

ALLIES' POSITIONS AGAIN UNDER BOMBARDMENT BY GERMANS

No New Developments on Battle Front in France and Belgium Yesterday—Fighting in West Taking Second Place Until Great Struggle in Poland and East Prussia Has Been Fought to Decision—Berlin Claims a Victory Near Lodz.

The fighting in the North of France and Belgium, has for the time being, assumed an aspect of minor importance, as compared with the battles in the East, where Russians and Germans are struggling for supremacy over miles of battlefield in Russian Poland and East Prussia.

Emperor William has already visited the German positions at Gumbinnen and Darkehmen, and by his presence has cheered the German troops to further efforts. Likewise the Russian Emperor has joined his troops at the front, with a similar object of urging them forward.

King George, of England, who, ever since the despatch of the expeditionary force to the continent has followed the fortunes of his soldiers with deep concern, is now paying them a personal visit, while the President of the French Republic, Raymond Poincaré, continues to make the rounds of the French positions.

The Allied forces in Northern France are again sustaining a heavy cannonading by the Germans, and mention is made in the French official statement of small advances, which means that the infantry are again operating. Otherwise conditions in this territory are comparatively quiet.

A Paris newspaper says that the bombardment of Rheims, which has been in progress intermittently for several weeks, has resulted in the destruction of the Archeological Museum, with its Roman, Gallic and French collections, and also that the textile industry has suffered to the extent of seventy million dollars.

A war credit of $1,250,000,000 is expected to be passed by the Reichstag.

Vienna announces officially that the Austrian troops operating in Serbia have repulsed the Servians east of the rivers Kolubara and Ljilj, with heavy losses to the enemy, and gives the number of prisoners taken since the beginning of the last Austrian offensive movement as 19,000.

In the battle at Homonna, Hungary, the Austrians claim to have compelled the Russians to retreat, with a casualty list of 2,500. The Austrians assert that in the fighting in Poland they have taken 35,000 prisoners.

From the Servian side, however, it is reported that the Austrians in their attack along the Ljilj river, were repulsed with heavy losses.

Kaiser Visits Battlefield in East

Amsterdam, via London—Emperor William reached Isterburg, East Prussia, yesterday. He continued on his way to the front, travelling by motor car.

Isterburg is sixteen miles northwest of Gumbinnen, the capture of which by the Russians was reported unofficially recently, although not subsequently confirmed.

The German war office statement yesterday showed that the invading Russians had penetrated East Prussia to a point several miles south of the Gumbinnen.

ONE OF INDIANS WHO KILLED TURKEY HAS BEEN CAPTURED

Hunger and Fatigue Compel Him to Take Shelter at Farmhouse Where He was Found by Police.

Pembroke, Ont., Dec. 1.—Peter White Duck, one of the Indians wanted for the murder of Turkey Robert Coxford in the Renfrew county jail here Sunday night, was captured to night near Golden Lake reserve by Alex. Patterson of Pembroke and a posse. He had separated from his companion, Anthony Jocke, who is still at large. White Duck will be brought to Pembroke in the morning. The Indian practically gave himself up, hunger and exhaustion forcing him to seek shelter at a farmer's house. The farmer notified the posse headed by Mr. Patterson, who effected the arrest.

ALL ATHLETICS AT CAMBRIDGE UNIV. HAVE BEEN CALLED OFF

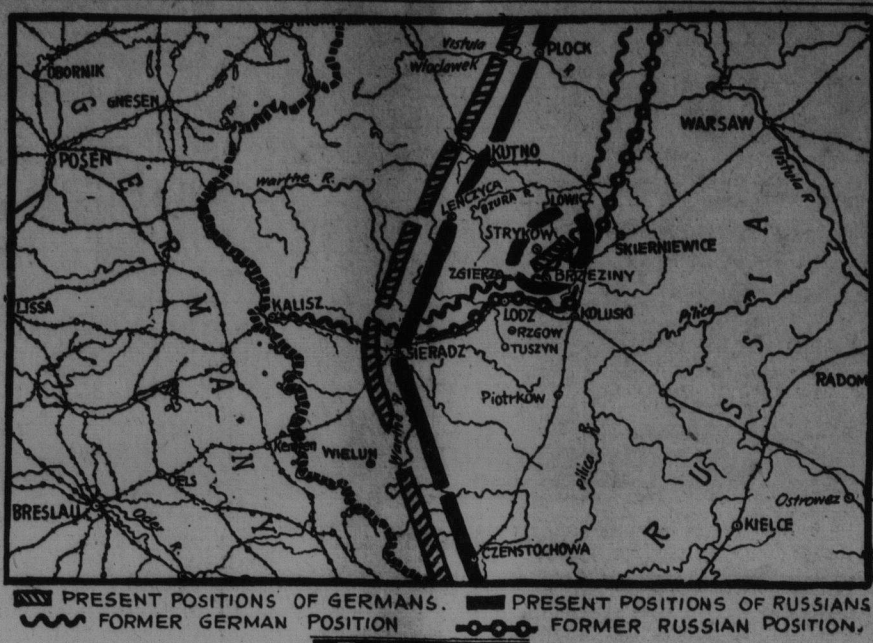

London, Nov. 20.—It is officially announced that there will be no athletics of any kind at Cambridge University this year. The principal reason for the cancellation, even of the minor sporting events, is that the men have no time to train or practice, five afternoons a week being occupied by work in the Officers' Training Corps. The official notice applies to all freshmen's sports and to the inter-collegiate games.

GERMANS SURROUNDED NEAR LODZ, WITH THE RUSSIANS HAVING ADVANTAGE.

Officially the German report says the final result in Poland is still pending. The Russian report says the battle of Lodz continues to develop, with the advantage on the side of the Russians, and adds—"The German troops, having reached Brestany, are now retreating to the region of Strykow." A semi-official despatch from Petrograd says the Russians, with their left on the Warthe and their right on the Vistula, along the Warsaw-Kalisz railway, moved forward. Then the centre gave way, and the Germans pursued, relying on a column from Wliscia to repulse the Russian left wing. This column was defeated, the Russian wings closed the gap and the Germans were surrounded.

SEEN AND HEARD IN WAR THEATRE

A HOLOCAUST.

A wounded English officer describes the following incident of the German attack between Dixmude and Ypres: "A German regiment with the flag flying approached our trenches to discharge of our machine guns and rifle fire, and fell back in disorder. Immediately it resembled some distance away. Once more we saw it advance, with the ranks already thinner. It came to within 100 yards of us, when it was received as before and again beaten back. "This time the order was sent through our trenches to let them come on to within 20 yards. We did so; then the order to fire at will was given. Two-thirds of the regiment had already fallen in the first two attacks, and now the remainder was wiped out. Not one of the assailants got to our trenches."

"HOCH DER CZAR!"

During a fortnight's sojourn with his armies in the field the Czar spoke to thousands of wounded, according to a Petrograd correspondent. His Majesty visited the Germans and Austrians in field hospitals, addressing kindly words to them. In one ward, entirely occupied by wounded Germans, the men, who were unable to rise, spontaneously greeted the Czar with a three-fold Hoch!

The Czar inquired about the identity and location of a column passing through the Imperial train. He was told they were officers and men recovered from wounds returning to their respective regiments. His Majesty alighted and asked where and how they had been wounded. It appeared they all had participated in the early battles of the war. They were anxious again to go to the firing line.

The Journal des Debats says: "It was not without surprise that one heard of the concession made by the German government to Cardinal Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne. The cardinal had asked that the authorities extend to French priests, taken prisoners by the Germans, the same treatment that is being given to officers. One may be permitted to say that such a concession came as a surprise from those who bombarded churches, seized curates and bishops as hostages, and shoot peaceable priests on the plea that they are 'the animating spirit of the people's resistance.' One may, furthermore, be excused for doubting the motives of a measure which, on its face, gave the German government an air of magnanimity and deference to the priestly function, but which, at the same time, created a delicate situation for the priests in their relations with their comrades."

ACTRESS WHO GIVES UP THE STAGE TO BECOME A VILLAGE TAX COLLECTOR

MISS ELOISE MURRAY
Miss Eloise Murray, young actress formerly in Belasco productions, but now under study for Miss Mary Boland in "My Lady's Dress" at the Playhouse, in New York city, will retire from the stage, where her success has been marked, to become the Tax Collector of Dobbs Ferry, a village of New York. She was elected to that position by the town meeting to succeed her father, who died recently.

Miss Murray is exceptionally pretty and is accomplished in numerous ways. From the time she was fifteen years old she had been a principal aid to her father in his work as Tax Collector.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

FRANCE

Paris, Dec. 1.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight: "In Belgium the German Infantry has essayed, without success, a sortie against those trenches to the south of Bixchoote, between Bethune and Lens. After a rather brisk affair we captured the Chateau and the Park of Vermelles (south of the Lys river). "In the Argonne we have advanced appreciably in the wood of La Grurie. "On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

AUSTRIA

Vienna, Dec. 1.—An official announcement issued today says: "In the southern war theatre a further step in the operations has reached a victorious conclusion. The enemy who, for several days, has been offering very strong resistance, was below the rivers Kolubara and Ljilj, (Servia) again attempted to take the offensive, but was repulsed, suffering heavy losses in his retreat. On the battlefield at Komatice alone our troops fought eight hundred unburied bodies. "Since the beginning of our last offensive we have made over 10,000 prisoners, and have captured forty-seven machine guns, forty-six guns and quantities of other war material."

Vienna, via London, 2:10 p. m.—The following official despatch was issued here today: "On our front in West Galicia and in Russian Poland conditions Monday were generally calm. "In the Carpathians the battles continue."

"The Man on the Box" A Four-Act Reproduced Play

With Max Pigman and Lolita Robertson

LEUTENANT BOB WARBURTON, a fancy-free spirit, is wounded during an encounter with the Indians and taken to the home of Col. Annesley for medical treatment. Recovering, he finds that his service in the army has expired and says he is flat broke. However, he is rich in romance and becomes fascinated by the Colonel's daughter, Betty.

Betty, not knowing who Bob is, offers him a position as coachman, which he accepts. Becoming implicated in a plot to defraud the Government of important plans, he thwarts the attempts of a Russian Count and saves important plans. Betty's father loses his money; then Bob discloses his identity and admits he is the possessor of a large fortune in his own right; however, Betty and Bob's romance is all of pure love and, after a series of intrigues, plots and counterplots, all of which "The Man on the Box" follows, the couple are married and live happily ever after.
