CANADIAN CAPTAIN IN TROUBLE IN U. S.

Capt. George Johnson Takes Schooner from Eastport, Breaking Attachment.

Special to The Standard. Eastport, Me., Oct. 22.—Is the sudden departure from Eastport of Captain George Johnson with the Canadian fishing boat Caraco, upon which a keeper had been placed after a writ of attachment had been issued against the vessel, to be made the subject of international negotiations? Every effort is being made here to induce the American State Department to take up the case.

Secretary of State Bryan's decision in regard to federal action has not yet been announced, however.

Deputy-Sheriff Clarence Dow, who was on board the Caraco as keeper when it was seized, has returned to Eastport harbor and into home waters, and who was taken from the craft upon her arrival at St. Andrews, appeared before the Washington County grand jury at Machias this week.

After listening to his story, the grand jury returned an indictment for kidnapping against Captain Johnson.

The county authorities are to ask Captain Johnson's extradition on the charge and, if successful, will be given a preliminary hearing at Eastport. Should probable cause be found, he would then be bound over to await trial at the next term of the Supreme Court for Washington County.

FOUR OF EUROPEAN NATIONS PROTEST

United States Seamen Servitude Bill now before House, Cause of Complaint.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Protests from Great Britain, France, Germany and Belgium against the Seaman's Servitude Bill were taken up informally today by the Senate foreign relations committee. The four countries have united the hope that tomorrow the United States will take no legislative action until the International Marine Conference in London, November 12.

No action could be taken by the committee, for the bill is before the Senate under an agreement for a final vote tomorrow. Senators expect it to pass because of its provisions alleviating working conditions and improving safety.

The London conference, called chiefly by the initiative of the United States after the Titanic disaster will take up safety at sea and international regulations.

Some features of the bill affect foreign as well as American ships.

MUCH INTEREST IN STANDARD'S PUZZLE

Everybody has a Chance for Various Prizes—May be Second Puzzle to Decide Ties.

The Standard's Puzzle Contest continues to excite a great deal of interest. An impression has gone abroad that only those who sent in solutions during the first few days will have any chance for the various prizes. This is a mistake. The puzzle is so simple, comparatively, that there will almost without doubt be more correct answers than there are prizes. The result of this will be that a second puzzle will have to be given to decide the ties. This of course cannot be stated as yet for the contest is only fairly well under way and the majority of the answers are still to be received. But it can be said that those who send in their solutions from now on are just as likely to be among the prize winners as those who have already been heard from. The main point is to add up the figures carefully. It is an easy matter to do correctly, but it is not quite so easy to make sure that all the figures in the chart have been counted. The careless contestant is liable to skip one or more, and if it should happen that this is done and the error afterwards discovered, the proper course is to send in another solution with the correct numbers on it. Read the instructions carefully and send your solutions as soon as possible so that you may receive the paper and be able to take the progress of the game. Full particulars appears in this paper.
