If you want a fine-flavored, prime Havana Cigar, give Lawton Bros. a call, King Square often & Miss DeMontford at the Institute. The audience was large, last night, and more enthusiastic than on the previous evening. In fact there was hardly a seat to be obtained in the house. The sub-jects selected by Miss DeMontford were ence more than once rose to their feet, the men cheering and the ladies clapping their hands with delight. The subjects performed all sorts of grotesque feats and laughed and cried by turns. One at tempted to deliver a temperance lecture, and was interrupted by another crying the virtues of his anti-appetite pills. At one time the subjects believed they were on board a sinking ship, and all but two began to swim for their lives. The other two jumped from the platform, assumed NEW FRENCH MERINOS a rowing attitude and pulled vigorously. One walked an imaginary tight rope, using an imaginary balancing pole, and apparently performing difficult feats. Her greatest feat was rendering a man rigid as a petrified corpse, in which conon, while his head rested on the back of one chair and his feet on another, his oody being entirely unsupported, a man stood upon his knees without bending his rigid limbs or body. interesting cases.

Fawcett vs. Barry created a little interest. The plaintiff brought suit to recover from Barry money loaned. As an ofset the defendant charged Fawcett
with one quarter's rent of a house.
Fawcett is a single man, and what he ould want a house for was the question It turned out, however, that Fawcett had rented a house from Barry, but had given it up after one quarter. When he rented the place he expected a girl out from Ireland to marry him, but the girl found one on the old sod that suited her better, and refused to cross the stormy Atlantic, leaving him in the lurch. The defendant kindly took the though it was rented for a year. Fawcett tried to repudiate the renting of the house. The defendant having, on the strength of the lease, borrowed money from him, he sued to recover it. A ver dict was given the plaintiff.

HOW IT SAVED A MISSIONARY'S LIFE

Jed Bangs, of Honolulu, says, in a letter to a New York paper:—
"On my arrival at this station I was seized by one of Kamehameha's Myrmidons and tied to the stake. My life was threatened. Instantly I produced a bottle of Stewart's Toothache Anodyne, which has never been known to fail, and threw it with such force and energy that the Platonic heathen's eye flew from its socket. You see, therefore, the Anodyne is good for someothing. I have ordered a fresh supply, with elastic strings attached. You have perfect liberty to make use of this."
