimson team which had come here confident of victory.

Harvard was always the aggressor, and Yale made few consistent gains. The punting was disappointing as a whole, although in the first period it gave promise of being a feature. From the spectators' point of view, the features of the game were the variety of plays used and the fact that the ball could always be seen. The forward pass was used by Harvard five times, of which three tries were failures and of the other two only one made a gain and that simply eight yards.

Yale did not use the play. The game was played in the shortest time of a championship contest on the field, lasting less than one hour and three-quarters. The scene, which had as its setting a patch of green turf with banks of humanity four sides, scintillated with colors. The singing was effective and one of the striking color effects was when the Harvard cheering section in the west stand outlined a great H in red and white pennants, waving them to the singing of a college air.

ACADIA AND MT. A PLAY OFF

Game to Decide Intercollegiate Championship to be Played in Truro on Wednesday—Acadia Practicing.

Wolfville, Nov. 18.—Because the Mount Allison-Acadia football match resulted in a draw, a playoff will take place next Wednesday afternoon on neutral ground. It is likely the game will be played in Truro.

Wherever the playoff for the intercollegiate championship takes place, it will be a game worth watching.

The intercollegiate football series between the U. N. B., Mount Allison and Acadia was started in 1892. Both aggregations are greatly dissatisfied with Wednesday's game. Acadia because Mount Allison's score was the biggest kind of fluke; the New Brunswickers because they say that Acadia's free kick was rather a severe penalty for the offence committed. Mount Allison's touchdown was perfectly honest as far as they were concerned; they were not supposed to keep the spectators from behind Acadia's goal; the carelessness of the garner and blue in neglecting to keep the spectators in their proper places was responsible for the New Brunswickers' score.

Those who witness the game next Wednesday in Truro, will receive full value for their money; it's going to be a battle royal from start to finish. If it chances that the score is even when time is up, which is very likely to be the case, the teams will struggle until the championship is won.

Both teams were away of color in the Wolfville game, and both fifteen are capable of putting up a much better exhibition. The aggregations were so evenly matched on Wednesday that long runs, trick plays and combination work were out of the question.

Captain Robinson of the Acadia squad, had his team out practicing yesterday against the strongest aggregation that Captain "Bob" McKean, of Horton Collegiate Academy could produce. "Bob" knows the weak points of his team now, and is determined that there will be nothing weak about his lineup when they face Mount Allison Wednesday.

FREDERICTON SPORT. Fredericton, Nov. 20.—Fredericton High School football team defeated Normal School in the last game of the local season at College field on Saturday afternoon, score being 23-0.

In the interclass basketball league at U. N. B., on Saturday the freshmen and Juniors played a tie game, the score standing 12 to 13. Melrose of St. John sprained his ankle.

ABEGWEITS P.E.I. CHAMPS

Win on Saturday in Play-Off With St. Dunstan's College—Exciting Game With Many Injuries.

Charlottetown, Nov. 19.—The football season closed today with the announcement that the Abegweit football team, which had tied with St. Dunstan's college team for the championship in the league series has carried off the trophy and the championship of P. E. Island by defeating the invincible red and white aggregation by a score of 6 to 3.

Today's game was the hottest played of the season, the Saints being bound to win from the start, and only the stiffest playing captured the trophy. At half time the game stood St. Dunstan's college 3, Abegweits 0. In the second half the Abegweits rushed matters and won six points. During the game the Saints roughed it at times. Julian Keoghlan, St. Dunstan's college, was injured by a blow on the head, but is improving, although suffering a temporary loss of memory.

M'AVITYS WIN ALL FOUR AT BLACK'S

T. McAvity's team captured all four points in the Commercial league series on Black's alley, Saturday night. The scores were:

GOBB AHEAD OF LAJOIE

Tyrus Had One Point to the Good in Batting Average—Jackson First in Twenty Games.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Jackson of Cleveland might have been a disputant with both Lajoie and Cobb for the prize automobile for hitting in the American baseball league during 1910, but for the limited number of games in which he appeared.

In the official list of batting averages, made public today, he heads the list with a percentage of .387. He appeared in only twenty games, however, and was not eligible for the prize.

Cobb is second with a percentage of .387, and Lajoie third with .384. Philadelphia heads the clubs in batting with .366, Chicago being last with .212. Lajoie played in the greatest number of any particular year in any year, his record being 91 times at bat in 159 games.

E. STERLING BEAT OUT A HANDICAP

The handicap road race of the Y. M. C. A. Harriers on Saturday afternoon, proved fast and exciting, although owing to various causes the entry list was small.

Sterling proved too strong for his opponents, finishing the four and one-half mile course in the fast time of 25.10 and two minutes and ten seconds ahead of horseman, who lost considerable time by essaying to climb the long hill on Dorchester St. Penlidon finished a good third, but lost his hand up to Wetmore, who kept on his legs for nearly the whole distance, losing only five seconds on Penlidon's spur at the finish.

This will probably close the season for our outdoor racing by the Harriers, but it is the intention of the club to take up these races as soon as the ice goes off the ground in the spring.

T.A.A.C. OUT OF RUNNING FOR CHAMP.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 19.—Out-lucked and out-played, the T. A. A. C. fourteen, O. R. F. U. senior champions, went down to defeat at Rosedale this afternoon by 22 to 3 in the semi-final game for the Dominion championship.

Varsity had the game well in hand all the way and the crimson were never dangerous.

CONTEST FOR PRESIDENCY OF THE A.A.U.

New York, Nov. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, which will begin tomorrow at the Hotel Astor, there promises to be a strong fight made in the selection of a president. Last year when J. E. Sullivan retired after a three year term, there were two candidates in the field, Everett C. Brown of the Central Association of Chicago, and Henry G. Pennington of the South Atlantic Association of Baltimore.

In the interest of harmony Mr. Pennington withdrew and Mr. Brown was elected. It was said by delegates today that it was understood President Brown would only serve one term and Mr. Pennington would be elected to succeed him. It now turns out that President Brown's friends are pushing him for a second term, and the Baltimore delegates and those from other southern states are canvassing other delegates in an effort to get votes for Pennington. The union expects to get through with its work tomorrow night.

PAGE TO FORM NEW CANADIAN BALL LEAGUE

(Montreal Star) The Montreal City Baseball League, which proved such a success financially and otherwise, this past season, will, in all probability, figure in the proposed Canadian Baseball League promoted by their president Joe Page, for which a meeting to organize has been called for November 20, at 2 p. m., at A. G. Spalding & Son, 443 St. James street.

Now that the City League have DeLorimier rink grounds for next season on which they will likely play every Saturday and Sunday, a schedule will be so arranged that four of the teams will play alternate weeks in Montreal, while the other four will visit four towns in the proposed league, thus giving to the baseball enthusiasts of these towns not only a baseball league to play in, but eight different clubs to meet twice or more in the season, and at the same time allowing them games in their town every week, without the necessity for travelling in order to play return games, a state of things that has long been wanted. Already Farham, Granby, Three Rivers, Sorel, St. Johns, St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, Ottawa and Hull, and other cities have been either seen or mentioned in connection with the league, and no doubt after the meeting, Canadian baseball fans will, in all likelihood, have plenty of chances to see some clean, fast and classy baseball matches throughout Quebec Province next season.

M'GRAW SIGNS FOR 5 YEARS WITH GIANTS

New York, Nov. 16.—John J. McGraw, who has been manager of the New York nationals since July 19, 1902, yesterday signed a five year contract with John T. Brush, president of the club to continue as the commander of the Giants.

In the eight seasons that McGraw has been manager of the local team it has finished first twice, second four times, third once and fourth once. This is the first time McGraw ever has been signed by the local club for a term longer than two years.

COLLINS TELLS HOW TO STEAL

Base stealers, beware of Ed Walsh! This bit of advice, if offered for the old-timers of the American league, is certain to fall on deaf ears, writes Eddie Collins, in the Chicago Record-Herald. But the youngsters making their first appearance against the White Sox star can well afford to take a tip. I have made a close study of the pitchers and catchers of all the clubs in our circuit, and to my way of thinking Walsh is the king of them all when it comes to freezing an opponent to first base.

To many baseball fans have the idea that the catcher is the main spring of the battery—the players supposed to nip off all aspiring stealers. This is true only in part. Remember when Nick Altrock was in his prime? How many American league speed merchants stole in games with Nick on the slab? Not many, if my memory serves me right. Altrock had a baffling delivery that kept the runners almost glued to the bag. With Walsh it is a case of perfect near-balk, and this motion keeps the opposing players always within a few feet of the sack.

Walsh Most Feared. Now then Walsh gets into trouble by overstepping the bounds with this movement. A balk is the punishment, but it's seldom you hear of the big fellow committing this offense. In all my experiences I have found the White Sox pitcher the best man at this style of work. With Frank Smith it's just the opposite. Smith has a delivery that carries him well toward the batter while winding up, and once this motion is under way it's a simple matter for the runner to jump to a comfortable lead.

After taking this lead, if alone on the path, I seldom watch the ball. Instead, I keep both eyes on the man at second, who most likely will take the throw to nip the stealer. This study exercised almost in the twinkling of an eye, and coupled with the hook slide, in most cases enables the runner to reach second in safety.

In base stealing, as in any other line of work, the player who makes up his mind to succeed in nine cases out of ten has his wish gratified. Make up your mind to get there, regardless of results and go through with the determination. That has been my experience.

The hardest knocks always come at the start of the season, before the body has become toughened from frequent slides, but these "raspberries" wear off in a short time. It's a severe test of one's strength, but I have never felt any ill effects from any steals.

Luck enters largely into the success of base stealing. Some weeks I pilfer at least one bag daily. Then other weeks I find it a physical impossibility to risk even a single base. The base stealer necessarily needs to be a ten-second sprinter. While at Columbia in my college baseball days, I never travelled the country under eleven seconds. Harry Davis of our club is admittedly a slow man on his feet, yet he has stolen several bases by taking a dangerous lead and watching the pitcher. "Bonnie" Bush, of the Detroit club, is a very fast man who has perfected the hook slide, which bewilders the best of second basemen.

Tyrus Cobb who topped the list of stealers last season, is the hardest base runner in the game to nab at second. He has wonderful speed, and is singularly blessed in the co-ordination of mind and muscle. This combination will carry any athletic victory, but I propose to give Tyrus a merry chase for the American league base-stealing laurels next season.

When opponents attempt to steal on our pitchers, and it's my duty to cover second for the throw, I usually straddle the bag, to make the runner come straight in. In this way I take some chances of being spiked, but the danger is greatly minimized if the second sacker assumes the right position, and this knowledge comes with experience. You rarely hear of Bobby Wallace being spiked. The St. Louis veteran has tagged them all in his time, and I doubt if he has many scars to show as the result of collisions with stealers.

Take the case of some of our great catchers—men who are noted for their pegging abilities. With these artists backing up a crafty pitcher, equally versed in the art of bluffing a would-be stealer, we seldom hear of many thefts. Both leagues are rich in backstops of this class.

Many stealers taking advantage of the weakness of an opposing pitcher, have travelled midway to second or farther, only to find the second baseman or shortstop waiting there with the ball after spearing a perfect throw from the catcher. Archer's method of pegging while in a squatting position makes the club catcher a formidable opponent for stealers. From this attitude Archer is enabled to throw without wasting a second's time.

The greatest danger in stealing is the finish. Many players have wrecked their whole careers by sliding wrong and breaking a leg or an ankle. Still the spikes, always at fault, must remain, for without these "razors" the players would have a hard time getting up speed.

ONE FALL FOR ANDERSON. Moncton, Nov. 20.—There was a big crowd at the Grand Theatre last night to see the wrestling match between Sam Anderson of Boston who claims to be the middleweight champion of the world, and Sandy McLeod, Scotch champion. Anderson got the first and only fall in 51 minutes 22 seconds. They wrestled 30 minutes longer without getting the advantage when as it was midnight Chief of Police Rideout stopped the match.
