M'ADAM AND ST. JOHN THIS AFTERNOON

McAdam will be the professional team to meet the St. John team this afternoon. The McAdam team will be strengthened by the addition of the crack Col. by University battery, Messrs. James and Malcolm, and their star second baseman, Goebel. The team has been playing the fastest ball in Maine and have shown class, and the St. John boys will have to go some to live up to their reputation and get away with a victory. The game will start at 3 o'clock and the lineup of the home team will be as follows: Gibbons, short stop; Milan, 3rd base; Riley, centre field; Graves, 2nd base; John Dever, left field; Garnett, right field; Gorman, 1st base; Joseph Dever, catcher; Hansen or Donovan, pitcher. The interest in local talent is beginning to take hold of the fans and all that is required to make the game a grand success from a spectacular standpoint is fine weather.

The trip around the world didn't seem to hurt Lee Magee, as many of the critics predicted. He is playing the same high class game that he put up last season, perhaps a little better, if any different. Huggins is using him in the outfield and he is easily the peer of any of the fielders of the St. Louis Nationals.

AGES OF HEAVY WEIGHTS

The fact that Jack Johnson had reached the age of thirty-eight years fifty-eight days when he risked his title against Frank Moran in Paris last Saturday has led to some interesting discussion regarding the ages at which previous heavyweights champions lost their ring laurels. John L. Sullivan was thirty-four years old when defeated by James J. Corbett at New Orleans in 1892. He held the title for ten years, but Corbett was less fortunate for he retained the championship but five years, being thirty-one years old when Bob Fitzsimmons won at Carson City in 1897.

Fitzsimmons' tenure of championship was even less, for at the age of thirty-seven he was knocked out by Jim Jeffries at Coney Island in 1899, after holding the title for two years and three months. Jeffries who met defeat at the hands of Johnson at Reno July 4, 1910, was thirty-five years old when the negro wrested the ring honors from him.

CIGARS have characters, much the same as men.

There's the plain, crooked kind that simply can't go straight, but must burn crookedly down one side until it finally fizzles out.

And the merely irresponsible—that start out with the best intentions, but are too weak to hold together. Their wrappers get loose, unwind, and pretty soon they're in the gutter, jagged and half-smoked.

RESULTS OF CANADIAN GOLF CHAMPS.

Ottawa, July 3.—George Lyon of Lambton and Bruce Evans of the Country Club, Waverly, Mass., were the winners today in the semi-finals at the Canadian Golf Association's Royal Canadian Golf Association. Both the matches were thirty-six holes and were played in magnificent summer weather.
After being one down at the turn George Lyon came back to his game in the afternoon and beat Fritz Martin of Hamilton, by 4 and 3. Of the last fourteen holes Lyon won nine, lost three and halved two. He played probably in all departments and will probably capture the Canadian championship for the eighth time. Martin did splendid work in the morning but in the afternoon he took the thirteenth with a thirty foot putt.
Bruce Evans of Boston defeated T. R. Reith, Beaconsfield, by one up after two extra holes had been played. Evans, whose wonderful driving has carried him through, was three up at the half, and he increased it to six. Then he grew careless and Reith, by a magnificent uphill game, managed to win the thirtieth and square the game for the first time. The thirty-seventh was halved in five, though Evans again outdrove his opponent, reaching the green in three while Reith took five. At the next Reith hooked his tee shot into the rough while Evans skied his iron drive and lay dead on the green. In one, Reith recovered with his second and after missing a three left Evans almost stymied but the Boston player showed remarkable nerve and reached the cup after a ten foot putt, his ball just grazing that of Reith.
G. H. Turpin, Montreal, and A. Adams, Hamilton, won the consolation.

GOOD RACES AT SYDNEY YESTERDAY

Sydney, N. S., July 3.—Even better racing than that on Thursday was the verdict of those who attended the contests at the trotting park this afternoon. In the 219 class, Prince Wilkes, driven by Peter Carroll of Halifax took first money, winning three out of the four heats raced. Dominion D., owned by P. Smith, Grace Bay, took second money under professional weather.
The best racing of the day was furnished by the horses in the three minute class, five heats being necessary to decide the race. The first two went to Lloyd Achille owned by Angus McGilvray, New Glasgow, and driven by Peter Carroll. The last three were won by Roletta, Spurgeon Gammon, New Glasgow, after some of the most exciting racing possible. A feature of the race was the last heat in which Tom Buckley's horse, a green trotter, made a great race for first place, being beaten by only a head and securing third money.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

1895—T. Van Buskirk knocked out Patsy Corrigan in 6th round at Stockton, Cal. In the early days of the ring pugilistic pugilists sometimes fought "for love," but in this modern battle Corrigan fought for both love and money. The Irishman was a great middleweight in his palmy days, but in 1895 he was a back number and stranded in the California city. Corrigan received a telegram saying that his wife, who was in a hospital in the East, was dying, but he had no money to go to her. Van Buskirk was in Stockton, and Corrigan, although in no condition to fight, challenged him to do immediate battle. The fight was pulled off before a big hotel crowd, and Corrigan, although in poor shape, fought gamely for several rounds. Van Buskirk was a heavyweight, but the old middleweight, with the thought of his dying wife in his mind, punished his big antagonist severely for a few rounds. Corrigan soon tired, however, and the referee was about to stop the bout and save him from further punishment when Van Buskirk knocked him out. The veteran was insensible for several hours, but the loser's end enabled him to make the journey to his wife. A couple of years later Van Buskirk was knocked out in the 2nd round of a bout with Jim Jeffries.

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Sunday will mark the 150th anniversary of the birth of the first Jew to adopt pugilism as a profession—Daniel Mendoza, for a time champion of Great Britain, and one of the cleverest and most scientific of early boxers. Mendoza's success encouraged dozens of young Hebrews to seek to emulate him, and since then a multitude of that race have won more or less success in the ring. Isaac Bitton, Old and Young Dutch Sam, Izzy Lazarus and Abe Belasco were among the famous nineteenth century Jewish boxers, while the present generation has produced such clever Jewish exponents of the many art as Abe Attell, Leach Cross, Charlie White and Levinsky, to mention but a few. Daniel Mendoza, the first Jewish champion, was born in London on July 5, 1764, after leaving school he followed many trades. "Jew-baiting" was then a popular sport of London bullies, but Dan was a lad of spirit, and he resented their insults so forcibly that he was soon let alone. He was one of these impromptu bouts which attracted attention to Dan as a possible pugilist, and "Gentleman" Richard Humphries took the young Hebrew under his wing and instructed him in the arts of pugilism. His first money fight was against a husky coal-heaver, 150th Anniversary of birth of Mendoza, first Jewish boxer.

and it lasted two hours, Mendoza winning in the end. Having proved his sameness and his ability to assimilate with better men, but he found it difficult to get matches, and in the intervals between fights he wandered over England, following various occupations. Later the Jew quarrelled with Richard Humphries, and they decided to settle their differences in the ring. The "Gentleman" was the victor in their first bout, but in two subsequent battles the Jew demonstrated his superiority. He then administered two defeats to Bill Warr, but in 1795 he was whipped by John Jackson. In all, the Israelite fought forty-two fights. At the age of forty-two Mendoza whelped one of the best boxers of the time, Harry Lee. In his last battle, with Harry Lee, he was defeated, and quit the ring. The pioneer Jewish pugilist lived to be seventy-three. He had many ups and downs, and at one period served four years imprisonment for debt. Mendoza's ability as a boxer aroused the enthusiasm of English Jews to a high pitch, and they have ever since been among the most liberal supporters of the game. Dan never entered a ring without being backed to the limit by the sports of his race, and he won—and lost—millions of dollars for his people.
