MILD EXERCISE

For the Gentlewoman, the Proprietor has the genteel attire for those gentle pursuits that invigorate.

Therefore, the time is now, to puzzle out the proper wardrobe for leisure in the pleasure season approaching.

The Establishment's ample stocks make short work of choosing — and the choosing should be done shortly, while supplies last.

GRADUATE STUDY AWARDS

The Faculty of Graduate Studies of Dalhousie University offers for competition a variety of awards to support graduate study in the Physical and Life Sciences (including Oceanography and Medicine), and the Humanities and Social Sciences. The following is an outline of the major awards available:

SPECIAL VISITING FELLOWSHIPS

These unusual fellowships in the Humanities and Social Sciences are designed to offer a year of comparative freedom to outstanding students who need this time either to complete their doctoral theses (for submission to the universities with which they are now affiliated), or to revise recently accepted Ph.D. theses for publication. Visiting Fellows are asked to do only minimal teaching at an advanced level, and to give one or two public lectures on their researches. The stipends, based on a 12-month year, are $4,000 for single Fellows and $5,000 for married Fellows, with travel allowances.

POSTDOCTORAL VISITING FELLOWSHIPS

Open in all fields of study at Dalhousie, these Fellowships are tenable in the amount of $6,000 for a 12-month year for the purpose of bringing to the University those scholars who can contribute to advanced studies at Dalhousie. It should be noted that applications in the natural sciences are required before Feb. 1, others by March 1.

IZAAK WALTON KILLAM MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

The first Killam Scholars, approximately thirty in number, will be chosen for study leading towards the Master's or doctoral degrees in all fields during 1967-68. The Killam Scholarships range from $3,000 to $5,000 in value and do not require the performance of instructing or demonstrating duties.

DALHOUSIE GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS

Designed to support students working in all fields, Dalhousie Graduate Fellowships range up to $3,000 for Master's students, and up to $4,000 for Ph.D. students. The awards are based on a 12-month year.

Applications should be made to the Dean of Graduate Studies, Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

shouldn't you be a natural for you? Actually our model, Shari Wood, arts 1, has survived first year here, and the stilted, mechanical lectures, the pickled babies, the constant pressure to "succeed" haven't driven her mad—not yet away. You, you visiting teenie-boppers, can you make the grade? Only time will tell, heh, heh! But be ready for the worst.
